THE CITY.

The Mary Blundell cleared and sailed yesterday. Miss Brown expects to spend her summer vacation in The Dalles.

There are now twenty-one canneries in the immediate vicinity of Astoria. The Glenbogar sailed from Liverpool on the 12th, for this port via Honolulu.

The Oregon, due at this port from San Francisco to-morrow, has a large passenger list. Mrs. Geo. Flavel, and Katie, are passengers by the incoming steamer from San Francisco.

The United States steamer H. G. Wright, Capt. Denny, will leave this morning for Yaquina bay. It was 4:30 P. M. Monday, when the Oregon left Frisco on her present voyage. She cannot arrive before to-morrow.

Mr. Geo. Taylor, of this city, was present at the banquet in Portland in honor of the Queen last evening. A large party sat down at the table. Mr. E. R. Hawes has just turned out an elegant piece of tin ware for Mr. Myers brewery. The time used to be that such work had to come from the Atlantic side.

The American ship Oliver S. Southard, from Philadelphia for this port, while going down Delaware river had mainmast and forward cabin shattered by lightning. Yesterday was the anniversary of the Queen's birth-day. The shipping in the harbor displayed considerable bunting, and so were numerous flags flung to the breeze on shore.

Our dispatch boat, the Argonaut, placed the Oregonian in THE ASTORIAN office yesterday hours ahead of the Bonita. With men like Vin to help us pull through we're sure of success. The barkentine North Bend arrived from San Francisco yesterday. She sailed in over the bar, when the Rosetta picked her up and towed her to Knappa, where she is to load for San Francisco.

The run of fish continues so slack that some of our canneries are waiting for something to turn up; some are predicting a big run at the close of the season; some want to shut up shop. One advanced the price yesterday to 65 cents a fish. As barrels cannot be found in Oregon to store the large quantity of oil saved from that whales head, the oil will be shipped in bulk by the ship Morning Glory, to New York direct. A limited amount of other freight will be taken at reduced rates.

The Ledger should treat Mr. Villard fairly in its discussion of the "late unpleasantness" between the Northern Pacific railroad and the Oregon Railway and Navigation company. Mr. Villard has not backed down; in fact has never taken any stand so unfair as to require backing down. "Insurance, pilot-tax and towage are nominal in comparison with those of Oregon's metropolis," says the honorable United States railway commissioner to the people of Seattle. A comparison of insurance rates will reveal your error, Mr. French; and as to towage, etc., your statement is an old-revamped slander of Astoria. Come up with the facts. It is very easy to assert, but sometimes difficult to prove the assertion.

The steamship California, from Alaska via Port Townsend, made a run of 2,594 miles in the round trip. She went 181 miles above Sitka to Tukon, the famous mining country, with a party of prospectors. They report the mines evidently rich, but the high price at which the present owners hold them was the cause of discouragement and they returned. Capt. Carroll reports the water so low in the Stecken river that parties are as yet unable to reach the Cassiar mines.

Board of Delegates A. F. D.

The regular monthly meeting of the board was called to order by C. J. Trenchard, president. Delegates present—W. W. Parker, I. Bergman and C. J. Trenchard, No. 1.

C. H. Stockton, E. R. Hawes and B. S. Worsley, No. 2. J. O. Bozorth and M. C. Crosby, Alert Hook and Ladder company. Roll called and absentees noted. Communication from Astoria Engine company No. 1 announcing the election of Hansen, McPharland and Wagner, was referred to committee on certificates.

Communication from Rescue Engine company No. 2 announcing the election of P. A. Trullinger and the resignation of L. D. Coffman was ordered placed on file. Communication from Alert Hook and Ladder company, announcing the election of Dunham, Hunter, Nowell, Faight, Taylor, Brown and Launsberry, was referred to committee on certificates.

Communication from Adam Van Dusen, asking the board to grant him his exempt certificate was received, and on motion the request was granted. The board then adjourned. FRANK L. PARKER, Secretary.

Chapel at Ilwaco.

Liberal people in Portland agree to subscribe $1,000 worth of first class material for a first class chapel and hall in Ilwaco, provided the Ilwaco people raise enough, perhaps as much more; to put the building up. This chapel may be used for services by the churches of all denominations, and can also be used as a town hall, public school room, most of the year; and will be a credit to Pacific county. The good people of Astoria will perhaps be called upon to assist Ilwaco in the movement.

The Ethel, overdue at this port, was spoken March 23 in latitude 54 north, longitude 82.39. The Olympia Courier says: "A mail agent named Skinner is getting some left-handed compliments from the press up and down the Columbia river, on account of his civility and self-importance. We hope they won't run him off over this way to replace either of the agents on the Kalama-Tacoma route, who are accommodating gentlemen."

Our Pataha cotemporary, submitting the marriage notice of Mr. Hope B. Ferguson, says: "Hope has struck it rich; got a jewel and no mistake. Hope, here's a double health to you; long life and happiness. A large number of friends and relatives were present to witness the ceremony, and the young couple start out with bright prospects and the kind wishes of a host of friends."

In a recent interview McGinnis, delegate from Montana, was told by Postmaster-General James, that he had no idea of depriving any honest community of its mail facilities, and he desired to see even those regions where there was a deficit of money, feel that the post office department was not a respecter of persons. He said that honest bidding, honest contractors and a pure service would assist the government to be generous toward the frontier people.

The Walla-walla Watchman of the 20th says: "Last Friday morning a man brought a small load of nice, fresh silver salmon into town. There was a great rush and forthwith the team was surrounded. In less than ten minutes every fish was sold and many walked away with the money in their hands disappointed. Some felt so bad that they followed the team for several blocks, just to get a smell at the wagon." Charley, come down to Astoria and try some of the fish fresh from salt water. It makes all the difference in the world where you catch 'em.

Delegate McGinnis from Montana believes that the Northern Pacific railroad will reach the Yellowstone valley next fall, 400 miles west of Bismarck. Jay Goulds railroad will get to Butte city, seventy miles south of Helena, in June. Gould has made an agreement with Villard to build an Oregon line from Granger, on the Union Pacific, to the Columbia. Villard is seeking to draw his road both Goulds branch and the Southern Pacific interest. Both the Yellowstone and Tongue river valleys, on the Northern Pacific, have magnificent prospects.

The Standard says that the new $3,500 Methodist Episcopal church organ was secured principally by the ladies sewing society of the church, numbering not more than twenty or twenty-five active members, consisting in part of Mrs. M. F. Mulkey, Mrs. George T. Myers, Mrs. J. F. Jones, Mrs. D. P. Thompson, Mrs. Dr. Watkins, Mrs. E. J. Northrup, Mrs. J. R. Farsh, Mrs. A. C. Gibbs, Mrs. E. W. Connell and others. They worked unceasingly, got up concerts, gave socials, inaugurated various ways for securing money and worked in the sewing circle and everywhere. By their exertions the church has an organ that is not only the pride of the ladies but a credit to the city. They deserve very great praise for their labors.

Banish humors, and reinvigorate the stomach, liver and bowels, with King of the Blood. See advertisement.

Card From Mr. R. H. Cardwell.

Certain scandalous reports circulated in this community about me I denounce as false, and wholly untrue. I positively deny all their reports, and brand the circulators of them as liars and perjurers. This, as I understand has been done for the purpose of injuring me in this community, politically and otherwise, and I desire to meet the villains face to face. It is very easy to make damaging statements, but not always so easy to establish them as facts.

R. H. CARDWELL, Auditor and Clerk. Astoria, May 24th, 1893.

The Walla-walla Statesman is con- valescing. On the 19th it remarks, concerning the condition of the en- trance to the Columbia river: "The Statesman therefore suggests to THE ASTORIAN, and all other newspapers in the great Columbia basin, who have the welfare of the country at heart, that they make a combined effort to persuade congress that this is an af- fair of the greatest national impor- tance, and that something must speed- ily be done to save our river, even as the Father of Waters was saved. This can be very easily accomplished, and it must be. We require a natural highway to the sea. The water is now master where it should be servant; work will keep it within bounds and make a channel; work requires money, and congress must appropriate the means. A free outlet to the sea, and railroad connections to Puget-sound, and in ten years these will be the richest states in America."

The Tacoma Ledger says: "Bears are very plentiful on the line of the railroad surveys in the Cascade mountains. They are attracted to the various camps at night by the refuse thrown away by the cooks, and not infrequently help them- selves to bacon, flour, etc., which they carry away. Not long since one of them climbed upon a plat- form built to put supplies out of reach of the animals, pulled down a sack of flour and carried it off into the brush, tore open the pack- age, scattered the contents in all directions and departed, with hun- ger probably unappased."
