THE CITY.

The steamship Columbia is due here to-day.

Capt. L. W. Poole is again at the popular Old Corner.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Montgomery is convalescent.

The steamer California, from Sitka and way ports, is due here.

The British bark Dextford sailed from Liverpool for this port, via Victoria, March 3d.

The schooner Argonaut sailed from San Francisco for Shoalwater bay on the 17th inst.

The foundation for Mr. J. W. Welch's new building is being laid and the work will be speedily completed.

Sheriff Twombly gives notice that after April 1st additional costs will be added on taxes due Clatsop county for 1880.

Mr. J. D. Holman is in the city on his way to Ilwaco, where he will remain until after the opening of the fishing season.

The frame for Messrs. Megler & Wright's addition was raised yesterday and the proportions of the structure are already visible.

Mr. M. D. Kaut will leave for San Francisco on the steamer Columbia on the 24th inst., for the purpose of laying in his spring stock of goods. Look out for something nobby when he returns.

We are so glad the Oregon arrived safely. It gives the spy-glass a rest. Some of her freight takes up considerable room on the deck and is an interesting sight. Saratoga trunks, boxes of drygoods, the latest style of a cook stove with the usual accompaniments of pots and kettles, and—, well, now we know Just What He went to Frisco for.

A very annoying and dangerous thing is the carelessness practiced by inhabitants along the roadway to upper town, of leaving materials on the road. The roadway is a public street, and is needed entirely for travel, either on foot or otherwise. Upon several occasions of late, horses have become frightened, and caused the lives of occupants of vehicles to be in danger, entirely from carelessness. This should be stopped or somebody punished.

Cook Bros. new steamer, the Argonaut, Capt. Fred Condon, made her first trip to Astoria yesterday. On invitation from Mr. J. W. Cook, quite a number of our citizens went on board and inspected the steamer from stem to stern, after which the lines were cast off and she was headed on a special trial trip to Tongue point, which place she reached in nineteen minutes. Rounding the Tongue she made the run back to Flavel's wharf in fifteen minutes, very good time indeed seeing she had no current, it being slack high water. Everything on board seemed to work to perfection, and the general construction of the Argonaut is admirably adapted to the waters in which she is to run, and to the purposes for which she was built. She is eighty-five feet long and has eighteen feet beam. With ample deck room and high bulwarks, she is capable of carrying a very large number of salmon. She is staunch and strong as a tug boat, no expense was spared to make her complete in every respect. Mr. James Cook informed us that as she lay, she represented in dollars and cents the neat little sum of twelve thousand five hundred dollars. Success to the Argonaut and her enterprising owners.

Can it be True?

It is whispered around that there is a prospect for a good-sized breach of promise suit in this county soon. The report says that a young man of this city engaged himself to be married to a young lady living in this vicinity. The day was set, bridal garments all made ready, and furniture selected and purchased for housekeeping. The wedding was to have taken place last week, and doubtless would have come off as per agreement, had not the impatient bridegroom backed squarely out. The report further says that this same young heart-smasher has made marriage engagements with other girls, and when tired of their company, without good cause, broken them off. If this is true, or only partly true, we haven't language strong enough to express our contempt for him. No man, entitled to be called a gentleman, would secure a woman's affections, engage himself to be married to her, and then break it off without grave and well considered reasons for doing so. And the man who would do otherwise ought to be driven out of society, and spurned with contempt by every decent man and woman in the community. We trust, for the credit of our city, that the report is without foundation, or grossly exaggerated. We would be ashamed to think we had a man among us, old or young, capable of so mean an action.

Auction Sale To-Day.

At 11 o'clock this morning E. C. Holden will sell, at the sign of the Golden Boot nearly opposite the Oregon Railway and Navigation company's dock, all the stock in trade and shoemaking implements of Mr. A. W. Come, who is leaving this city for a home in the valley. The stock consists of several pairs of custom made boots and shoes and a large lot of sole leather and calf skin. The tools, implements and sewing machines will be a valuable acquisition to any boot and shoemaker. In addition, a lot of useful household furniture, one first-proof safe and a variety of other articles will be disposed of. Sale to commence at 11 o'clock.

On account of delay in crossing the bar, and the time required to discharge a large cargo, the Oregon will not be able to leave on her regular day (today.) She will not sail before Sunday morning and perhaps not till Monday.

The committee appointed at the meeting of the warehousemen in the city of Portland, to inquire into the amount of wheat on hand in western Oregon, reported that there was in round numbers 82,000 tons. This report was presented at the farmer's convention at Salem and rejected, as it was believed to be incorrect, and on motion it was moved that a committee of three from each county should be appointed who were to report the wheat in store in each county. This committee upon consultation reported 90,000 tons, with 5,000 of Walla-walla wheat at Astoria.

During our flying trip on the Argonaut yesterday afternoon we noticed with much interest and satisfaction the numerous and extensive improvements and additions which have been made at and above upper Astoria recently. Among the most important we note the new canneries of S. D. Adair & Co., C. Timmons & Co., and the Occident Packing company, all of which have been added to the list of Astoria canneries since last fishing season. We also observed that the Astoria Box and Lumber Manufacturing company have their buildings nearly completed and with steam up were busily at work manufacturing boxes.

At the last term of the Circuit court for Multnomah county Judge Stott decided that in cases where plaintiffs issue attachments or garnishment process, if they are unsuccessful in finding money or property, they must themselves pay the costs incident to the proceedings and cannot tax the same against defendants. It has been the custom of plaintiffs, especially in justice's courts, if unsuccessful in the first garnishment process to follow out the old maxim, "if at last you do not succeed try, try again," when finally they caught a few dollars, the amount collected has been first applied on the costs of the previous unsuccessful attachments and garnishments, if any was left over, it went to pay the original judgment. According to the late decision of Judge Stott, if a garnishee answers that he has no property, the plaintiff and not the defendant must pay the costs of the attachment and the defendant is not in any way liable.

The Illustrated Scientific News.

One of the handsomest publications is the Illustrated Scientific News, published by Mann & Co., New York. Every number contains thirty-two pages, full of engravings of novelties in science and the useful arts. Ornamental wood work, pottery, vases and objects of modern and ancient art are finely shown.

The March number contains, among various other subjects illustrated, a full description of the manufacture of paper hangings, with engravings; how the deceptive curve is produced in casting the ball by the baseball pitcher, his attitude, how he holds and handles the ball, all fully illustrated. The number before us also contains engravings of Capt. Eads' proposed ship railway across the Isthmus, and a novel hydraulic railway locomotive.

In addition to this it contains many valuable recipes for artisans and housekeepers. This publication will be found instructive and entertaining to all classes, but will be best appreciated by the most intelligent. Published by Mann & Co., 34 Park Row, New York, at $1.50 a year, and sold by all news dealers.

Taken together we consider it the best and cheapest way of obtaining information of this state that can be found. We advise every business man to procure a copy.
