—Ash Wednesday.

—First day of Lent.

—Hang out your flags.

—Sackcloth and ashes.

—Washington's birthday.

—The nation takes a holiday.

—Fasting and prayer for forty days.

—Dr. Kinney has fresh vaccine points.

—The Yaquina went up the river, yesterday.

—Chinamen don't rock the cradle; they make the sky rocket.

—The side-wheel steamer, Idaho, crossed out yesterday. She goes to the Sound.

—Vaccinating Chinamen with mucilage instead of virus is appropriately described as being "a gum game."

—We are requested to state that the Y. M. C. A. social, announced for Friday in yesterday's issue, is indefinitely postponed.

—The Walla Walla Union makes the astonishing statement that it is published to make money. George W. is dead nearly eighty-three years, but his spirit still survives.

—A social, under the auspices of the ladies of the Presbyterian Church, will be held at the residence of Mrs. John Hobson on Friday evening. Friends are cordially invited.

—Norton Neally, while out hunting with a companion in the snow, knee-deep, on the hills near Luckiamute River, in Polk county, became exhausted and lay down on the 16th and was frozen to death.

—Fort Colville is to be abandoned. The Secretary of War recommends the construction of a post to accommodate six or eight companies of infantry and cavalry at or near the mouth of the Spokane river.

—The State Temperance Alliance, in session at Salem, have elected the following officers: President, Dr. J. Watts: Vice Presidents, Rev. J. N. Denison, Mrs. A. S. Dunway, Rev. D. T. Stailey and Jacob Consor: Secretary, J. E. Houston; Corresponding Secretary, C. Selhberde.

—The fifteenth annual report of the Oregon Children's Aid Society, Salem, has been submitted. This shows that during the past year the Home has cared for seventeen children. The funds of the society during the year amounted to $1,401 95: disbursements, $1,384 50.

—The director of the mints has issued a circular announcing that mutilated silver coins will be received at the mints in sums of three dollars and upwards, if forwarded at owner's expense, at the rate of one dollar per ounce, troy, or about ninety-one cents per ounce, avordupois. At this rate, one dollar in subsidiary silver coin, if unmutilated, would be worth about eighty cents, and the value of mutilated coins will be proportionately less according to the degree of mutilation.

—It is claimed that gold has been found in the vicinity of Gray's Harbor on the outside beach. Like all gold found on the ocean beach it is greasy, and no plan has yet been found by which it can all be saved. The lead is from five to twenty inches in thickness, and extends from the Oahut to the Anderson house, about fifteen miles. It is located between extreme high and low water mark. Its location is such that it will be hardly possible to bring fresh water to work it except by pumping and long ditches. About one dozen claims have been located on the lead.

LOSS OF THE CORSICA.

Sunk in 45 Fathoms of Water.

Statement of Capt. Veysey.

The British bark Corsica, 778 tons register, Veysey master, loaded with wheat for the United Kingdom, sunk twelve miles southwest of Cape Hancock yesterday morning, at twenty minutes past five. The captain and crew were saved; they came up to Astoria on the steam tug yesterday morning. Following is the statement of the captain:

"We left Fort Stevens anchorage in tow of the tug Astoria, at 11 o'clock, on the morning of the 20th inst., wind NE; set all square canvas and proceeded favorably till we came to the bar; going out north channel we found a heavy swell setting in from the southwest; the ship struck several times. After striking the second time I asked the pilot to take the ship back; he replied, 'if you do, you will lose your ship.' We sounded the pumps and found the vessel was leaking, having then twenty-three inches of water in her hold. All hands set to work at the pumps, the sea very rough both on and after crossing the bar. I asked the steamer to lie by, as the water was increasing. Despite all efforts the water gained at the rate of fifteen inches an hour. At seven P. M., I found there was four feet, seven inches of water in the hold; I then ordered the boats astern to lay by. At half-past nine there was nine feet, six inches of water, and at 10:30 was satisfied that I could not keep ship free, and there being a heavy swell, it being pitch dark, after consultation I inquired if there was any chance to beach the ship to save the cargo; learning that that was impossible, the ship then laboring heavily, the sea sweeping her decks, all hands were ordered to the boats. I followed and we went on board the Fearless, which at my request lay by the ship. The wind went down and at 3 A. M. the swell abating, kept the ship above water longer than I expected. She was gradually settling, the flukes of her anchors being in the water, and at twenty minutes past five she foundered. We steamed all round, but found no vestige of her."

The Corsica was 170 feet long, 31 feet breadth of beam, 21 feet depth of hold, and drew 19½ feet of water. She was a wooden vessel, worth $32,000, and had a cargo of 43,867 bushels of wheat worth $40,833. The captain desires to return thanks to the captains of the Astoria and Fearless for their assistance in standing by through the night. Capt. Veysey goes to Portland this morning. He has lost everything, and in this connection we would say that, as according to the rules of the English merchant service, a ship master is not furnished assistance in the matter of transportation or sustenance, though the crew is, that his case is one that calls for recognition on the part of our citizens. His family are here, he has a little infant three weeks old, and is a stranger. This is probably sufficient to say.

Sheet and Pillowcase Party.

This party given under the auspices of the Olympic Club, on Monday evening was well attended. The first appearance was a tableau of phantoms on the stage under colored lights, at nine o'clock sharp. The grand march followed the tableau and dancing until half past ten, when the sheets and pillowcases were removed. After supper dancing was continued until three o'clock in the morning. Many of the costumes were quite elaborate and unique in appearance. One young gentleman caused an uproar of merriment by frantically tearing off his sheet before the appointed time, and exclaiming "Its pretty hot here!"

The party was a grand success both socially and financially. The Club deserve the highest praise for giving so select and enjoyable an entertainment.

Ships Libeled for Pilotage.

The case of W. A. Betts against the ships Glenmara and Dochra came up in the U. S. District Court last Saturday, and by stipulation was argued before the court without a jury. Col. Effinger appeared for plaintiff and U. S. District Attorney Mallory for the defendants. After hearing the arguments of counsel the cases were taken under advisement by Judge Deady. The case is one of considerable interest to pilots and shipmasters. It seems, says the Standard, that Mr. Betts, who is a pilot for the Columbia river, boarded these ships some distance below Astoria and offered his services to pilot them to this city. For some reason his offer was declined and at Astoria they engaged another pilot. Mr. Betts thereupon libeled the ships for half pilotage.
