—The Rival sailed yesterday.

—The Mariner King will be ready to clear to-morrow.

—The steamer Oregon will sail for San Francisco to-day.

—The Tam O'Shanter discharged her inward cargo at Geo. W. Humes dock.

—The schooner Argonaut arrived at San Francisco from Shoalwater bay on the 10th.

—The steamer State of California will be due this morning from San Francisco.

—Mr. J. G. Fairford, of Portland, spent yesterday in Astoria. His first visit for two years.

—Two cases of measles in Mr. M. C. Crosby's family, and two in the family of Mrs. H. H. Jackson.

—Dr. J. C. Orchard returned from Portland last evening, after an absence of nearly two months.

—The Mary E. Russ made her appearance at Knappaught again yesterday, for another cargo of lumber.

—Coroner Franklin gave the remains found by Mr. Gray decent burial yesterday, but recognition was impossible.

—Among the passengers leaving to-day will be Carl Adler, who goes on business to San Francisco and for a visit to Santa Cruz.

—There is a Sessions and a Sisson in the Albany assembly. Our composers mixed the names yesterday. It was Senator Sessions approached Assemblyman Sisson with a bribe to turn him from Conkling and Platt.

—Thomas Plummer, who was drowned from one of Berguana boats on Friday, was a native of Belgium, aged 35 years. A Clark, who was with him at the time thinks he could have been saved by one of Cooks boats, No. 30. Clark was picked up by Geo. Beale and Fred Howe.

—The Oregonian says: "Rescue Engine company No. 2, of Astoria, will visit Portland on the Fourth of July and participate in the parade. During their sojourn they will be the guest of Willamet Engine company No. 1. Rescue has a magnificent Siskiy engine, one of the most handsome on the Pacific coast."

—Mr. Hiram Gray reported the finding of the body of a man yesterday morning about half a mile east of Coffinity slough, a mile below Lewis and Clarke, on the tide lands, in an advanced stage of decomposition. Beyond recognition. His shoes held on the fragments of a pair of heavy drab trousers. He was a tall man, perhaps six feet. No other clothing. Coroner Franklin was notified and held an inquest.

—The Pullman sleepers brought up on board the Tam O'Shanter for the Oregon Railway and Navigation company are fine first class coaches. Bill Nye recently described a sleeper, and as they have more of 'em in Laramie than we have at Astoria, we append his remarks: "A sleeper is one who sleeps; a sleeper is also a place where a sleeper can sleep; and a sleeper is, too, a thing over which runs the sleeper in which the sleeper sleeps; so that the sleeper in the sleeper sleeps while the sleeper runs on, as well as sometimes leaps off, the track."

—On the examination of Harry Hendrickson and Buca Porta, in the justice court, on Thursday last, the fact that Albert Cody, one of the witnesses for the prosecution, was in the neighborhood where the crime was committed, at the early hour of four or five o'clock in the morning, was commented upon by the defense in a manner rather derogatory to the character of the witness. The facts are that Albert Cody and Victor Pete were starting out fishing. Pete was in the boat, and Cody on Capt. Grays wharf, when Cody witnessed the robbery, which he immediately communicated to Pete, and shortly afterwards to an officer.

Fourth of July.

Messrs. C. S. Wright, Alex. Campbell, M. D. Kant and G. F. Parker, from the sub-committee on finance for the coming Fourth of July celebration, secured the sum of nearly three hundred dollars on Friday. It is the intention of the committee to call upon everybody, but anybody has been overlooked they can report to any member of the committee. The meeting resolved that the finance committee should give a receipt for all moneys collected, but as this would be almost impossible, they concluded that the better way would be to publish full reports of receipts and disbursements in THE ASTORIAN. Graduating Exercises.

The graduating class at St. Helen hall last Wednesday consisted of seven young ladies. At three o'clock p. m. the customary exercises took place, each one of the ladies graduating presenting a well written essay as follows: Maria F. Clouton: "Thoughts on the Photograph." Margaret Green: "I number None but the Cloudless Hours." Susan Whalley: "Out of the Old Cometh the New." Ida K. McKenney: "Ballads." Clara Northrup: "Cold Water." Mary Shindler: "The Queens of To-Day." Elizabeth Irving, valedictory: "Cloud Lands." In consequence of the death of her brother, Miss Northrup was excused, and her essay, "Cold Water," was read by Miss Irving. The Bishops address at the close of the exercises was a grand production. Out of thirty-six members twenty-one were in attendance at the annual meeting of the Alumni, and we are permitted to say concerning the permanent organization, that Astoria ladies were chosen President, Historian, and Chairman of the committee on exercises.

—Judge D. C. Lewis, of Cheney, writes to correct the statement that Mr. Cheney appropriated $15,000 toward the building of an academy in the town of Cheney. Mr. Lewis merely heard that he contemplated erecting such a building at Cheney.

—Thomas A. Porter, assistant engineer on the Oregon Railway and Navigation company's steamer Oregon, has been promoted to be chief engineer, and has gone to bring out the company's new steamer Walla-walla, which will be due here about the last of October.

—What have we done that we should be punished with the office of State Printer? which bankrupt Mart V. Brown, killed W. B. Carter, and has rendered the Salem Statesman as limp as a rag? It is true it made a banker of Asahel P. Bush, but then, that was in those good old days of yore before the scramble for office revealed the tricks of snelling committees. Nothing of that style for THE ASTORIAN. There is but one way that anything can be made out of the office of State Printer in Oregon, and that is to steal it—and as we claim that in politics, as in everything else, we propose to live without thieving, we beg to be excused from the honor expected to be conferred upon us.

—"Ingersoll's Infidelity." Dr. J. L. York, the noted orator of California, will be here about the 20th of this month on his way to re-enter Oregon and Washington territory, at which time he will speak on Ingersoll's Infidelity and its results.
