THE CITY.

THE DAILY ASTORIAN will be sent by mail at 75 cents a month, free of postage.

The Oregon arrived in at noon, Sunday.

The Columbia went to sea Sunday morning.

The railroads of this country support two million people.

The general spread of smallpox in the East justifies the belief in a vaccination.

A new saloon is one of the many improvements that are promised Upper Astoria.

10,663 boxes of tin have been discharged from the Edderside; about 600 remain.

The Muriel cleared for sea yesterday with 32,853 bushels of wheat, worth $32,525.

B. W. Blood, of Clatskanie, advertises that he will make floats, buoys, mallets, etc., at his shop.

Wind, snow, rain, hail, sloop, general discomfort; buildings going up fast all over town and every one busy, despite the weather.

The latest thing in the way of subscriptions is a proposed fund to the jury that convicted Guitau.

The masquerade ball of the boys of No. 1, next Tuesday, will be something worth attending.

Oysters from Shoalwater bay are coming in now in sufficient quantity to supply the demand.

The British barks Ullock, 779 tons, Swertowski master, 88 days from Brisbane, and Sir Lancelot, 886 tons, Shortland master, 75 days from Honolulu, arrived in on Sunday.

We are in receipt of an invitation to attend the marriage of Mr. Carl Adler and Miss Laura Hirsch, which will take place at Salem next Thursday morning.

The steamer Willamette is to undergo some change, which will detain her in San Francisco for about a month, when she will come to the Columbia to load flour for Hong Kong, returning with Chinese laborers.

Hansen Bros. advertise this morning that they are prepared to do anything in the way of house or boat building.

The Goodwood came down Sunday, Oklahoma towing, Sprague pilot; the Castlehead came down yesterday, Wonder towing, Congdon pilot.

The New Tacoma Ledger informs us that its Astoria correspondent is instructed to make no statements in which ship masters' names are mentioned.

Walla Walla was killed last week by a fellow who pretended to be "Hermann," not THE ASTORIAN correspondent, but the world-renowned wizard of that name.

The fisheries of British Columbia, says the S. P. L., yielded in 1881 a revenue to the Province of $1,454,321, or $740,986 in excess of 1880.

The whole number of cases of salmon put up was 177,276, against 115,427 in 1880.

Eight small steamers, ten schooners, 375 fishing boats, 25 flat boats, 146 canoes, 62 sailors and 2831 fishermen and shoremen were employed.

Any one wanting rope, suitable for sails, or in need of counter scales can get them from Capt. Berry.

Another of those fine A. B. Chase organs at the City Book Store.

Wanted

More ship carpenters and caulkers are wanted on the Barge. Apply to J. Paquet, on the grounds.

New Stock

On the next steamer Carl Adler will leave for the East, from where he will send direct from the manufacturers' rooms, several fine pianos and cabinet organs of the most approved style and finish.

Will be Hanged June 30th.

Last Saturday Judge Cox very properly refused to grant Guitau a new trial, and ordering the writ to stand up, passed sentence upon him: in closing, he said: "Your own testimony shows that you recoiled with horror from the idea.

You say that you prayed against it; you say that you thought it might be prevented. This shows your conscience warned you against it, but by the wretched sophistry of your own mind you worked yourself up against the protest of your own conscience.

What motive could have induced you to this act must be a matter of conjecture. Probably men will think that some fanaticism or morbid desire for self-exaltation was the real inspiration for the act.

Your own testimony seems to controvert the theories of your counsel. They have maintained and thought honestly, I believe, that you were driven against your will by an insane impulse.

The testimony showed that you deliberately resolved to do it and that your deliberate and misguided will was the sole impulse. This may seem insanity to some persons, but the law looks upon it as willful crime.

You will have due opportunity of having any errors I may have committed in the course of the trial, passed upon by court in banc, but meanwhile it is necessary for me to pronounce sentence of court, that you be taken hence to the common jail of this district from whence you came, and there be kept in confinement, and on Friday, the 30th day of June, 1882, you be taken to the place prepared for your execution within the walls of said jail, and there between the hours of 12 and 2 p. m., you be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul.

Guteau broke into a passionate outburst, and after talking himself out of breath was taken to the condemned felons' cell.

Miss Luella Kidder is the possessor of an interesting natural curiosity—a double Cala lily. The plant was brought from Portland last March. It is now five feet high and crowned with a beautiful double flower.

Our State is flooded with quacks and bogus doctors who have been driven from California and Washington Territory by reason of the laws there regarding medical practice.

Probably the next Legislature will regulate the present loose style of tampering with life.

M. Probst, a native of Pennsylvania, says the Telegram, has discovered on his own farm and in his vicinity better signs of coal oil than he has ever seen in Pennsylvania.

Probst resides in Clackamas county on the Willamette, about ten miles above Oregon City. This may result in the development of a new industry in Oregon unless the signs fail.

THE SONG OF THE OYSTER.

Oh! a jolly old bird is the oyster fish As he sits in his pearly shell, A thinking how many a delicate dish He can make when cooked well.

Broiled or roast, Served on toast, Or raw on a dainty platter; Escallop or stew, Either will do, Or fried in crumbs or batter.

And a knowing old fish is the oyster bird, As he stily seems to dose; For he drops not a hint, he speaks not a word.

Of all the secrets he knows— Blisful hours, Shady bowers, Whispers low and sweet: Table delights, Merry old nights, When jolly old cronies meet.

A Chance.

There are sewing women in New York who are compelled to eke out a subsistence by making shirts at forty-five cents a dozen.—Washington Post.

A Fair View.

In the last number of the West Shore, G. W. Atkinson, in an article on the Columbia river, says:

Can the Columbia cut away the shelf or south point of the middle sands and its silt seaward far enough to be borne off by the ocean current.

A like process has been going on, resulting in repeated bars, sand spits and islands, until a deep channel has, as we have seen, been made to the sea line.

The more sluggish Yukon of Alaska, spreads its mouths through a delta of seventy miles in width, and allows its beat channel to wind through this broad alluvium, hardly more than six to ten feet deep.

The Columbia's more rapid flow carries its channel thirty feet deep out to the sub-marine spits and banks which form the bar.

The problem of cutting a deep channel through the middle sands south of the breakers, cannot be solved by dividing its force into two or three channels. Its natural trend has pressed Sand Island and the middle sands to the northward.

Its re-curve or swing, trends across the south spit or shelf of the middle sands, as a new southern or central channel, deep enough for our largest merchant ships.

Such a channel will no doubt continue, if its southern bank or wall is held firm. The process of piling and rip rapping on Clatsop spit, as suggested by Colonel Gillespie, seems to be the true and wise method to secure the southern wall of the Columbia ship channel.

The northern wall will be held firm by the rocky base of Cape Disappointment.

It is plain from the experience of years, that the United States government will not push three or four improvements vigorously, viz., the locks at the Cascades; removing rocks in Snake river channel; dredging channels in the lower Willamette and Columbia, and dredging the bar at the mouth and piling Clatsop spit.

Appropriations are soon spent and all the work stops often when most needed and most easily done.

Portland proposes to share the expense in part. Why not share the work? Why not enlist boats and men of the O. R. & N. Co., and buy dredgers and scrapers that can be got, and push the dredging and scraping of river bars as an individual or company can and will push its own enterprise until they are done?

Why not ask Congress to grant a large appropriation and use it to improve the mouth of the Columbia, as advised by U. S. engineers? Why divide petitions and be conquered, instead of uniting them to win success?

The delays of the ocean fleet in 1881, will be repeated in 1882-3; if this commercial city fails to apply its money and business force, first—to clear out the river bars itself, and second—to ask Congress to appropriate a large sum and spend it to help the ingress and egress of ships at the mouth of the Columbia.
