The little steamer John Nation has been greatly improved by repairs recently made by Messrs. Surprenant & Ferguson.
Lovers who are match-making should not carry off piles of lumber. There is great demand for this article in this city at present.
An extraordinary warm reception was given in this city a few evenings since to a couple of tramps, who come when the salmon run.
Tickets for the Espinosa concert, at Liberty hall on Monday evening next, are selling very fast. Call early and secure your reserved seats at Adler's.
Last Monday twenty inches of snow was reported on the Cascades between Ashland and Linkville. Usually, at this season, there is from three to five feet of snow on the Linkville road.
We understand there is a good prospect of a brick building being erected in Astoria this year. This is greatly needed, and no doubt the owner will receive good interest on the investment.
In Justice court yesterday James Johnson was tried for assault with a dangerous weapon and bound over in the sum of $300 to await the next term of the Circuit court. Not being able to furnish bonds he was committed to jail.
Mr. and Mrs. John Dunn were tendered a complete surprise at Eagle Cliff on Monday evening, in the form of a sheet and pillow case party, attended by residents of the burg and vicinity, and several from this city. Among the interesting features of the evening was a prize cake, to be awarded the person telling the best story. Mr. J. W. Hume took the cake.
Read E. C. Holden's auction notice of special sale to-morrow morning. The list of goods to be sold comprises second hand furniture of superior quality. Bedding, new Brussels carpet, several cases of coal oil and chests of black tea. Also, a large assortment of second hand show cases; and, at eleven o'clock precisely, he announces that he will sell one second hand pianoforte, made by a celebrated New York firm.
Yesterday, as the steamer Gen. Canby left the dock for the forts, Cook Bro's fine steamer Argonaut followed a few hundred yards behind. The Argonaut caught the Canby near Fort Stevens but was unable to pass her and soon fell behind. We understand, that on account of circumstances, the Argonaut was unable to carry the necessary amount of steam for her regular speed. Both are elegant and fast steamers. The Canby returned with the broom.

Death of Henry H. Jackson.
Just before the hour of five yesterday afternoon Mr. Henry H. Jackson breathed his last, after a long and painful illness, peacefully resigning himself to heaven. Mr. Jackson came to this country many years ago, and has since lived in Oregon and Washington, honored and respected by all who knew him. He formerly resided in this city and afterwards moved to Walla-walla where he took up his abode and engaged in business. After a lapse of a few years he found that his health was failing and was advised to remove to another climate. He again came to Astoria with hopes of renewing his health, and was at first encouraged, but soon became worse. Mr. O. P. Whitelaw, his brother-in-law, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon from Fort Canby, just before Mr. Jackson's demise. He was born in Griggsville, Illinois, June 15th, 1843, and was in his thirty-eighth year. He leaves a wife and five children, and numerous relatives to mourn his death.
The funeral will take place from the residence on Cass street, to-day at two o'clock p. m. Friends of the family are invited to attend.

New Game Birds.

By the steamer Bonita yesterday, Mr. E. C. Holden received 11 game birds, the "Mongolian sand grouse," sent from A. H. Morgan, of Portland, who received a number of different varieties of China game birds from Hon. O. N. Denny, consul general at Shanghai, China. These birds will be forwarded to Mr. C. A. McGuire, at Skipanon, who will distribute them between Skipanon and Seaside. Mr. Morgan has written the following communication to Mr. Holden, regarding these birds:
I am just in receipt of a shipment of game birds from Hon. O. N. Denny, Consul general at Shanghai, China, sent here to be turned loose to try and start the breed here. They were to go to different parts of the state and one variety the "Mongolian sand grouse," was to go to Clatsop county, as that was the kind of a country—near the sea-side—they were brought from. His desire was to have them placed about half way between Clatsop landing and the Seaside house. They are a beautiful variety of birds, about the size of our quails, but an entirely different breed. They have a foot unlike any other bird, it resembling closely a moles foot. Mr. Denny writes that they can fly almost like a streak of lightning. It is very desirable that it shall be well known throughout the surrounding neighborhood before they are turned loose so that no one will destroy them. It is also desirable that they should be at liberty at the earliest possible moment as the breeding season is so close at hand. The hotels at Skipanon, Seaside, etc., should be sure and caution all their hunting guests against shooting them. I am extremely anxious to see them preserved, as I think they will thrive and increase if let alone for a few years, which will give us an entire new breed of game birds. They will eat rice or grain of almost any kind, also cabbage leaves. This lot of birds came through all alive, but another lot of pheasants and partridges only twenty-two survived out of sixty-seven. These have been sent to Mr. Geo. Green's place, twelve miles below this city. Mr. Denny sent a new variety of peach tree for eastern Oregon and some bamboo for this valley, all of which came through living and thrifty.
—Warren Goodell, aged 72 years, who came to Oregon in 1848, died at his home near Yoncalla, Douglas county, on the 16th inst.
—J. E. Wilder, a farmer living about four miles from Walla-walla, who has suffered with rheumatism for years, took an overdose of fluid extract of colchum seed with fatal results on the 19th inst.
—Over five hundred dollars have already been spent in prospecting and testing clay and ore in the Callespell mine, one of the new gold and silver mines near Spokane Falls. Over two hundred dollars of said sum have been spent in that town for board, provisions and implements. This is but a foretaste of the result which may be expected if the mines prove to be as rich and inexhaustible as the discoverer hopes they may be.
—A Walla-walla exchange informs us that a stage driver, named Charles Hunter, tried last week to outrage a young lady passenger between Colfax and Lewiston, but she leaped from the coach and reached a place of safety, where she made her grievance known. The driver, feeling the enormity of his intended crime, left the team, went to the banks of Snake river and drowned himself. Some think the drowning part a mere ruse to elude justice, but others think that the man committed suicide in the first degree, and the hills that once knew him, will know him no more.
—Have you seen Prof. Adler's musical wonder, the Organina, if not so; it was admired by hundreds of our citizens since its arrival.

Lost in the Mountains.
Eugene City Guard.
From parties from Camp creek we learn that Thomas Jenkins, a youth of eighteen years of age, is lost on the mountains between Camp creek and the McKenzie. On Monday, March 6th, in company with a companion he started from camp on a hunting expedition, and has not been seen since. His comrade returned to camp the same day, and after waiting one day for Jenkins to return became alarmed, and notified the residents of Camp creek of the occurrence. Searching parties were formed but at last accounts had met with no success in their search. They found five deer at different places he had killed, and also tracked him for a considerable distance in the snow, which was from six to eighteen inches in depth, but could obtain no clue as to the whereabouts of the missing lad. It is surmised that he has either frozen to death, or met with some accident from his gun or otherwise. He is a son of Mr. Edward Jenkins, who lives just above the city.
