

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: TUESDAY, MAY 20, 1882

ISSUED EVERY MORNING. (Monday Excepted). J. F. HALLORAN & COMPANY, PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

Terms of Subscription: Sent by Carrier, per week, 25 Cents; sent by mail, four months, $3.00; sent by mail, one year, $9.00.

THE CITY.

THE DAILY ASTORIAN will be sent by mail at 75 cents a month, free of postage. Readers who contemplate absence from the city can have THE ASTORIAN follow them, DAILY or WEEKLY editions to any post-office without additional expense.

—Decoration Day. —Read Prof. Willo's advertisement. —Fish are coming in better this week.

—A camp meeting will be held near Montezano, beginning June 23d, and continuing ten days.

—The burned Yaquina was raised last Saturday. The hull seems sound, and the owners will probably rebuild her.

—Notwithstanding the numerous rewards offered, the assassins of Cavendish and Burke have not yet been discovered.

—On her last trip the Hayward brought down a brass cannon weighing 1,227 pounds from Vancouver. It is for garrison at Fort Stevens.

—Guilieu declared last Saturday that if he were outside he would immediately start in lecturing. That ought to settle it. He should hang now any how.

—At the City View Park, near Portland, last Sunday morning Jas. Mooney stabbed Harry Smiley, inflicting three wounds. His thought Smiley will die.

—Thomas Rector, of Tacoma, shot his wife last Sunday morning, and then killed himself. His thought he was temporarily insane; a very natural conclusion.

—Pawtucket, Rhode Island, is the largest town in the United States; Kalamazoo, Michigan, is the largest village and Astoria is the farthest west of any city in the Union.

—The "Uncle Tom's Cabin" troupe that plays here next Friday and Saturday is realistic in the extreme. Box sheet now open at Carl Adler's. No extra charge for reserved seats.

Two white men have visited the mountain of burning coal on the Navajo reservation, A. T. They are the first white men who have ever seen it. They say it seems to have been burning for several hundred years.

—The Clara Parker brought down Bargo No. 1, of the Astoria Transportation company. She has on 800 tons of flour for the Langrigg Hall, and after discharging that will bring 400 tons additional to complete her cargo.

—On Sunday the Westport took up the boiler and part of the machinery for the new saw-mill that the Westport Shingle-mill company is building at that place. The remainder of the machinery will probably be here in two weeks.

—By the capsizing of a sail boat last Saturday evening on the Willamette opposite Portland, N. J. Wilson lost his life. He was an engineer, the sole support of a mother and sister in Santa Cruz, Cal., and a young man of excellent reputation.

—Under the head of "New to Day" will be found an announcement of interest to the amusement-loving public. Jay Rial's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," is pronounced by the press and public to be the best representation of that popular drama ever presented.

—Prof. Willo's entertainment last night was well attended and was of sufficient interest to excite the wonder and surprise of those present. The gifts that were distributed were impartially given out in accordance with the custom in these cases. To-night the Professor will give his last performance, and this afternoon there will be a grand matinee, especially for ladies and children. This will be the last opportunity to see the Professor as he goes to fill his engagement on the Sound.

Dr. Watts' Lecture.

The Congregational church was filled last Sunday evening to hear Dr. J. W. Watts, receiver of the Land Office at Oregon City, lecture on the subject of temperance. He had on each side of him a table. On one were dishes of fruit and bread, and pitchers of milk and water; on the other were bottles, supposed to contain divers spirituous beverages. There were, also, a revolver, a half box of cigars, a pipe, a flask half full of what appeared to be whisky, and a pack of cards, apparently a poker deck. The lecturer began by reference to the comforting nature of grape-juice and its subsequent unwholesomeness when the sugar of the must is changed into diastase and further into alcohol. After eulogizing the health-giving qualities of the materials on the table at his right hand, he waxed warm in his denunciation of the several heterogeneous articles on his left, and assured his hearers that they were superlatively deleterious in their effect upon all animal organizations. He enforced his arguments by illustrations drawn from his own observation and experience, and thought that the world would be much better off without any of these appliances that gratify the appetites of men and women. He made a valuable addition to the natural history of the century by enunciating that the reason a snake's tongue is forked is that it may say either truth or falsehood, as best serves its purpose; this species of amphibious being, in the lecturer's opinion, symbolic of the spirit that is so opposed to Divine rule.

After some practical illustration of the inflammability of alcohol, which the doctor demonstrated by pouring some alcohol from a two-ounce vial into a saucer, and igniting it with a common match, the speaker entered into minute detail of the sad effect nicotine has upon both the vascular tissue and mucous membrane of the animal kingdom. He then grew warm in his condemnation of the traffic in all these articles, and thought that all who felt an interest in the progress of humanity and the salvation of mankind should unite in a determined effort to secure such legislation as would result in the desired amount of restriction. He stated that nearly 24,000 names had been signed to petitions in this state, asking that the legislature leave the matter to a vote of the people, and that he wanted signers here. Several petitions were circulated at the close of his remarks, with what result we have not been able to ascertain. To one not used to Dr. Watts' peculiar style of oratory the effect is somewhat stunning—his vociferous enunciation being of the emphatic order. The lecture was of a semi-religious character, being prefaced by prayer, interspersed by reading of the Scriptures, and closed by taking up a collection.

Police Court. May 20th. Thus, Campbell, violent and disorderly conduct; fined $10 or 5 days in city jail. John Martin, disorderly by fighting; $5 deposit forfeited. Charles Perry, same; $5 or 2 days in city jail. James Duffton, drunk; $2 deposit forfeited. Antoine Dovernear, drunk; $2 deposit forfeited. John Doe (Chinaman), disorderly by fighting; $5 or 2 days in city jail. Richard Roe (Chinaman), disorderly by fighting; $5 or 2 days in city jail.

The excursion to the forts and bluffs last Sunday was an enjoyable affair. The Canby took a large delegation of ladies and gentlemen, who expressed delight at the beauties of the trip. These Sunday excursions will be repeated during the season, and deserve the popularity that they will be sure to enjoy. Chief of Police Laughrey brought down two gentlemen on the Fleetwood, Sunday afternoon, whose ideas on the rights of property were somewhat mixed. They gave the names of Wm. Grape, and Geo. Drinkwater; and before Judge Fox, yesterday, were found guilty of petty larceny and fined $25 each, in default of which they went to jail.

A neat girl to sew. Inquire at this office. A good situation for a suitable person. Found. A bunch of seven keys at the Postoffice. Inquire of Postmaster Chance, and pay for this notice.

Announcement. For the benefit of our many friends we have consented to announce ourselves as independent candidates for justice of the peace and constable. C. P. MOFFETT, JOHN E. CHRISTIE. ASTORIA, May 20, 1882.

—Ice for sale at the Occident Hotel.

DECORATION DAY.

Oh! who would stand where hostile weapons gleam, Where camp-fires glow, and destinies are cast, Or tread that misty bridge which spans the stream That sweeps between us and the tragic past; To see the glare of crimson on the sky, Or hear the woods resound again with clamorous battle-ry?

Wouldst view once more the heaps of unguiled flesh, Where rise the smothered moan of men in pain? Wouldst see the wounds of martyrs bleed afresh, And red-mouthed trenches gaping for the slain; The shivered saber and the crushed cuirass, The hoof-bled grain, the riven earth, the powder-smeekened grass? No! rather seek some consecrated coast, Where surplined choir, with organ's solemn note, Chant requiems for the dead; or loys in sport Peer down the cannon's dark and rusty throat; Where scents of roses drench the summer air Or ruined moat, and black and yellow tiger-lilies flare;

Or find the rent redoubt, where ivy creeps O'er shattered shell and broken bayonet; Planting its leafy standard on the steeps, To win the grim, dismantled parapet; Making a conquest none the less complete Than when the sanguine slope was pressed with wounded, weary feet. The past has left its heritage of hate To souls still grieving for the dead adored, But who would turn the dial-hand of Fate To cancel legacies so golden-stored; Or rouse the ranks from fratricidal field To pace again the blot of bondage on a nation's shield?
