Wreck of the Edith Lorne.

The British ship Edith Lorne is a total wreck off Clatsop Spit. She arrived in this port Oct. 25th, from Hobart Town in ballast; loaded with 28,000 tons wheat, and cleared from here on the 9th inst. Her cargo was insured in the Commercial Union, of London. At 7:30 A. M., Thursday morning, Pilot Woods started to take her out without a tug. At 9:30, the wind, which was from the NE, died away and the ship began to drift; there were no signals set for a tug, and despite the letting go of an anchor the ship struck at 10:45 and at 12:30 the life-boat keeper at the Cape fired a gun and signaled for a crew. The Napier which had started out in tow of the Columbia but returned in company with the Temple Bar which had also started in tow of the Brehan but likewise returned on account of the rough water, furnished a crew who went to the rescue of the Lorne. She was then ashore on the middle sands. At three o'clock she hung out the jack, union down and the life boat took off a load who were transferred to Eric Johnson of the Columbia who took them to the Cape, and, returning, got another load from the boat, hauling all safely at six o'clock. The ship drifted during the night and at 12 o'clock yesterday was on Clatsop spit about two miles and a half S. E. of where she first struck, her yards spread and the waves rolling over her, precluding all possibility of saving anything. The entire crew were to arrive on the Daily last night. Considerable comment has been made in reference to the disaster. It seems to be the general impression that the loss of the vessel was due to over confidence and lack of discretion on the part of the pilot.

Small Pox.

A Dayton dispatch says that the town is under guard, that new cases are reported daily; up to Thursday evening there were ninety-three cases and eleven deaths. Seattle is quarantined. There are five cases at the pest house near Portland, three of whom the Oregonian says will be discharged to-morrow. So far no cases have been reported at The Dalles or in the Willamette valley.

Chamber of Commerce.

A special meeting of the Astoria Chamber of Commerce will be held this evening at half past seven o'clock, at President Barley's office. Business, consideration of communications from Portland Board of Trade.
 E. C. HOLDEN, Secretary.

Four inches of snow in Walla Walla.

Two nice rooms, suitable for light housekeeping, over Gen. saloon. Terms very reasonable.
 MRS. ALEX. CAMPBELL.

No. 2's engine will be out of service from 7 A. M. till 6 P. M.

A new comet has been discovered, the seventh since January. It is in line between Polaris and Perseus.

Employees of the O. R. & N. Co. at The Dalles will levy a tax upon themselves and build a pest house for the reception of any of their number who may be attacked by small pox.

Picture frames in blue and silver; picture frames in morocco and velvet; picture frames in every style and finish at Adler's.

The Y. M. C. A. meetings in the young men's rooms are becoming more and more interesting; the audience each night increasing and the various topics discussed eliciting the most earnest attention. Subject this evening, "The invitation and God's time of accepting it." Everybody cordially invited.

The Wood river Miner says that a party of surveyors in the employ of Villard are en route to seize upon, and survey the only practicable pass through the Saw-tooth range for a railroad, so as to get a precedence over the Union Pacific, who have been making surveys in that direction. Is this the only pass that Villard is trying to gobble!

The New Testament authorized edition revised, for twenty-five cents at Charles Stevens and Sons City Book store.

There is found in many localities in Montana a bird of the grouse species known as the fool-bird or hen. It acquired its peculiar name from its tameness. The sight of an eagle or hawk will drive it to cover, while it has no more fear of the human face and form than a common barnyard fowl. Its plumage is glossy and beautifully variegated. A portion of its breast is of spotless white, and its back is not unlike the plumage of the mallard duck.

San Francisco Freights.

The S. F. Commercial Herald of the 10th says: A still further decline in grain freights is noted this week. The present quotation to Liverpool direct is 67s 6d. and 70s to Cork, U. K. The disengaged fleet in port is by no means large, considering the numerous arrivals the past fortnight, while the fleet on the berth now exceeds 115,000 register. The fleet to arrive within the next few months has dwindled down materially of late. Nevertheless, the aggregate is yet large, being more than 300,000 tons register, or more than 100,000 tons greater than it was one year ago. The Oregon bound fleet is much larger than usual, so that we can hardly expect any relief from that quarter, as she evidently has all the tonnage that will be required for some time to come. We do not look for any further decline in freights for some time, believing the entire fleet here and to arrive will be insufficient for our wants—noticeably so should we have early and copious rains to induce our farmers to dispose of their large grain surplus, which even at this late date is placed at 1,000,000 short tons. There is no special inquiry for vessels to arrive. Nevertheless a few charters have been written for February and March, including at 60s for orders to U. K.

Poor Fellow.

A rich miner of Happy Camp, lately offered $500 to any one who would get him a wife. He came very near getting married at Rocky Point a week after, the engagement having taken place by telegraph, but it was broken off by the young lady departing as soon as she saw the would be groom arrive on the stage. At least such is the substance of a statement in the Jacksonville Sentinel, which the gentleman alluded to, Mr. J. K. Reeve, says is incorrect, in his card in the same paper, wherein he says: I was called from Happy Camp on a business trip to Grant's Pass, and while there I was cited to a nice and tasty school marm, named Mollie Simpkins, of Rocky Point, who was represented to me as being about thirty years of age. I immediately telegraphed her that I would come down and make her an offer of marriage, which she accepted and asked me to come at once. I started for Rocky Point next day, when I was introduced to a young lady, but not the one I had been corresponding with, and then found out that Mollie had come to Jacksonville to get her teeth fixed, and now she still persists in calling herself a "young" lady.

Coroner's Verdict.

CATHLAMET, W. T., Nov. 17th 1881. EDITOR ASTORIAN:
 We the undersigned, jury men, having examined the man found in the river about a mile below this place find on mark on his body to indicate that he has come to his death otherwise than by drowning. Slight wound on left side of brow being only wound or hurt. Said person is five feet and one-half inches tall, nose seems at some period to have been broken and some period to have been broken and some period to right side. Age forty-five to fifty, wore No. 6 boots; hair dark and short cut, slightly streaked with gray. He had dark colored woollen clothing not much worn, two cotton shirts over coat checked. In his pocket were two empty buck skin purses, three small keys attached to a piece of buckskin, one cent, one red cotton pocket handkerchief.

Rough at Tillamook.

TILLAMOOK, Nov. 16, 1881. EDITOR ASTORIAN:
 Perhaps it is worth while noticing what kind of weather we have had in Tillamook this last six weeks. Many anxious eyes have been watching the little schooner Alpha lying in the bay, riding the big seas like a duck; but in spite of all she had to put her jibboom under water every once in a while. The bar has just been booming, it was impossible to face it, and worst of all it still keeps it up. The little schooner has a very precious cargo of butter on board, over 600 kegs and each weighing from fifty pounds upward, besides a lot of other general produce. When she can get out, beats the experienced eye of an old sailor.
