Vol. XIV.

Astoria, Oregon, Sunday Morning, January 9, 1881.

No. 7.

GENERAL EASTERN NEWS.

Indian Agents Reappointed.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The president has nominated as Indian agents J. H. Wilbur for the Yakima agency and R. H. Milroy for the Nesqueally agency Washington territory.

The Indiana Deadlock.
INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 7.—The senatorial deadlock continues. A democrat this morning offered a compromise in the shape of a resolution declaring the election of S. H. Rice, democrat, principal secretary, and Monroe and Sears, republicans, assistant secretary and doorkeeper; last by a tie vote, the republicans and Poindexter opposing it.

The New Secretary.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Nothing of public importance transpired at the cabinet meeting to-day. The new secretary of the navy, Gen. Goff, was in attendance. This morning he assumed charge of the department, signed business which has accumulated during the past few days, and afterwards received the heads of bureaus.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

Lost with All on Board.
LONDON, Jan. 7.—Yesterday a large steamer was seen to go on Goodwin sands and afterwards sink with all hands.

The Bark John Zittlesen.
LONDON, Jan. 7.—The bark John Zittlesen has been sunk in collision. Six of her crew are missing.

The Boers Endorsed.
PARIS, Jan. 7.—A correspondent writes from Rotterdam that Professor Hortings' address to the English people on behalf of the Boers has already been signed by all the leading men of Holland. The eminent astronomer Buys Ballot will act as treasurer to receive contributions in aid of the movement. The Dutch press vindicate the rising in Transvaal as a legitimate assertion of independence.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

Sutro Tunnelled. "Uncle" Jimmy Sominated.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—A Carson city dispatch says that the democrats held a caucus last night and nominated J. G. Fair for United States senator. There seems to be some dispute as to the number present at the caucus, it being claimed by the anti-Fair interest that there was no quorum. It has been supposed that Adolph Sutro would make a fight against Fair, but it is now stated that he will not.

—For a cough or cold there is no remedy equal to Ammen's Cough Syrup.
The price of subscription to THE WEEKLY ASTORIAN has been reduced to $2 per annum when paid in advance. If not paid in advance the old price of $3 will be charged.
—Circuit Court Blanks, County Court Blanks, Justice Court Blanks, Shipping Blanks, Miscellaneous Blanks, Deeds, Mortgages, etc., for Sale at THE ASTORIAN OFFICE.

—Some say that it is no use for them to advertise, that they have been in the place in business all their lives, and everybody knows them. Such people seem to forget to take in consideration that our country is increasing in population nearly 40 per cent. every ten years, and no matter how old the place may be, there are constant changes taking place; some move to other parts, and strangers fill their places. In this age of the world, unless the name of a business firm is kept constantly before the public, some new firm may start up, and by liberal advertising, in a very short time, take the place of the older ones, and the latter rust out, as it were, and be forgotten. No man ever lost money by judicious advertising.

—The most beneficial discovery of the century to man is Ammen's Cough Syrup. A wealthy gentleman, who claims that it entirely cured him of incipient consumption, offered $5,000 for the formula and the right to manufacture and sell to the world, which was refused. The remedy stands upon its own merits. A 15-cent sample bottle will convince the most skeptical of its virtues. Try it. It may save your life. All respectable druggists keep it, at 15 cts., 30 cts., $1.

WORDS ABOUT WORDS.

Ah! these terrible languages of ours! Are we half aware of their mighty powers? Do we ever trouble our heads at all? Where the jest may strike or the hint may fall? The latest chirp of that "little bird,"—That spicy story, "you must of heard!"—We jerk away to our gossip table, And somebody's glass, of course, goes smash. What fumes have been blasted and broken. What passions sink have been stirred. By a word in lightness spoken. By only an idle word.

A sneer, a shrug, a whisper low—They are poisoned shafts from an ambushed bow. Shot by the wind, the foot, the knee; They pierce the mail of the great or brave. Vain is buckler of wisdom and pride. To turn the point aside. The lips may curl with a careless smile. But the heart strips blood—strips blood the while. Ah me! what hearts have been broken. What rivers of blood have been stirred. By a word in malice spoken. By only a bitter word.

A kindly word and a tender tone—To only God is their virtue known! They can fill from the dust the abject soul. They can turn a foe to a friend instead. The heart close hatched by passion and pride Will fling at their knock its portals wide. And the hate that lights and the scorn that scars Will melt in the fountain of charity tears. Will soothe the wound of a broken heart. What rivers of love have been stirred. By a word in kindness spoken. By only a gentle word.

Folsom Paragraphs.

Hastate, Jan. 1st.
For the dead Old Year, let the old bells ring. For the ever new kind to me. And I fear the new may but prove untrue In its riotous revelry.
I would draw the throne of the spirit down And give him the tribute due To an old, tried friend—who has met his end— But not to the ruler new.
I will watch and wait by the close, looked gate. Which holds the future within— Let me mourn my dead, nor let it be said, I welcomed the new year in.

For I love the rule of the olden school. And I love the by-gone time; Then why should I change for a ruder strain, Who might cloud this life of mine. —Bill Dadd, Jr., the Scriber.
Now is the time to plant bulbs, but do not plant them on your nose.
Capital sport—bringing down the house, Sacramento.
No plumber can tell what ails the kitchen drain until he has been upon the roof.
Some women are like shotguns. They would attract no attention if it were not for their bangs.
A bare coffin without a flower, and a funeral without a eulogy, are preferable to a life without love and sympathy.

When a man's skeleton is put side by side with the monkeys, there are greater and stronger points of resemblance than of difference.
A man out west was offered a plate of macaroni soup, but declined it, declaring that they couldn't play off any billed pipe-stems on him.
A contemporary says we are very brief in our remarks about the Vallejo navy yard. A column is not needed when two lines can tell the story.

They were walking by the seaside, and he sighed and she sighed; and she was by his side, and he by her side, and they were beside themselves beside being at the seaside, where she sighed and he sighed.
During the holidays, a certain young man of Folsom was very desirous of waiting on the young ladies from the country. When rallied on his partiality, he gave as a reason that the prettiest girls he ever saw came from the country. And now the Folsom belles look cross-eyed at that young man and accuse him of a want of taste and judgment.

A well known gentleman of Folsom was milking his favorite cow, a few mornings since, and just as he had finished, she kicked him and the milk-pail over. Of course he was covered with milk, and when he entered the house, his wife exclaimed: Why! how did you get that milk all over you? He replied, I've been milking a mule, and she scatters.

THE ASTORIAN talks of a Christmas mince pie—as being harmless to him. He may have a cast iron digestion. We ate one on going to bed and that night whipped our wife, stole a blind man's dog, robbed a henroost, told the truth and gave a dime in charity. All done under the influence of the nightmare.

—Never go shopping without consulting the advertising columns of THE ASTORIAN. They will tell you where the best bargains are to be had, and just what merchants are alive and doing business.

—Blanks, Promissory notes, bonds for deed, quit claim deeds, mortgages and warranty deeds, at this office.

Horse Education.

In something we have written says the editor of the Farmer, "we have an indistinct recollection of having made reference to a general disposition among boys in their teens, as well as boys of maturer years, to enlighten and bless the world with their profound knowledge of the horse and his history. Our books and newspapers are full of this kind of literature, and it varies in style from the production of the child at school, commencing with: The horse has four legs and a tail; up to the eloquent tribute of the scholar when he quotes from Job: That his neck is clothed with thunder and the glory of his nostrils is terrible. He smelleth the battle afar off, the thunder of the captains and the shouting. Between these two extremes of the child at his first school composition, and the professional literature, we have every grade of pretension, and each professing to have mastered the whole subject. As we approach the close of this nineteenth century, we begin to look for something better in this department of knowledge from those who assume to instruct." And it is to be found in Kendall's Treatise on the horse, sent by mail to any person for twenty-five cents, postage paid. Apply to THE ASTORIAN office, or address D. C. Ireland, Astoria, Oregon.

Syphon Study Lamp.

Hon. I. W. Case, of Astoria, in placing the new Syphon study lamp on the market, would call the attention of the trade to some of its merits. Its illuminating qualities are not equalled by any study lamp in use. It gives a steady, brilliant light; is free from unpleasant odors; does not drip either when burning or not burning; easily lighted and trimmed, and is without exception, the most convenient lamp to fill ever made. Directions accompanying each lamp. Call upon Mr. Case and buy one. He sells them at remarkable low rates.

You can always find what you ask for in large variety.
