 -The Wolfe went to sea yesterday.
 -There were eleven murders in Oregon during August.
 -The Miles is expected back from Tillamook this evening.
 -The Clara Parker took up the North Bend yesterday morning.
 -The Yaguina got to Newport all right last Monday, and Wednesday went to Coos Bay.
 -It is affirmed that the Frazer river canyons will put up 225,000 cases of salmon this season.
 -The Waco Sun announces that W. Lair Hill is not nor will be a candidate for the U. S. senate.
 -Usual services at the Roman Catholic church this morning; Rev. Father Smith, of New Orleans, will officiate.
 -The Walla Walla Republicans have nominated Chas. Besserer, editor of the Watchman, as a candidate for the legislature.
 -The infant son of Chas. Endean, of Upper Astoria, died at an early hour yesterday morning, and was buried in the afternoon.
 -The first course of dimension stone was laid on the foundation of the O. F. building, yesterday afternoon. The stone comes from Oregon City.
 -The Marquis of Lorne, governor-general of Canada, and his wife, Princess Louise, will leave Detroit next Wednesday for British Columbia.
 -The wind got square round to the west yesterday afternoon, and blew a delightful breeze, in moist and grateful contrast to the harsh avidity of last week.
 -52 and 55 shillings are the prevailing rates for charters from San Francisco to U. K. 55 and 57 were paid from here. At Portland 60 s. is the ruling rate.
 -Last Friday there was a stray gull to be seen occasionally winging its westward flight; yesterday the water was white with them; they have returned, in force.
 -So dense was the smoke at Portland that the Oregon did not leave till five o'clock yesterday morning; she went to sea at 3 in the afternoon. The State arrived in at 8:30 a. m.
 -There will be divine service on board the bark President, lying at the O. R. & N. Co.'s dock, at 4 o'clock, and in the school house in upper Astoria at 6 o'clock. Rev. J. McCormac officiating.
 -Rev. H. K. Hines the able editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate, reports that his paper is on a paying basis. Mr. Hines deserves great credit for his success in an effort to establish such a result.
 -At Knappa, last Friday morning, Judson T. Moody, a nine-year-old son of Wm. and Ida Moody, while watching the descent of some logs on a chute, was struck by the projecting end of a stringer and instantly killed. He was buried yesterday.
 -Paul Schulze has been appointed general agent for the lands of the western division of the Northern Pacific railroad. The records of the N. P. R. R. land office have been removed from New Tacoma to Portland, and the general land office will be located at that place.
 -Charles E. Bull left Chico, California, May 20th, 1881, in bad health, for Washington territory. Any information with regard to him will be most thankfully received by his afflicted mother, Mrs. Isaac Bull, Albion, Michigan. Papers inserting this will confer a great favor.

Gratifying Success.

At the last meeting of the Oregon conference, A. Atwood, presiding elder reported the following concerning the Methodist congregation of Astoria: "The past year has been the most successful year in the history of Methodism in this city. After the session of the conference, a year ago, it was determined that a church should be built immediately, plans for which were secured from the Church extension society. $700, the amount due this conference from the Board of Church Extension, was asked for and received. Subscriptions amounting to $1,700 was taken, and a church costing $2,200 was built. It is a model of architectural beauty and finish, and the hearts of the people are made glad in having a house of their own in which to worship. Pastor and people have worked with an energy truly commendable to secure this result. Bro. Parsons has just closed a three years pastorate. His services have been greatly appreciated by the people. Fifteen persons have been added to the membership of the church during the year. They hope to build a parsonage next year. The church property is worth $4,200."
 -Usual Gospel meeting at the Y. M. C. A. room at a quarter to three o'clock. Everybody welcome.
 -Presbyterian church—preaching at 11 a. m. by the pastor, no evening service. Sunday school at noon. All are welcome.
 -The ladies of the Presbyterian church propose holding a bazaar soon; the proceeds to be applied to the furnishing of the new church.
 -On yesterday's steamer arrived Rev. M. D. Wilson, who takes charge as rector of Grace church. The usual services this morning; evening prayer at 7:30.
 -Attention is directed to the fact that the annual meeting of Astoria Engine Co. No. 1, will be held to-morrow evening at half-past seven. A full attendance is requisite.
 -Mr. C. W. Shively, clerk of school district No. 18, gives notice that on next Friday the Board of Directors meet to examine the assessment roll of the district.
 -Congregational church—preaching by the pastor at 11 a. m.; lecture to young people at 7:30 p. m.; Sunday school at noon. All are cordially invited; seats free to all.
 -Gustav Hansen makes announcement that he will dispose of his fine stock of jewelry at extremely low prices. He offers some bargains which cannot be duplicated north of San Francisco.
 -Last evening, Mr. Bullington, driver for Gill & Clinton, met with a painful accident, the hammer crushing his right hand. Fortunately no bones were broken and the inconvenience will be but temporary.
 -John M. Olsen, president Columbia Canning company, advertises for proposals relative to building a cannery for that company. Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of A. W. Ferguson.
 -A special election will be held in Waco county to-morrow for representative to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Bennett. The chairman of the Republican Co., committee nominated W. H. Duffur and the committee nominated E. L. Smith; the latter gentleman declined subsequently.
 -Sheil Sears, while at Salem yesterday, called on Jack Powers. He found him shelling peas, and says he is contented as it is possible for any one to be under the circumstances. He rooms with Robinson of Astoria, with whom he became acquainted here, and they have their cell fitted up nicely.—Standard, 2.
 -Despite other work, we found time last week to get out some very fine bills of lading. There is something singularly ancient about a bill of lading. It is said that that useful piece of literature is substantially the same as it was 2000 years ago. The great Roman orator Marcus Tully, once pleaded on a bill of lading, and the form at that time did not differ materially from that used the present season in Astoria.
 -The condition of T. W. Eaton was no better last evening, and his demise at any hour is not an unlooked for occurrence. The news of his fatal illness constituted a theme of universal regret and sympathy. He was so genial and good natured, with an ever-ready joke and a kindly word, that it is with a sense of personal loss that his associates and friends realize the inevitable.
 -Adler has a large lot of school books on hand, and will supply your children at low prices.

Across the River.

At Camp, Aug. 20, 1882.
 EDITOR ASTORIAN:
 Did you ever go camping out in the free and easy, every man for himself and donce take the hindmost sort of style, that we are now enjoying? If so, you know what life is, although it is true that such a life might tally better with the ideas of a noble aborigine than with the too-too tastes of our dyspeptic friend, Oscar Wilde. Talk of your lilies and sunflowers, indeed! The sun-flowers are ourselves, and we have more truly esthetic appreciation of a dish of pork and beans than all the lilies that ever bloomed by "Silam's shady rill."
 This is a charming place for our idling, too; in sight of the blue Pacific's fluent waves, where far on the horizon skims an occasional white sail, never venturing too near shore, however, as the inhospitable nature of this bit of coast is well known among mariners. Behind us lie alternate strips of woodland and marshes, and a mile away lives civilization, in the shape of a thriving hotel, overflowing with summer visitors. South of the hotel lies the branch city of Portland, better known among scholars of high-standing as North Ilwaco. It is situated in view of a beautiful lake, similar to Lake Huron on a small scale, where the wild-eyed Portland sportsman resorts to shoot at a placid old wood-duck, which invariably dives about twenty-five feet from where the shot strikes the water. Generally, however, the shot does not strike the water, but goes madly careering off into space, while the shootist imagines that the denizens of some other planet may see them fall at their feet and call them aerolites. Portland hunters do better to shoot gulls on the sea beach, because, while they are liable to miss the lake, they can nearly always hit the Pacific ocean. North Ilwaco was laid out by a gentleman who sells lots at the nominal price of twenty-five dollars, reserving to himself all rights to keep a saloon. Farther north is the East Portland camp, or, as they call themselves, the Bohemians. There are several buildings here, including a good restaurant, and walking, riding, bathing, clam-digging and fishing make the hours fly for all the seekers after health and pleasure.
 Having nothing else to do we took a stroll to Oysterville, about 18 miles from here, last week. Found the district court in session, and the docket well filled. Criminal cases and law suits attracted much interest. His honor had tent sundry saloon keepers pressing invitations to appear during the court festivities, and there stood the martyrs before the altar, looking sad and thirsty, but patiently awaiting the penalty for dealing with evil spirits on the Lord's day. They have another grievance, too, as the county commissioners have won the approval of the temperate, and the anathemas of others by raising the whisky license to the highest limit permitted by the law. Never mind, poor fellows, there still remains the faithful fro, the virgin forest toms with big trees, and the demand for shingles still goes up, so roll up your sleeves my lads, and see what broad tastes there when it is earned by the sweat of the brow.
 An Ilwacoite tells us that it is a touching sight now on Sunday evening to see the erstwhile jovial fellows convened on the porches of their favorite haunts, their gloomy faces showing that the bitter waves of utter desolation were flowing over them. We registered at Steven's hotel, and found it a quiet, well-ordered house, with an excellent table; oysters, clams, crabs, etc., ad libitum, and we only wish we could have staid there all summer.
 ROVER.
 District No 18
 The fall and winter term of school in District No. 18, which comprises nearly half of the city of Astoria, begins to-morrow. During the summer vacation the directors in charge have made extensive alterations and improvements in the building, rendering it more commodious and convenient for the little folks. The directors of this district, as in district No. 1, have displayed considerable energy in school matters and anticipate a successful term of school during the ensuing school year. The teachers in District No. 18 are Mrs. Robb, Principal; Mrs. May F. Lawrence, assistant.
 -Attention is directed to the fact that the annual meeting of Rescue Engine Co. No. 2, will be held at half-past seven to-morrow evening. A full attendance is requisite.
 -J. F. Stevens & Co. will give a chromo to each child who get their books at the City Book store to-morrow.

The Results
 All persons feeling dull and depressed or perhaps feverish with no appetite, no energy, the system clogged, the liver torpid, and the bowels inactive, who are wondering how to find relief, should purchase a fifty-cent or a $1 bottle of Syrup of Figs, read the circular around the bottle, follow the directions, taking a few doses of this pleasant remedy and be restored to health and happiness. It may be had of W. E. Dement, Druggist, who has been appointed agent for Astoria.
 Hodge, Davis & Co., wholesale agents Portland, Oregon.
A CARD.
 To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a recipe that will cure you FREE OF CHARGE. Frank Fabre's great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. DEXTER, Station D, New York City.
Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!
 Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, it will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it, there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States.
