

The Daily Astorian. ASTORIA, OREGON: TUESDAY, APRIL 19, 1888. ISSUED EVERY MORNING. (Monday Excepted.) D. C. Ireland, Editor and Proprietor. Astorian Building, Cass Street.

Terms of Subscription: Sent by carrier, per week... 25 Cents. Sent by mail, four months... $3 00. Sent by mail, one year... $10 00. Free of Postage to Subscribers.

THE CITY. THE DAILY ASTORIAN will be sent by mail to create a month, free of postage. Send us your orders for the city and we will send you the ASTORIAN for that time, DAILY or WEEKLY, without any postage or other additional expense. Advertisements may be changed as often as desired. Leave orders of the printing room.

Ex-Senator James K. Kelly is at the Occident. The Astoria fishery advertise a lost net to-day. Mr. F. M. Bartholow, of Bay View, is in the city.

Mr. John Gates has secured another patent on his lubricator. The steamer Gen. Canby picked up a net yesterday - advertised. The Clan McLeod was towed to sea on Sunday by the tug Columbia, McVickers pilot.

Judge Sawyer affirmed the decision of Judge Deady on the Willamet bridge in Portland. Hon. W. D. Hare was a passenger to Portland by the steamer Emma Hayward yesterday.

The article on salmon today. THE ASTORIAN is surely the high boat this morning. The steamer Columbia arrived yesterday morning before six o'clock. This is equal to the best.

The steamer Gen. Canby reports four fishing boats a long way outside the bar yesterday morning. A celluloid hand, mounted as a pin, was picked up and left at this office for the owner yesterday.

Mr. P. Johnson of Boat No. 31, Astoria fishery, picked up a net in the ships channel yesterday morning. The Lizzie Ireland arrived yesterday via Victoria from Liverpool. Pilot Hewett piloting her in, Astoria towing.

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Callender accompanied Mrs. Epperly to Eagle Cliff yesterday on her return to Portland. The steamer Oregon was detained at Astoria all day yesterday loading for San Francisco. She sails away this morning.

Capt. Fred Congdon of the Argonaut, goes to Portland, and Capt. Johnny Brown takes command during his absence. A man walked overboard at the Fishermen Packing company's dock on Sunday - but was fished out before it was too late.

Dr. J. H. Chitwood, of Ashland, one of the stalwarts of Oregon, goes out by the steamer to-day, possibly on a trip to the east. Mr. Gardiner, late of Salem, is here, but finds it difficult to obtain a building for business purposes. Houses are what we want in Astoria now.

Rodgers, Meyer & Co. will have first class ships on the berth at Astoria for Liverpool direct, throughout the salmon season. See advertisement. Mrs. J. W. Clough met with a serious accident last Friday by falling on the back of her head, which has compelled her to keep her bed ever since.

Easter Services. The festival of Easter was observed in Astoria with considerable evidence of Christian appreciation. The services and discourses at the Episcopal church, which was beautifully decorated, were grand. A class of some eight persons and children were baptized. The music was equal to what might have been heard in much larger cities than Astoria. The choir consisted of Mrs. Annie Page, Miss May Van Dusen, Miss Laura Worsley, Miss Belle Welch, Mr. Wm. B. Adair, Mr. Geo. Taylor, Mr. Frank Parker, and Mr. H. G. Van Dusen. At the morning service Miss Laura P. Adair occupied the place as organist, and in the evening Miss Nora Wilson acted in that capacity. The service was long, but it was so excellently rendered that none were wearied. Following is the programme:

MOENING CHORAL. Christ our Passover... Humphrey Psalter... Hayes Te Deum... Peterson Jubilate... Dupuis Creed... Merbecke Library... Hopkins Easter Anthem... Boxfield Kyrie... Boxfield Gloria... Garrett Hymn "The Star is Over" Haydn Offertory... Gilbert

EVENING CHORAL. Psalter... Rimault Cantata... Andrews Benedicte... Thomas Hymn "At the Lamb's High Feast we Sing"... Gilbert Hymn "The Day of Resurrection" Offertory... Latussane

The offerings amounted to something near $150 00 for the bell fund, without any special appeal, except the few words of the rector. Mr. Perkins' sermons cannot fail to produce good results, and they should be heard by as full congregations every Sunday as listened to him on Easter Sunday. We understand that the service at the Catholic church was also very imposing, music fine, and sermons impressive.

All other churches in the city paid the usual attention to an appropriate observance of this most holy occasion. We love to see our churches filled with attentive listeners. It leads to a conversion to desirable modes of living - invigorating, inspiring of itself. Hopeful to a life which puts in a man the heart to forgive and forget; to lift up the fallen; more ready to relieve the suffering; in short to make him more thoughtful and just to his fellow man, and truer to his own convictions of right and wrong.

One of the tenants of the Astoria truck and dray stables lit out on their own hook yesterday, but were caught on Jefferson street before any damage resulted. Judge Sawyer is returning to California by the outgoing steamer. He made several calls during his stay here yesterday, dining with Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Thomas, upper Astoria.

Mr. E. R. Hawes, one of Astoria's live and wide awake business men, is preparing to build another new building next to his present store on Chenamus street. The building is under contract to Suprenant and Ferguson, and is already rented.

Oregonian 18th: "At the annual convocation of Oregon Commandery No. 1, Knights Templar, held at their asylum on Friday, the following officers were elected: F. N. Shurtleff, eminent commander; Thos. McP. Patton, generalissimo; I. W. Pratt, captain general; Seth L. Pope, senior warden; B. E. Lippincott, junior warden; Andrew Roberts, treasurer; B. G. Whitehouse, recorder; D. C. McKeercher, standard bearer; Donald Mackay, sword bearer; George E. Withington, warden. Institution of officers will be on Saturday evening, 23rd inst., at which time arrangements will be perfected to attend in a body Templar service at Trinity church the evening (Sunday) following." The sermon will be delivered by Rev. A. T. Perkins of Grace church, Astoria.

A Big Lot of Beer arrived by steamer Columbia yesterday, at Max Wagner's. Call around and see him, boys. Max Wagner's San Francisco National brewery beer can't be beat.

Dr. John Welch, dentist, will be at the Occident hotel in this city about the 20th inst., and remain a short time for the practice of his profession. Messrs. Wm. Pfunder & Co., of Portland, are the leading druggists of that city, and have one of the handsomest stores on the Pacific coast. This is the firm that manufactures the Oregon Blood Purifier and other medicines.

For a first-class oyster stew, fry, pan-frost or fancy roast, go to Roscoe, on Main street, opposite N. Leob's. Families supplied by the hundred or the sack, opened or in the shell. P. Wilhelm, Boss saloon, opposite the Clarendon hotel, Portland, Oregon.

The boat stoves made by M. C. Crosby, with fire-brick bottoms, are superior to all others in this market. Prices for canemery and fishermen's supplies have been slaughtered at M. C. Crosby's.

Go to M. C. Crosby's and get your lunch buckets, water kegs, bailers, buoys and boat stoves. For the genuine J. H. Catter old Bourbon, and the best of wines, liquors, and San Francisco beer call at the Gem opposite the bell tower, and see Campbell. LOST - A gold necklace and cross between the post-office and Mrs. J. Rodgers.

ASTORIA. The Venice of America in Early Days. In the Wyoming Illinois Post, of recent date, we find an interesting letter from Mr. S. T. McKean, of this city, addressed to a relative there, and evidently not intended for publication, nevertheless considered by us worthy of reprinting. After describing the lay of the land, the waterfront, and the adaptability of the application of the words Venice of America to Astoria, Mr. McKean says: "The attractions of the place are natural rather than artificial. The healthful sea breeze, and the opportunity for recreation attracts the invalid in the pleasant summer months, while the practical business man is attracted by the opportunities for investment in certain branches of business, and the prospects of growth and prosperity in the near future which the advantageous location of the place assures. I remember when I first saw this town, about thirty years ago. A few Hudson bay company buildings situated near the site originally selected by the agents of John Jacob Astor in 1811; a few small houses here and there among the trees and bushes, built and occupied by some Americans who settled here and took up claims two or three years previously constituted all there was of the town of Astoria. For a few years the place grew quite rapidly, and the country around began to settle up. Lumber in San Francisco commanded almost fabulous prices and saw mills were erected at different places in the vicinity, which gave employment to a large number of persons, and made good times generally. But the time for Astoria to grow and develop into a city had not yet come. The lumber business died out. Prices got so low that it would not pay to manufacture for export. Other causes combined to interfere with its immediate growth, and it was not until six or eight years past, that the place began to again show symptoms of vitality, and awake like Rip Van Winkle, after a slumber nearly as long as that celebrated individual is said to have slumbered. One of the occurrences that helped to arouse the city from its long slumber, was the appearance one fine morning of an English ship in the harbor. She came to get some of our surplus wheat to carry home to the hungry citizens of the United Kingdom. That ship was followed by others, and now they come every year. They begin to come about this time of the year, and continue to arrive and depart during the fall and winter, and sometimes until late in the spring. They do not all load at this place. Many of them pass on to Portland, the largest city in the state, situated about one hundred miles inland, but all have to stop here on their way in and out, while many load here entirely, the grain being brought to this place in river steamers and barges. One other and perhaps principal thing that has helped the growth of the place is the development of the salmon canning business. Six years ago there were only a few canning establishments on the river, situated from thirty to fifty miles inland. At the present there are fifteen canneries almost within the limits of the city, and several close to the mouth of the river. The quantity of salmon put up at each establishment ranges from fifteen to fifty thousand cases. A case contains four dozen one pound cans. Each cannery has from twelve to forty boats, and each boat is manned by two men, and carries one net. The nets are frequently 200 fathoms long, by about twenty feet deep. They put the net out in the river across the current, and drift with the tide. They usually fish in the night. Sometimes they only get three or four salmon in a night, but sometimes they get over a hundred, and occasionally more than the boat can carry. They often drift out over the bar purposely, but sometimes they get into the breakers, the boat upsets and the men drown. During the last season many fishermen lost their lives in that way. The canneries employ a great many Chinamen, who do nearly everything from making the cans to cooking the fish. It is thought by many that white labor would be more profitable, but it is not possible to procure enough white men or women to do the work. The fishing season begins in April and ends in August, while the shipping season is most active from the first of October to the last of January. I think there were about 500,000 cases of salmon packed in the river during the past season. The value of the wheat and salmon which passed out through the mouth of the Columbia river during the past year was over $6,000,000. Not very bad I think for a state whose whole population, cities and all, would not make one city half as large as Chicago. Astoria is a small city yet, having a permanent population of about 3,000, which however is nearly doubled during the fishing season, by the influx of fishermen, Chinamen, etc.

Since the Chinese started to brew "cheap San Francisco beer" there is little or no demand for that article any more. Call for the Columbia brewery beer, if you want something good. When you want a dish of nice Eastern Oysters done up in a mode, or a good steak, or a fragrant cup of coffee, call at Frank Fabres on the roadway, and he will accommodate you. Open at all hours.

Pure Water. Mr. W. Orde, one day water man, has found, after a chemical analysis, by a well known resident of this place, and also using the water, that it is pure spring water. Owing to the pipe being new, makes it a little hard, but after ten days use it will be like it is in the lake; cool and soft.

To Let. Several furnished or unfurnished rooms at Mrs. Munson's lodging house. Also, a few persons can have board if required, either ladies or gentlemen. Tin Plate, Pig Tin, Etc. Geo. W. Hume keeps constantly on hand, and to arrive a full line of fishermen and cannery supplies, at prices which defy competition. Parties wishing groceries and those intending to run mess houses should inspect goods and obtain large discount from regular price.

Central Hotel. The Central hotel, near the steamship dock is now open for the reception of guests, where the well known caterer, Mr. Anton Bloch will always be found ready to wait on his patrons. He has had the above named house thoroughly refitted by Messrs. Pike and Stockton, our well known artists. Call and see him, as he has the finest brands of liquors and cigars to be had in the city.

Accommodation to Fishermen. Friend fishermen. Get your tide tables at Max Wagner's. Premature Loss of Hair. Nowadays may be entirely prevented by the use of Burnett's Ointment. It has been used in thousands of cases where the hair was coming out in handfuls, and has never failed to arrest its decay; it promotes a healthy and vigorous growth, and it is at the same time unrivaled as a soft and glossy dressing for the hair. Burnett's flavoring extracts are the best, strongest and most healthful. Sold everywhere.

Have Wistar's balsam of wild cherry always on hand. It cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, whooping cough, croup, influenza, consumption, and all throat and lung complaints. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Ice cream at Roscoe's oyster and refreshment saloon on Main street.

The entertainment to be given by the ladies on next Friday evening at Liberty hall, for the benefit of the Methodist Episcopal church, will be a fine affair. Admission 50 cents, children half price. Extra fine lot of apples, straw and hay just received and for sale at Grays warehouse.

P. J. Goodman on Chenamus street, has just received the latest and most fashionable style of gents and ladies boots, shoes, etc. For the best Beer in Astoria, call for the Columbia Brewery Beer, acknowledged to be superior to all others. Mr. John Rogers, of the Central Market, has made arrangements to keep all the finest fresh fish, etc., in their season.

Miss Lizzie Norris has arrived and is ready to receive a limited number of pupils for tuition on the piano. Call at Mrs. Holdens, or on F. C. Norris, Astorian Office. One of the handsomest bamboo fishing outfits in the country is to be disposed of at the Occident hotel as soon as the chance are taken. It only requires one dollar to acquire this beauty, and we know of several gentlemen here who hope to become the future possessor of it; hence you must go quick if you would get in.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS. BY MAIL AND TELEGRAPH. Ample Apology. SACRAMENTO, April 15.-Gov. Perkins in conversation this evening, speaking of criticisms upon the appointment of W. H. Knight, an employe of the Pacific Coast Steamship company for harbor commissioner, said that it was the one appointment during all his term which gave him the most satisfaction. I came to this city twenty-two years ago with a pair of blankets on my back and two dollars in my pocket, and from here I walked to Oroville. There for the first time I met W. H. Knight, and he hired me for fifty dollars a month as a porter in his store. I worked there until I bought him out, many years after. He then went to San Francisco with a small fortune and lost it in business. When I became one of the owners of the Pacific Coast Steamship line I took him into the office at a salary of $175 per month, and now I appoint him to be a harbor commissioner, at $250 per month. He did not know a thing about it until he was appointed and never asked me to give him the place. In addition to the satisfaction it gives me personally to do this thing for an old man who first befriended me, a poor boy, I think the people of this state ought to be grateful to me for appointing an honest man to that position, for an honest man than W. H. Knight don't live in California. Every man who knows him will say that. The governor concluded his story by remarking quietly that if he had wanted to put up a job in the harbor commission, Knight would have been the last man on earth he would have selected as an instrument. He said he had given the only reason why he appointed Knight in his little story.

Peruvian Bitters. (Cascubna Rubra. The Count Cinchona was the Spanish Viceroy in Peru in 1630. The Countess, his wife, was prostrated by an intermittent fever, from which she was freed by the use of the native remedy, the Peruvian bark, or, as it was called in the language of the country, "Quinquina." Grateful for her recovery, on her return to Europe in 1632, she introduced the remedy in Spain, where it was known under various names, until Linnaeus called it Cinchona, in honor of the lady who had brought them that which was more precious than the precious metals. To this day, after a lapse of two hundred and fifty years, science has given us nothing to take its place. It effectually cures a morbid appetite for stimulants, by restoring the natural tone of the stomach. It attacks excessive love of liquor as it does a fever, and destroys both alike. The powerful tonic virtue of the Cinchona is preserved in the Peruvian Bitters, which are as effective against malarial fever to-day as they were in the days of the old Spanish Viceroy. We guarantee the ingredients of these bitters to be absolutely pure, and of the best known quality. A trial will satisfy you that this is the best bitter in the world. The proof of the pudding is in the eating, and we will willingly abide this test. For sale by all druggists, grocers and liquor dealers. Order it.
