 Reports from Fraser river are to the effect that the salmon have ceased to run.
 Prof. T. R. Coon has arrived home from an extended vacation at Hood river.
 One million cases is the estimated salmon pack of the entire Pacific coast for the season just closed.
 It costs $2 to carry a pistol in Kansas City. The ante is higher in Astoria, but there is no limit to the game.
 Captain George Flavel was the purchaser of the Coffinberry ranch, sold at auction by E. C. Holden, yesterday.
 The Elwell has 37,302 cases salmon aboard. The Jas. G. Bain had on 7,425 cases at 6 o'clock last evening.
 Wm. Howe has returned from British Columbia and has opened his boat shop. He makes an A 1 boat, and guarantees satisfaction in all cases.
 Wm. Wood, secretary of the Point Adams Packing company, informs us that it is their intention to build a cannery in upper Astoria, next to the box factory.
 Note Capt Gray's ad. in reference to the movements of the Gen. Miles for the ensuing week. Parties desirous of visiting coast points will find this an excellent opportunity.
 At a special meeting of Alert Hook & Ladder company held last evening, W. J. Barry was nominated for chief engineer, and F. P. Hicks and Joe Charters for assistants.
 A girl named Annie Wallace, better known as "the ghost" attracted considerable attention yesterday morning by falling in a fit on Squemoqua street. She was removed to her lodgings, and medical aid summoned.
 A merry party of picnickers went down to Ilwaco yesterday, and from some of those who were there we learn that they had no end of fun. The day was all that could be desired and all enjoyed themselves thoroughly. They returned at dusk, on the Sam.
 All the ladies interested in the affairs of the Presbyterian church are particularly requested to meet at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon at four o'clock, to make arrangements for a concert and ice cream social to be given at an early day for the benefit of the building fund of the church.
 The British ship Leucadia, Mearns master, which sailed from Newcastle, N. S. W., on the 29th of April, arrived yesterday. She arrived at Wilmington, July 6th, and comes in coal ballast. The British bark Mandalay, Scott, master, which sailed from Adelaide June 2d, also arrived in.
 Miss Monroe reads in the Congregational church this evening, and will recite some of the choicest selections in her extensive repertoire. The comfortable seating capacity of this building coupled with the fact that Miss Monroe is an artist of uncommon merit should insure a large attendance this evening.
 Lieut. Green, of the U. S. signal service, came up from Fort Canby yesterday afternoon, whether he had been making arrangements for the building of a signal station which is to be located at that point, and connected with Astoria by cable. It is his opinion that the entire work will be finished this season. Its utility is unquestioned, and to everyone it will be a service of the greatest possible use. The material was shipped July 14th.

CIRCUIT COURT.
 SEVENTH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.
 State vs. Carthel.

 State vs. Joe K. et al. Dismissed, cost to plaintiff.
 State vs. George Day, not true bill.
 State vs. Frank A. W. Field, not true bill.
 Ransford vs. Fisherman Packing Co. Damages for pilferage for debt. Verdict for plaintiff, $50.
Body Found.
 GRAY'S HARBOR, W. T., August 5, 1882.
 EDITOR ASTORIAN:
 I write to inform you that the dead body of a man, supposed to be that of a fisherman from the Columbia river, was found on the ocean beach on Saturday last, about 15 miles north of Gray's harbor. Should judge the man to be about thirty years of age, medium size, light colored or red moustache; had on shirt, pants, gum boots, apron and cuffs; patch on one knee of pants; had $19.05 in his pocket. The money was given to the Indians who assisted in burying him.
 H. W. WETHERSALL.

Drowned from a Steamer.
 John Sloss, a passenger on the steamer Manzanillo, from Astoria to Portland, fell from the boat during the trip and was drowned yesterday. While coming up through Westport slough he attempted to draw a bucket of water from the river. When the bucket filled it gave the rope such a jerk as to pull the man overboard. The boat was stopped and efforts made to save him; but in vain. He did not rise to the surface after the first plunge. Sloss is supposed to have been a fisherman. The body was not recovered.
 Oregonian, 11th.

Organization.
 At a meeting of the stockholders of the Point Adams Packing Company, held on the 9th inst., J. C. Lidwell, W. H. Wood, Samuel Olsen, August Noburg and Edward Woodfield were elected directors of the company. After adopting by-laws for the government of the company, the meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the president. The directors having qualified, chose the following officers: President, J. C. Lidwell; Secretary, W. H. Wood.
Comic Opera Coming.
 We have received the following dispatch:
 SAN FRANCISCO, AUG. 11, '82.
 ED. ASTORIAN:
 I have engaged the Hattie Moore comic opera company, and will play in Astoria on the seventeenth and eighteenth of August. The finest comic operas, Olivette and Mascotte, will be produced in unequalled style.
 F. W. STEPHAN.

A Fisherman's Views.
 ASTORIA, Oregon, Aug. 9, 1882.
 EDITOR ASTORIAN:
 I notice an article in the Oregonian of the 8th—"The Salmon Fisheries"—in which T. B. M. starts out by saying that he has put in all of five days visiting cannerymen, and that he is going to tell us just what laws we need on the subject, and that from cannerymen, too, there are not over five cannerymen who want any law on the subject; what they want is to get all the money out of the business there is in it, and let our posterity, when they want a piece of salmon, go to Alaska for it. As for his ideas on propagation, I have nothing to say, only that with the same laws you have for butchers you will not need any propagating. What would the public say if your butchers should give you cow meat, and that killed one or two days before they are ready to calve, which is the same as August salmon. I think the places that he speaks of for hatcheries are the proper ones, but he makes a mistake when he says there are no natural enemies to the spawn and young fish in the waters designated. Mr. T. B. M. knows, if he has ever been on the streams spoken of, or any other mountain stream that empties into the Columbia river, that they are alive with several species of trout and all of them prey on the spawn of the salmon and also upon the young salmon; you take the large bull trout of those waters and the only way I could ever catch one was to catch a small fish and put my hook in its body, and have Mr. Bull Trout take fish, hook and all, which I have seen them do many times, but you may bait your hook that way any where on the Columbia river, and fish forever and you would never get a bite; this is evidence enough for me that the higher up the river you go the more danger the young salmon have to contend with before reaching the ocean, and if he will take the pains to study this matter and follow the April fish into the head waters of one of those streams and catch one of them, he will find that they do not spawn until July or August, and that the ice begins to make before the young salmon are strong enough to do much toward making their way back to the ocean. In my opinion it is the last of July and August run of salmon that spawn between the Cascades and Tongue point that keep the Columbia river supplied with fish. His assertion that all the salmon caught in August are fully ripe is correct. He must also admit that every salmon has nearly a half million of eggs, and that if one in every twenty is hatched they are doing very well; he also asserts that the tom cod and flounders prey on the spawn, which is not so. The salmon lay their spawn in fresh water, and the tom cod never go into fresh water, and the flounder very seldom. We never catch tom cod in Astoria until the river gets low and the water salt. As for the tramp fisherman that he speaks of, make proper laws, and I will guarantee that they don't fish and disturb the spawn; as for crawfish there is not enough to amount to anything, and when they do come in any number it is for the purpose of spawning themselves, and after the spawning season for the salmon is over.
 He also states that the steamer Walla Walla, on the 6th, in crossing the sands, got eighty fathom of gill net, filled with salmon, entangled in her stern. Now, any one who ever saw the Walla Walla, knows she never went on to the sands to get that net but caught it in mid channel. He also says that in this month the salmon are found on the sands looking for a place to deposit their spawn; Very true; and that is the very reason that they should be let alone. God, in his wisdom, has endowed every animal with instinct which tells it where to deposit its young. Now Mr. Editor, I will tell you what is the matter: Mr. T. B. M. has been for the last week or so the guest of one of our cannerymen, and it is plain to see that he is not going to write an article that does not suit their views. The fact is that the April fishing does not pay any cannery to put their gear in the water, as there is not fish enough in the river to keep men and other things that is necessary to run a cannery during that month, and to make sure of plenty of fish for the future, the fishing season should commence on the first day of May and close on the last day of July. Now, Mr. Editor, I am a bonafide resident and property owner of Astoria, and expect to live and die here, and I don't want to see any laws made that are going to injure the growth of our beautiful little city. Everybody will admit that it is the fishing that gives us our present standing, and it is better for us not to press the thing too far and fish during the spawning season which is the whole of August.

 The fishing wheels should be abolished, and I cannot add anything to what the writer says in his article on the subject.
 But I don't think the matter should be left entirely with the cannerymen, and I would suggest that the Portland Board of Trade appoint a committee to study this matter and draft laws to be submitted to the next legislature for approval.
 FISHERMAN.
