the surplus passengers.

About 10 o'clock the steamer roundbay. Passing the old mill we headed to the southward, quickly passing delightful little farms, where the houses in many instances were partly hid among the green trees and shrubbery. The day was lovely, the crowd jolly, and for the time all seemed to set aside the care of every day life. This portion of Young's river is a fine sheet of water, and the low green tide land, the forest covered hills, and old Saddle mountain to the southeast for a back ground, make up a picture which it would be difficult to excel which reached us last evening and anywhere.

But time flies, and so does the C. P. (almost) and soon we were at the head of steamboat navigation, and there is a rush for the small boats, with lunch baskets, fishing tackle, ladies, babies, Cape this morning, saw two fishing and all in sweet confusion mixed.

A mile or so in the boats and we are at the head of boat navigation, and we have an opportunity to ifidulge in the healthful exercise of walking

I was teld that the distance to walk was about a quarter of a mile, but I am of the opinion now that he meant 2] miles. However I do not propose boat-puller, of J. G. Megler & Co.'s to be a judge of distances over such boat No. 17 .: the boats and nets were

And yet there i of the men reported drowned; John Davidsen and his boat-puller, two too late, retreat is impossible and the fall is inevitable: with the above explanation I will proceed.

After a little rest and time for admiration of the scene, (some express their admiration in very different terms from those ordinarly used, how ever, when one is overcome with the beauty or sublimity of a scene, but 1 suppose that was only their way,) we in a powerful sermon impressed upon his hearers the necessity, even in a all, as with one impulse, proceed to temporal point of view, of so living the dining room of the hotel.

Milligan, of the Presbyterian with lunch, and with appetites such as only pie nic excursions can get up, we began the onslaught, and such a domolishing of sandwiches and other Inxuries had not been witnessed in those regions for many a day.

This part of the business over, fish ing and exploring parties were in order. When it comes to the fishing point I like to be very accurate, and candor compels me to say that we did and a half in delivery, was logical not require any extra boats to bring The stages yesterday morning took throughout, and was listened to with all home that were caught. I saw several nice (little) strings of trout however, and I am certain each one would measure less than 24 inches in length and breadth in proportion.

> After all had had their fill of seen ery and sulphur water, of which there is a fine spring above the falls, they returned to the steamer and proceeded backwards on the home trip, which was devoid of incident with the exsteamer, and the picking up of stragglers who almost got left. Doubtless it would pay someone to remove some of the obstacles to navigation in Young's river, and to make some improvements about the falls by making trails and otherwise rendering the place more accessible and attractive.
