UMATILLA RESERVATION.

There is probably not a finer or more productive tract of land in Oregon than that embraced within the limits of the Umatilla reservation. Several attempts have been made to get rid of the Indians, and much have been promised by some of our members in Congress, but nothing accomplished. The entire reservation from Pendleton to Centerville, a distance of 30 miles, is good land, in fact the very best that can be found anywhere. Pendleton, the county seat of Umatilla, is rapidly improving, and it would do so much faster, were it not from the fact that the reservation runs into the town, and a portion of it is located on lands claimed by the Indians. The title to the town site ought to be quieted as soon as possible, and we are confident that the Government could make acceptable terms with the Indians to get them to give up their tribal relations and take up farms. This is the case with the better class of these Indians, and the great value of the lands they now hold from the whites, should be sufficient to induce the Federal Government at least to make an effort to throw it open to settlement. We have no data to go by, but believe that each Indian now on that reservation, including squaws and children, have reserved for their use at least 640 acres. It is true a portion of this land is cultivated, but what is, is a trifle, and not worth mentioning. While we are on the Indian reservation question, we may as well give our views of the reservation system. It is the most ridiculous policy any sensible Government can devise. Under it, we are not only making loafers and worthless people of the present generation, but the white man who has to work for his bread, is taxed to raise a shiftless and worthless lot of young Indians. They are taught under this reservation plan to rely on the General Government for their support, and have no idea of working for a living. If, when the present generation died off, there would be a change, we might tolerate the incubus, but the generations unborn will be as trifling as the present, so long as we deal with them as dependents and not force them to rely upon themselves for their support. One thing is certain; these lands, which are some of the best in the State, ought to be divided up and given to the white men for homes.—Standard.

Concordance.

Don't you know that Bob Ingersoll gets most of his best things from the Bible. In fact some of his finest utterances are simply paraphrases of Bible truths. See here:

"Honest industry is as good as pious idleness," says the colonel.

Well that's all right. That's orthodox. The Bible says the same thing, and said it long before the colonel thought of it. [Faith without works is dead.

"Christ believed the temple of God to be the heart of man." [Ingersoll.

Yes, that is orthodox, too. We "must worship him in spirit." "Know ye not that we are the temples of the Holy Ghost?"

"If I go to heaven I want to take my reason with me." [Ingersoll.

Of course, and so you will, "for now can we see through a glass darkly, but there face to face; now I know in part, but then I shall know even as I am known." [1 Corinthians xiii. 12.

"Fear is a dagger with which hypocrisy assassinates the soul." [Ingersoll.

That is good gospel, and "perfect love casteth out fear."

"If I owe Smith ten dollars, and God forgiveth me, that doesn't pay Smith." [Ingersoll.

Correct you are; the prayer of Christianity is "forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors."

"Owe no man anything."

"Reason is the light of the soul, and if you haven't the right to follow it, what have you a right to follow?" [Ingersoll.

"Yet in the church I would rather speak five words with my understanding, than ten thousand words in an unknown tongue."

Brethren, be not children in understanding, howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men." [Corinthians xiv. 19-20.

"If you go to hell, it will be for not practising virtues which the sermon on the mount proclaims." [Ingersoll.

That's all orthodox. "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them."

"The men who saw the miracles all died long ago. I wasn't acquainted with any of 'em." [Ingersoll.

Same way with the men who saw Servetus burned. But the colonel most firmly believes that Servetus was burned.

"A little miracle now, right here—just a little one—would do more toward the advancement of Christianity than all the preachers of the last thirty years." [Ingersoll.

"If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded though one rose from the dead." [Luke xvii. 31.

"If there is a God in the universe he will not damn an honest man." [Ingersoll.

"A false balance is an abomination to the Lord; but a just weight is his delight. [Proverbs vi. 1.

"There is only one true worship, and that is the practice of justice." [Ingersoll.

"Render therefore unto Caesar the things which be Caesar's, and unto God the things which be God's." [Luke xx. 25.

"God will not damn a good citizen, a father or a good friend." [Ingersoll.

Certainly not; nor any good man.

"A good man showeth favor and leniency; he will guide his affairs with discretion. Surely he shall not be moved forever: the righteous shall be held in everlasting remembrance." [Psalms xxii. 5-6.

"Study the religion of the body in preference to the religion of the soul. A healthy body will give a healthy mind, and a healthy mind will destroy superstition." [Ingersoll.

That explains why the Indians have no superstitions.

"Persons who have the smallest souls make the most fuss about saving them." [Ingersoll.

Of course, Colonel; they are the hardest kind to save.

"I will never ask God to treat me any fairer than I treat my fellow men." [Ingersoll.

"Well that's perfectly orthodox.

"For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your Heavenly Father will also forgive you; but if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses." "For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged; and with what measure ye meet, shall be measured to you."

"Upon the shadowy shore of death the sea of trouble casts no wave." [Ingersoll.

The Colonel must have been singing that good old hymn, "When I can read my title clear," in which occur the lines:

"And not a wave of trouble fell across my peaceful breast."

It is selfish and unpatriotic folly that would prompt any citizen of this state to object to improvements on the Columbia and Willamette rivers. As an important factor in the state's commerce, we must all work for such an end. But what we, east of the mountains, are specially and immediately desirous of is the completion of the locks at the Cascades. It is worse than childish for the different parts of the state to be antagonizing the improvements of the other; let each work for what it wants, but not against the needs of others.—Weston Times.

Bald heads have been respected. De ole bald-headed prophet was so highly 'spected dat when a lot of chillun laughed at him an' said, "go up ole bald-head," she b'rrs come out outen de woods an' 'stroyed forty ob de number. A great deal can be said 'bout bald heads, but den I discovers a slight discrepancy when I sees a bald-headed man groavin' amen at church, 'an den see him occupyin' a front seat at a short-dress show.—Hum.

The Brooklyn Eagle says: Mrs. Hayes is said to have been the best match-maker ever in the White House. During her four years there she married off all her eligible nieces, and helped along all the young girls of her connection. It used to be a remark when a young lady arrived at the White House, "What young man has Mrs. Hayes in view now?" She has lots of namesakes all over the country, and is one of the most popular women in America.

The Central Pacific Railroad company is preparing in earnest for construction of a railroad eastward from Corinne, Utah. Engineers are working from Corinne east, and from the Missouri west. It is supposed that connection will be made with the Chicago and Northwestern.—Oregonian.

IRRITATION OF THE SCALP.
An Authentic Testimony.
Gentlemen.—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing BURNETT'S COCAINE and BURNETT'S KALLISTON advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains. J. E. CAVEN, Kansas City, Mo. BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS are the best.

Peruvia Bitters.
Cinchona Buba

The Count Cincbon was the Spanish Viceroy in Peru in 1620. The Countess, his wife, was prostrated by an intermittent fever, from which she was freed by the use of the native remedy, the Peruvia bark, or, as it was called in the language of the country, "Quinquina." Grateful for her recovery, on her return to Europe she presented the Countess with a bottle of the Peruvia Bitters, which she used with success against malarial fever to-day as they were in the days of the old Spanish Viceroy. We guarantee the ingredients of these bitters to be absolutely pure, and of the best known quality. A trial will satisfy you that this is the best bitter in the world. "The proof of the pudding is in the eating," and we willingly abide this test. For sale by all druggists, grocers and liquor dealers. Order it.

---Banks, Promissory notes, bonds for deposit, and all kinds of negotiable and warranty deeds, at this office.

The Peruvia Syrup has cured thousands who were suffering from dyspepsia, debility, liver complaint, boils, humors, female complaints, etc. Pamphlets free on any address. Seth W. Fowler & Sons, Boston.

A cough, cold or sore throat should be stopped. Neglected frequently results in an incurable lung disease or consumption. Brown's Bronchial Troches do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in asthma, bronchitis, coughs, catarrh, and the throat troubles which singers and public speakers are subject to. For thirty years Brown's bronchial troches have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cents a box everywhere.

By Universal Accord.
AYLES CATHARTIC PILLS are the best of all purgatives for family use. They are the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, and their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, proves them the best and most effectual purgative pill that medical science can devise. In intrinsic value and curative powers no other Pills can be compared with them, and every person, knowing their virtues, will employ them, when needed. They keep the system in perfect order, and maintain in health the whole machinery of life. Mild, searching and effectual, they are especially adapted to the needs of the digestive apparatus, derangements of which they prevent and cure, if timely taken. They are the best and safest physic to supply for children and weak constitutions, where a mild and effectual cathartic is required.
