THE TRIALS OF A SPEAKER

Business called me to the house of Mr. Blaine the other day, and in the course of conversation he spoke of the annoyances to which the speaker of any legislative body is subject, and how necessary it is that one should be not only a thorough parliamentarian, but very clear-headed and even-tempered.

"I once knew," said he, "down in Augusta, Me., a man by the name of Pike. He was speaker of the lower house. He was a very able man, but dreadfully crotchety at times. A legislative body, you know, is like a school. The speaker must keep the reins drawn tight or he will lose all control and the members will commence throwing spit-balls at each other, metaphorically speaking. Well, one day the house got into a dreadful snarl. The imp of perversity seemed to have taken possession of them all. The whole day had been spent in dilatory motions on one side, plentifully interspersed with chaffing and abuse from the other. Pike, who was nearly frantic with rage, still preserved a calm exterior. At last his patience gave way, and pounding with the gavel until a partial quiet had been restored, he exclaimed: 'It has been moved and seconded that the house adjourn; all in favor of the motion, etc.' No one had made such a proposition and there were but two feeble eyes. 'Those opposed,' shouted the speaker. And a perfect chorus of noes went up that fairly shook the chamber. But Pike was not disconcerted. 'The eyes have it and the house is adjourned.' 'You know,' continued Mr. Blaine, in his instructive manner, 'that when a body finishes its deliberations it adjourns until some particular time. Aware of this fact, a tall member from Aroostook arose in his seat and pointing his long bony finger in Pike's direction exclaimed: 'We adjourn, Mr. Speaker, to meet again when?' The answer came with crushing promptness: 'I don't give a — if you never meet again.'—Corr. Harrisburg Patriot.

The President's Dilemma

The president looks upon the condition of the party with concern. He regrets the attempts to reopen the breach as imperiling party prospects in his own state. Since Gen. Arthur became president he has doubtless discovered for a certainty that which he suspected, that Judge Robertson's anti-third term blast was blown on a Blaine bugle, after the insinuating Chandler had visited Robertson at Albany, and offered him in Blaine's name, the New York custom-house, in case Blaine was nominated. Still the president was disposed to take no advantage of all that he learned. He determined to follow out the purposes of Garfield respecting appointments, so far as he could learn them, and he faithfully did so. He did a harder thing. He has for eighteen months firmly resisted the importunities and advice of men of whom he was on most intimate terms, respecting the use of patronage. The president has listened patiently and courteously to the pleadings of half-breeds and alleged reformers for office for themselves or friends, when he knew that these men had spoken of him behind his back as a Guiteau president.

The president sees that it is useless to go on much longer hoping for peace. Still he hesitates. A fight, even on the guerilla plan may wipe out the guerillas, but may also leave the Democratic party in possession of the field, and the president has not yet reached the standpoint of the opposing faction. He does not yet believe that a good Democrat is better than a Republican of the other faction.—Sun.

Not Good Pay

A talk with one of our ministers, relative to things matrimonial, reveals a condition of matters hardly creditable to bridegrooms. It is known that the majority of these matrimonial contracts, entered into by parties in the country, are completed in Walla Walla, our clergymen usually having excellent facilities for turning a job of this kind in the most complete style, with all the modern improvements; things not attainable by rural divines. This is a growing industry here in spite of the fact that celibacy is a conspicuous element in our society, but from all accounts it don't pay like either a woolen mill or a livery stable. By the minister referred to above, we are assured that he has been quite extensively engaged in this branch, but that in the majority of these cases, his only reward has been the approval of his conscience, the gratification of doing a service, with here and there a kiss from the inviting lips of the bride. Now and then a young man will squander fifty cents or a dollar or two on the minister, but they give it as though the effort was the beginning of the liver complaint. Sometimes the bridegroom, if from a farm, will send a bag of cheap potatoes or some side-meat. This minister says he has met people with a vast array of cheek, but the man who takes the rag off the bush, was a fellow who last week, came to his house, was married, remained to dinner and never offered to pungle up a cent.—W. W. Statesman.

Wanted a Sponge Bath

It was not in McFadden's drug store that a young and sprightly school teacher last week addressed the clerk:

"I would like a sponge bath."

"Ah, oh, a — will you please repeat; I did not quite understand!" stammered the clerk.

"I would like a good sponge bath," again demanded the customer, while a pair of sharp gray eyes, beaming with wonder and impatience, made him tremble. More dead than alive, he managed to tell his fair visitor his inability to catch her meaning.

"Well, I never! If that isn't queer! I want—you—to—give—me—a—good—sponge—bath."

At this moment the proprietor whispered, "She wants a bath sponge." At the same moment she comprehended the trouble, and fled from the store before she could be recognized by any one, but too late! A gentleman raised his hat to her, passed in and all was discovered.—Hackensack Republican.

How the Member Weakened

The Detroit Free Press tells how the other night a policeman saw a man hanging around the entrance of a Michigan avenue hall in a queer sort of way, and he asked him if he belonged to the order then in session up stairs. The man replied that he did, and the officer inquired: "Then why don't you go up?" "Well, I was thinking of it." "Haven't been expelled, have you?" "No." "Aren't afraid of anybody?" "No." "And haven't lost your interest?" "I might as well tell you," said the man, after beating about awhile longer. "I went down to Toledo a few days ago, and somehow the story came back here that I was drowned. My lodge thereupon passed resolutions to the effect that I was honest, upright and liberal, and a shining ornament, and that what was its loss was my gain. I wasn't drowned, as you see, but I kind of hate to walk in on 'em and bust those resolutions. I've tried it three times, and I can't get higher up than the fifth stair before I weaken."

The Czar has probably the worst case of scare now presented to the view of the civilized world, and if his hair has not long ago turned white, then fright will not produce the effect it is credited with. Though every precaution has been taken in the matter of guarding the Imperial person, he is so fearful that mental derangement is seriously threatened. Having overcome his fears sufficiently to visit his father's grave on the anniversary of his death, he resolved on returning to test the efficiency of his guards. To his unspeakable horror he was successful in eluding their vigilance, and regaining his apartments unseen. It is generally believed in St. Petersburg that he will never summon up courage enough to endure the ordeal of a public coronation, although some of the ambassadors have rented palaces in Moscow for the event.

BREVITIES.

It is said that there are upwards of 3,000 steam plowing machines now employed in England and Scotland.

The Peruvian syrup has cured thousands who were suffering from dyspepsia, indigestion, liver complaint, biliousness, neuralgia, etc. It is sold by the Oregon Depot, DAVIS & CO., Portland, Oregon.

Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier is the great conqueror of Biliousness and Liver complaint. Relief certain in every case.

Brain and Nerve

Wells' Health Renewer, greatest remedy on earth for impotence, leanness, sexual debility, etc. $1, at druggists, Oregon Depot, DAVIS & CO., Portland, Oregon.

Don Carlos, the would-be king of Spain, and his wife have parted. The cause of the disagreement is not given, but the neighbors say she used the royal sceptre to stir soap with and set a hen on fourteen duck eggs in his kingly crown.

Cataract of the Bladder

Spending, smarting, irritation of the urinary passages, diseased discharges, cured by Bochnapain. $1, at druggists, Oregon Depot, DAVIS & CO., Portland, Oregon.

—Croup, Whooping Cough and Bronchitis immediately relieved by Shiloh's Cure. Sold by W. E. Dement.

"Rough on Rats"

The thing desired found at last. Ask Druggists for "Rough on Rats," kills, clears out rats, mice, toads, flies, bed-bugs, lice, boxes.

The United States Fish Commissioner has recently placed in the rivers of Arkansas and Texas 1,500,000 shad. This statement may be believed. It's not the number of fish they put into a river, but the number they take out that men lie about.

Wood for Sale

I have about six hundred and fifty cords of dry hemlock, which I will sell for cash at $3.75 per cord. I will deliver the wood to my customers.

Attention Fishermen

Use Nicholas's Balm of Gilead oil for sore or chapped hands, for sale by Joe G. Charters. The tables free to all. For the finest bathing rooms, opposite Holden's auction store.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

I am you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle.

BREVITIES.

In response to a committee of inquiry, Secretary Lincoln gives the information that the annual cost of maintaining troops in the Indian country was upwards of $22,000,000 and has been at that rate for the past ten years.

Furnished Rooms to Let At Mrs. Munson's lodging house.

Scrofulous eruptions, such as pimples, discoloration of skin especially on face, will disappear rapidly by using Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier.

Notice

The Astoria Shirt and Oil Clothing Factory has moved next house to O'Brien's Hotel. Persons wishing good oil clothing to keep them dry will please call.

It is rumored that the extension of the California railroad north from Redding is to be postponed indefinitely. Several reasons are assigned for it. One reason is concerning the elevation, which the Oregon company requires of the California company, to raise their survey on Siskiyou mountain twelve or thirteen hundred feet higher to enable connection.

Nothing Short of Unmistakable Benefits

Conferred upon tens of thousands of sufferers could originate and maintain the reputation which AYERS' SARSAPARILLA enjoys. It is a compound of the best vegetable alternatives, with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and is the most effectual of all remedies for scrofulous, mercurial, or blood disorders. Uniformly successful, and certain in its remedial effects, it produces rapid and complete cures of Scrofula, Sores, Boils, Humors, Pimples, Eruptions, Skin Diseases and all disorders arising from impurity of the blood. Its invigorating effects it always relieves and often cures Liver Complaints, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, and is a potent restorer of vitality. For purifying the blood it has no equal. It tones up the system, restores and preserves the health, and imparts vigor and energy. For forty years it has been in extensive use, and is to-day the most available medicine for the suffering sick, anywhere.

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS.

Peruvina Bitters

Cinchona Bitters. The Count Cincel was the Spanish Viceroy in Peru in 1630. The Countess, his wife, was prostrated by an intermittent fever, from which she was freed by the use of the native remedy, the Peruvina bark, or, as it was called in the language of the country, "Quinquina." Grateful for her recovery, on her return to Europe in 1632, she introduced the remedy in Spain, where it was known under various names, until Linnaeus called it Cinchona, in honor of the lady who had brought them that which was more precious than the gold of the Incas. To this day, after a lapse of two hundred and fifty years, science has given us nothing to take its place. It effectually cures a morbid appetite for stimulants, by restoring the natural tone of the stomach. It attacks excessive fever of liquor as it does a fever, and destroys both alike. The powerful tonic virtue of the Cinchona is preserved in the Peruvina Bitters, which are effective against malarial fever to-day as they were in the days of the old Spanish Viceroys. We guarantee the ingredients of these bitters to be absolutely pure, and of the best known quality. A trial will satisfy you that this is the best bitter in the world. "The proof of the pudding is in the eating," and we will willingly abide this test. For sale by all druggists, grocers, and liquor dealers. Order R. Loeb & Co., agents for Astoria.
