Their entertainment is a mammoth affair, and comprises the latest features in minstrelsy together with the laughable picnic party whose "carrying on" always call out the loudest expressions of approval.

We are in receipt of the annual report of the Portland Library association. The institution appears to be in a flourishing condition. We notice that all the leading papers of the state are on file there, and that besides a copy of THE DAILY ASTORIAN which is regularly received there, there is also a complete file of this paper deposited in the archives of the association.

In speaking of the trial of the first officer of the Storm King, says the Standard, a gentleman connected with the shipping interest stated that shippers were put to a great annoyance and expense to obtain crews. One captain who lately sailed was obliged to pay nearly $1,000 advance and blood money to secure a crew, and besides pay a watchman $5 per day all the time he was waiting. This state of affairs is liable to happen in many places, but peculiarly at Astoria, where sailors can find profitable employment at this season in the fisheries.
