THE DAILY ASTORIAN will be sent by mail at 7 cents a month, free of postage. Readers who contemplate absence from the city can save THE ASTORIAN follow them, DAILY or WEEKLY editions to any post-office without additional expense. Addresses must be changed as often as desired. Leave orders at the counting room.

The Washington Territory Board of Pilot Commissioners meet at 11 o'clock to-day.

The Clatsop county board of equalization will meet at the court house next Monday.

The Jas. G. Bain is ready for sea. Her cargo is worth $134,000, of which Astoria contributes $116,000.

The New Tacoma telegraph operator has been arrested for alleged embezzlement of the company's money.

The fall term of school in upper Astoria will begin on the first Monday in September, with Miss Allen as teacher.

Capt. Hustler calls attention to the fact that five per cent. may be saved by paying city taxes before next Monday.

The new steamer Queen of the Pacific, arrived with a cargo of railroad material at San Luis Obispo, last Tuesday.

Mr. E. C. Holden, who took a trip to The Dalles with his daughter, Mrs. W. J. Strong, returned on yesterday afternoon's boat.

The sociable at Liberty hall tomorrow evening is under the auspices of the ladies of Grace church. There will be refreshments furnished.

It is desired that there be a full attendance to-night at the meeting of the Odd Fellows' B. and L. Association, as business of importance is to be transacted.

Hon. W. D. Hare is in the city on a brief visit from his place near Hillsboro. Mr. Hare is farming extensively, and reports the grain, etc., in that vicinity as yielding large returns in the harvest.

The new Presbyterian church is a handsome building and looks very well from the exterior. It is confidently expected that it will be ready for dedication about October 1st. A Presbyterian church at New Tacoma will be dedicated about the same time.

Astoria has new waterworks! The establishment is located on Squemoqua street just west of where that thoroughfare intersects with Cass street. By attaching a filter it is believed that the new enterprise will prove of great convenience to families in the vicinity.

Misery loves company. The Portland folks are in nearly as bad a fix about water supply as Astorians. We commend the condition of Oregon's two principal cities to the consideration of the temperance folks. They can discourage the consumption of spirituous beverages by providing a supply of water, and it needn't "sparkle," either.

E. M. Giannini, who has been arrested for the murder of Ricco, at Skamania, implicates his employer, C. F. Candiani, and says he is the murderer. Candiani is a native of Piemonte, northern Italy, is a nobleman in his own country and when he arrived here was possessed of $25,000 or $30,000. He took a colony of Italians into Yamhill county, where he purchased some land, but having no business tact, he made a poor investment and lost his money. He had also a number of valuable diamonds on which he was forced to realize and he went to cutting logs. After a while he and Giannini turned their attention to making syrup from potatoes, but that was not panning out. Candiani afterward complained of his ill-luck and was mortified at his fall from a high station to that of a day laborer.

Adventurous Fishermen.

At 10 o'clock a. m. last Saturday a fishing boat, with two fishermen, from the Columbia river made Cape Arago. By the aid of Mr. Desmond, of the life saving service, the boat made a landing at the station. Mark Nicholas, one of the crew of the boat, reported that they, in company with another boat, left the Columbia river for San Francisco on the 10th inst., at 10 o'clock a. m.; that during the night a heavy blow set in, and at 2 o'clock a. m. the other boat went into the breakers and was not seen again by them. The boat that landed at the cape was considerably damaged, but Mr. Desmond assisted in repairing her, and she left Monday morning for San Francisco.

The Port Orford Post, of Tuesday, notes the arrival of one of the boats at that place on Sunday, the occupants of which said the other boat went into the Coquille. The Post gives the names of the men who arrived there as Louis Peters and Nicholas Cornelius, and says Mark Margarette and Mark Jolence were in the other boat. —Cass Bay Mail.

It will be remembered that owing to the fact of not being able to go on the Oregon the four men mentioned started from here, with the result, so far as stated.

Bricklaying in Astoria.

Work began on the brick building across the street, yesterday, and the occasion of laying the first brick in Astoria drew a large crowd. Instead of the usual noise of saw and hammer, the click of the trowel and the cry of "mort," was heard. Considerable discussion was prevalent as to whether brick or stone was the better for a foundation exposed to the action of the water, but as those most interested concluded it was more desirable to use artificial material, of course brick goes. The bricks are set in cement, and after once rising above the level of high water the work can be pushed forward with rapidity, as there is a large force of men employed.

As soon as the work rises to the level of the street the corner stone will be laid with the impressive ritual of the order, the ceremony will mark a new era in the history of Astoria, and will be worthy of remembrance.

W. CHANCE, P. M.

The Tam O'Shanter came in last evening. She loads at Knappton.

In the event of a fight there is a magnificent chance for procuring bricks in front of our office.

All along the Frazer river its edges are black with salmon, while the creeks for a long distance are jammed with them. Millions are to be seen, and as the water goes down in the creeks thousands are left to die along the edges and where the water becomes shallow are dried up.

Yesterday afternoon Clark Laughrey went with two others to Tongue Point, and having stationed his companions and sent two dogs on a trail, he succeeded in shooting a deer that weighed 123 pounds. 'Tis rather early for venison, but this one is for private consumption. In ages to come, when our present chief of police is an old man he will point to Tongue Point and tell them that just where that big mill stands on the other side of the iron foundry, he killed a deer one August afternoon away back in 1882.

Considerable excitement was manifested in a retail establishment, in this city yesterday, occasioned by too much water. The clerk, whose duty it was to attend to the water faucet, got tired of running around at 7 o'clock "to see if it was running," and left the appendage open. The result was when the first arrival appeared in the morning the steady drip from the ceiling showed that it was "running."

Much regret is felt, not only on account of the damage, but likewise from the fact that several gallons, indeed an entire bucketful, some say, has been wasted.

Mr. C. H. Cooper intends to leave about the 15th of next month for San Francisco to be in time for the arrival of the latest Eastern and European importations.

A Proposition from D. P. Thompson.

PORTLAND, Aug 12, 1882.

DR. AUG. C. KINNEY:

DEAR SIR: I have the following proposition to make to the common council of Astoria through you, to furnish a good supply of pure water to the city of Astoria, on the following terms:

I will construct a reservoir capable of holding 2,000,000 gallons of water, lined with cement and brick, 180 feet above high tide water, with pumps and pipes of sufficient capacity to keep the same filled with water with sufficient pressure to throw water through a one and a half inch nozzle eighty feet in height on the custom house block, and will furnish sufficient water to throw from four nozzles at the same time that height for six hours continuously, and will allow the city of Astoria to attach not more than twenty hydrants. I will also furnish water to the council chamber and engine houses, also town hall and any other public buildings the city may erect for city purposes, for the sum of one hundred dollars per month to be paid monthly in city warrants, and the works to be exempt from city taxation.

The said contract to extend for ten years from completion of the works.

The works to be completed in one year from signing of the contract. I will also obligate myself to furnish 500,000 gallons of water of pure quality daily to be consumed in the city on the same terms as water is furnished the citizens of Portland. The city by ordinance to give me the right to lay down pipes for the purpose of carrying the water in any of the streets of the city, on my filing a bond to put the streets in as good repair as before the pipes were laid.

I am ready to execute a bond to the city in any reasonable amount to comply with the above proposition on my part.

Respectfully yours,

D. P. THOMPSON.

Peruvian Bitters

Cinchona Balsa. The Count Cincelona was the Spanish Viceroy in Peru in 1620. The Countess, his wife, was prostrated by an intermittent fever, from which she was freed by the use of the above remedy, the Peruvian bark, or, as it was called in the language of the country, "Quinquina." Grateful for her recovery, on her return to Europe in 1622, she introduced the remedy in Spain, where it was known under various names, until Linnaeus called it Cinchona, in honor of the lady who had brought them to which was more precious than the gold of the Indies. To this day, after a lapse of two hundred and fifty years, science has given us nothing to take its place. It effectively cures a morbid appetite for stimulants, by restoring the natural tone of the stomach. It attacks excessive love of liquor as it does a fever, and destroys both alike. The powerful tonic virtue of the Cinchona is preserved in the Peruvian Bitters, which are as effective against malarial fever to-day as they were in the days of the old Spanish Viceroys. We guarantee the ingredients of these Bitters to be absolutely pure, and of the best known quality. A trial will satisfy you that this is the best bitter in the world. "The proof of the pudding is in the eating," and we willingly abide this test. For sale by all druggists, grocers and liquor dealers. Order it. Loeb & Co., agents for Astoria.
