Commercial Dishonesty.

There are not many who give much attention to the dishonesty of commerce; the wickedness of the office-holders, the office-seekers and of the bosses is very prominently discussed, but they do not represent all of the depravity in the world. It is difficult to purchase most of the articles which we need for food and drink, for clothing, or for the luxuries with which we would like to surround ourselves, without being cheated in the quality. It has even been shown that a very large portion of the drugs which are for the alleviation of diseased mankind, are adulterated and not what they purport to be. Frauds in the manufacture of medicines nullify the efforts of physicians and are doubtless accountable for many deaths which would not otherwise occur. It is difficult to find pure woolen, pure linen or pure silk goods, no matter how great a price may be offered, there is not an article in the grocery line that is not extensively counterfeited or adulterated. It is a matter of very great difficulty to find spirituous liquors which have not in some way been adulterated, often with active poison. The most efficient machinery of government should be set in operation to punish men who thus gain money under false pretences. There ought to be the most rigid inspection of at least every article of food and drink thus publicly offered for sale, and the manufacture of spurious articles should itself be a crime, and a serious one. The standard of health would be improved and longevity be increased if there were reasonable protection from commercial dishonesty and fraud. The strong arm of the government should be extended, because offenses of this class are difficult of detection and usually require special skill. The fact that spurious drugs or poisonous and adulterated food have been used, may often be revealed only by the unpleasant or disastrous results which follow.

Hardships of a Trading Party.

An Idaho exchange says that on the 3d of August, four men, named Bryant, Culp and son and Thos. Newland, left Missoula for Lewiston, intending making the trip on foot, but owing to the misinformation given them at Missoula, the party neglected to pack sufficient provisions and found the trail so thickly covered with fallen timber that on descending the Clearwater side of the divide, they lost the trail completely; their provisions gave out, and after wandering in gloomy canyons six days, without food, they were discovered by Engineer Zahner's surveying party, almost dead. They were relieved and put on the trail to Lewiston. On the 12th of August, one of the party, Newland, lost his reason through privation and ran away from his party, and although search was made high and low, they failed to track him. It is feared the unfortunate man has perished. The trail was so bad that sometimes the party only made a mile a day. They arrived in Lewiston Tuesday last, 18 days from Missoula. Zahner's party are well up in the mountains, surveying along one of the smaller tributaries of the middle fork of Clearwater, and have found an easy grade so far as they have gone, but much rock work will be required before a road could be built. The party also struck a camp of soldiers from fort Lapwai, who were camped on the middle fork of Clearwater, with the design of preventing the Nez Perce Indians from crossing the Lolo trail, as trouble was expected with the Flathead Indians, who threaten hostilities if the Northern Pacific line crosses their reservation.

Speaking of Arizona routes, General Sherman said in that territory there are 4,500 Apache Indians of peculiar character. They entertain everlasting hatred toward the Spanish race, and were kept corralled by the military to prevent them making depredations upon the settlers of that country, and sometimes they broke away from the corral, after the fashion of animals. In a recent case one hundred and ninety Apaches had broken out, killed forty settlers and escaped into Old Mexico, where they had been wiped out by Mexican troops. Frequent mails gave warning of such outbreaks, and gave settlers an oportunity to make defenses.

BORN.

—In Astoria, on Sunday evening, August 27th, 1882, to the wife of Aug. Danielson, a boy. All well.

NEW TO-DAY

700 Acres! Dairy or Stock Farm. and Valuable Timber Land.

30 Dairy Cows. 2 Three-quarter Jersey Bulls. 2 Horses. 1 Yoke Work Oxen. 2 Milk Wagons. Farm and Dairy Implements and Furniture. 50 tons Hay.

The above Valuable Property is for SALE at a very low appraisement, viz.

$9,000, one third of which can stand on Mortgage.

It is situated on Lewis and Clark's River, 7 miles south of Astoria, and 2½ miles from Clatsop beach. There is a good steamboat landing which is accessible to any of the O. R. & N. Co's river steamboats. About half of the 700 acres is tide land, well bridged, on which cattle keep fat the year round. The other half, level timber land, and about 300 acres in tame grass. Thousands of cords of hemlock, fir and spruce can be cut, worth two dollars and a half at the landing to which there is a good wagon road from all points. Every cord cut finds a ready market. In addition, there is any quantity of mill lumber and good piles. Good dwelling house, barn, and necessary outhouses, with an orchard of 10 or 12 acres, containing almost all kinds of fruit bearing trees, etc., etc. This desirable property has a frontage of two miles on the river bank, and is admirably adapted for settlement by a company desiring to colonize, as it is large enough to divide into several farms and homesteads. The contemplated bridge between Astoria and Clatsop plains connects on this property. Party wishing to sell is now supplying Astoria with milk, and if desired will hand over good will and business to the purchaser of the property.

If not sold before September 10th, at private sale, the whole property will be sold by catalogue sale, at Public Auction, to the highest bidders for cash, on Friday September 15th, 1882, at 11 A. M. Title Warranty Deed.

For further particulars apply to
