The river is booming. The Willamette is 24 feet above low water mark.

This weather is, for any kind of work, about as near perfect as it can be.

Master Eben Rogers came down from Portland yesterday for the holidays.

The State of California is due this morning. She has 460 passengers on board.

Work has begun in Portland for a new steamer for the Yaquina, Tillamook, and Gray's harbor trade.

A full attendance is requested at the preliminary meeting to-night. Make the preliminaries a success by your presence.

Another one of those ancient Chinese rookeries on Chenamus street is being moved to the lot opposite the post office.

Holden advertises an auction sale for to-morrow afternoon. Bargains can be procured on household utensils, etc.

The Melancton came in yesterday and went to Knappa to load. The North Bend, Portland and Tam O'Shanter, went to sea.

That portion of the Bradley gang who escaped punishment for the murder of Brown, are being told that due regard for their welfare suggests their leaving Portland at once.

A baker's runaway horse gave Ben Wores an opportunity to save property yesterday by considerably stopping in his headlong flight at a simple word of command.

Peter Sullivan was tried in Portland last Wednesday for complicity in the Brown murder, and was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

The Memphis Avalanche man rises in his stirrups and says that "as a matter of fact, fish is as indigestible as sole leather, and but little more nutritious than sawdust." Send him a can of salmon, somebody!

The Grand Army of the Republic in this state now constitutes a department of its own. We are informed that there are about 75 resident veterans here, and that a post will be organized here in a few weeks. There are seven posts of the order in the state, the latest being organized at Eugene city last January.

Greatest and Smallest.

Jas. Williams, of Tanzy point, yesterday caught the largest and least salmon of the season; the big fish weighing 75 pounds, the smallest 2 1/2 ounces. The little one, we saw; the other we take from ensight.

"Summer Saunterings."

A neat little pamphlet, with the above title, is on our desk. It contains piquant notes in reference to ten excursions over the O. R. & N. lines, and while it fittingly describes the many points of beauty on the Columbia and Sound, it is itself a typographical gem. To any one contemplating a summer excursion the book is a useful one.

Election Returns.

The county clerk, the police judge, and the justice of the peace for Astoria precinct met last evening to canvass the returns and declare the official vote of Clatsop county on Monday last. Three precincts were counted, when a discussion arose on the matter of an apparent discrepancy between the number of ballots cast and the number of votes recorded in Astoria precinct, the number of ballots according to the tally list being 756. The alleged fact that the combined vote of any two candidates running for the same office did not aggregate that number, was in the opinion of the returning board, reasons for a recount. Braced by the sympathy of the bystanders the ballot box for this precinct was produced, and the fascinating work of counting the ballots began. The count was finished at eleven last night. We will have the returns to-morrow in tabulated form.

The Fourth of July.

In little more than three weeks the 106th anniversary of American Independence will occur, and it is but meet that we of Astoria should fittingly celebrate our great national holiday. There is plenty of good intent, plenty of money, plenty of ability; we have first class social organizations, societies, fire companies, etc., and could get up a good celebration. What seems to be wanted is "some one to start the thing going." We suggest that a public meeting be called, an organization effected, a chairman appointed with power to appoint sub-committees on finance, arrangements, etc., and the matter put through in good shape. We feel just the same interest in it that every other citizen does. The election is over now and attention can be given to the matter that has been otherwise diverted for the last month. The patriotism and love of our country that was so prominently displayed during the campaign that has just closed can be exemplified anew in giving fitting celebration to our country's birthday.

We are glad to see that as usual our firemen are "on deck." The boys propose giving a grand tournament on that day, and expect to make such arrangements at their meeting to-night as will insure a success. A fine parade can be made a feature of the day, and with a little "standing in" on the part of all, the coming Fourth can be celebrated here in a manner befitting the importance of the day.

Ladies' Social Union Entertainment.

Following is part of the programme for the entertainment at Liberty Hall this evening, commencing at 8 o'clock: PART FIRST.

Grand march; Tableau—"Eliizer and Rebekah at the well"; Recitation, Edith Conn; Instrumental music, Prof. Mayer; Tableau—"Morning, Noon, and Night"; Song, Miss Katie Flavel; Recitation, Miss Allen; Instrumental duet, Mr. McIntosh and Prof. Mayer; Overture, by prominent citizens of Astoria.

PART SECOND.

Broom Brigade; Address in costume, M. G. Royal; Song, Miss May Van Dusen; Indian scene; Duet, Prof. Mayer and Gracy Carruthers; Recitation, Mrs. M. G. Royal. Ice cream from Alisky, Portland, will be served during the intermission. Admission 25 cents.

A Hot Day in Walla Walla.

Yesterday afternoon was the hottest of the season. Every breath out of doors was like a bird's life, pressed into a minute. The air was in a strained, and only the most stubborn resolution could wait for the going down of the sun. Of course somebody must stay in town, but it would have been a glorious thing if everybody could have gone away from this brick and stone oven, where there is nothing but wilted fainting air, into some place God made, some place where the pores would not gasp, muscles droop and the mind become a blank, nerveless thing. Yesterday all humanity was on the incessant leak. The thermometer ran pat into the nineties, and the lifeblood sizzed through the veins at white heat. The church bells echoed through the city, but men lay under trees and ladies loitered in baths. At the restaurant cooks were aggravated, people sniff at the meat, gaze interrogatively at boiled eggs and call incessantly for ice-water. Fearless of municipal law, crows take to the cool waters of Mill creek, and the druggist clerk, with a bitterness beyond his aloes, remembers the pond he used to bathe in. Washlee Plenty Cheenoo sweats it out in his den. A few men do go away in the early morning, and scramble for places in the cooler shade of the trees, or at the beer tables in urban resorts, but the poor devil who is enforced, standers the thermometer and trowlers at his master who, used to such temperature, only laughs demagogically at his suffering co-workers.—Statesman.
