A good advertiser particularly outs his show-windows into the news advertisements." If they read those of other people, why will they not see yours."

An advertisement tells its own story. It makes no mistakes, as a solici-tor might do, and states exactly what the merchant wants to say, neither more less. Advertisements are honest and faithful servants. 23° "Do hogs pay?" asks an agricul-tural correspondent. We know of some that don't. They subscribe for a paper, read it for a few years for nothing, and then send it back to the publisher with the P. M.'s inscription, "refused." Such hogs as that pay nothing to anybody, if they can help it.

zer 'Goods speak for themselves,' Out it is only after they are bought that they can do so. An object in advertis-ing is to induce people to buy them and test them. If goods speak for them-selves, a good advertisement may also speak for the goods.

FF Some men can see things only retrospectively. Instead of looking for-ward to what they might do they only look back to what they might have done. They learn from experience, after it has become a little late in the day. Such men are the non-advertisers, "Bookfarmers" were once despised by the self-called "practical" farmers, but when the latter saw the former's crops, they changed their minds.

227 "I am doing a good enough business without advertising." No doubt you are doing well enough for your presyou are doing well enough for your present needs, but do you forget the panies, the exciting elections, the times of war or pestilence, or any of those many causes which create dull terms of business? These must be calculated for and discounted if you would bridge them over. One must make more than he needs, to make a fortune, and advertising is a powerful auxiliary in moneymaking.

23 No man should deprive his wife and family of a good local paper. They do not get out from home to learn the news as does the husband and father, and the paper serves to relieve the other-wise lonely house of his absence. It is the worst possible enconomy to deprive the family of a pleasure so easily and cheaply procured. And yet there are cheaply procured. And yet there are tause who say that they are too poor to take a paper; but they are not to poor to spend twenty times the price of a paper every day for whisky and tobacco.

B. J. KENNALL & Co., Gents: I wish to add my festimony in favor of your invaluable imment. "Kendall's Spavin Cure." In the spring of 182 I alipped on the fee and sprained my right fluid at the knee joint. I was very fame and at times suffered the most exernelisting pain. I were a bandage on it for over a year, and thed mest every fame in my reach, but could find nothing that would give me nermanent relief. When I overworked, it would pain use very much. In April 1878 I began to think I should be a cripple for tile; but having some of "Kendall's Spavin Cure" thought I would try it. I used one third of a bottle, and experienced relief at once. The pain left me and has not troubled me since. I feel very grateful to you and would recommend "Kendall's Spavin Cure" to all who suffer with sprains or rheumatism. Yours truly, Mrs. J. BOUTELL.
