The tug Pioneer will be down tomorrow.

Work on the breakwater at Yaquina was resumed last Monday.

Ducks and geese are numerous on Clatsop plains and afford fine sport.

The Fleetwood lies over today and comes down from Portland tomorrow.

S. B. Crow is taking some fine photographic views of various buildings in the city.

The barkentine Tropic Bird, 231 tons, has been sold to A. Crawford by A. M. Simpson for $21,000.

There will be a drill at the homes of Astoria No. 1, Rescue No. 2, and Alert H. & L. companies this afternoon at four o'clock.

The Woman Suffrage amendment has been ratified by an overwhelming vote in both branches of the legislature. Good.

The steamer Yanquina went to sea yesterday morning, and bid good-bye to the Columbia. She goes to the Pacific Coast Steamship Co.

The Salem Flouring Mills company have stored in their mill and warehouses, so far, about 300,000 bushels of wheat. The price is 77 1/2 cents per bushel.

An eastern editor, commenting on the statement that Portland is the wealthiest city of its size in the United States, is ungenerous enough to account for it by saying: "It rains for six months there, and the women folks cannot get out to spend the money, and wealth necessarily accumulates."

You know these little spindles made of an upright wire about eight inches long, sharp at one end and set in base of iron. People have them on desks to put letters and papers on, and the other day a gentleman who left a silk hat on a chair in an office chanced to see one of those spindles on a desk and put it under the hat, and the fellow who thought it would be a good joke to stroll in and, apparently by accident, sit down on that hat and smash it, came to the conclusion that he had exercised fearful judgment. He eats his meals from off the mantel piece now.

The True Inwardness of the Pilot Bill.

ED. ASTORIAN. For the last few years there has existed in the state of Oregon a class of men who wish to monopolize the industries of the state and place white labor on an equality with Chinese. Those men arrived in Oregon poor, and through being the creatures of circumstance have become rich. Having arrived at the top of the ladder, their thought by day and night is to keep the balance as poor and create in our midst a codfish aristocracy. Their hue and cry has been the excessive charges of Capt. Flavel for towing over the Columbia bar: making people up-country believe that if there was cheap towage they would get a better price for their grain.

Now that those great philanthropists have bought a tug boat and placed her in competition with Capt. Flavel on the bar, they sing another tune, it is the poor pilots cut them down and save the farmer. No word about towing now. If the legislature should be so misguided as to pass the board of trade bill it will not be long before they have incorporated in all charter parties, "employ our tug or no charter," thus creating a greater monopoly than ever George Flavel thought of.]

In conclusion, if any farmer should visit this section of the country, I would be most happy to point out to him the men who make the money indirectly out of grain; show him in Portland their $60,000 houses, also coach and pair, which I am sorry to say does not belong to any one river or bar pilot, nor never will at the rate of pilotage now existing.

RIVER PILOT.

The Situation at Salem.

(SPECIAL TO THE ASTORIAN.) SALEM, Oct. 6th, 1882

Everything is so split up that there is no telling anything beyond the general fact that Mitchell's followers propose to stay with him till the end of the session if necessary. It is the worst case of deadlock on record, not excepting the New York fight over Conkling's successor in June 1881. To-day there was one ballot, Mitchell got thirty-eight votes; Smith, of Tillamook, weakened and voted for Dolph. Shattuck got twenty-eight, Failing, eight; Richard Williams, ten; G. Williams, three. One thing is certain, if Mitchell isn't elected, nobody else can be, unless by a combination of Democrats and Republicans, for he has thirty-six who will stay with him right along.

The other business of the session is moving along in its regular course.

The Cattle Trade.

From Mr. Wm. G. Kirkman, of the firm of Dooley & Kirkman, the heaviest stockmen in the upper country, says the Walla Walla Democrat, we gleaned in a rambling interview much information of interest to the public. He returned from Portland Sunday, and while there talked with the leading butchers, who were most anxious that as soon as through shipments could be made with Portland that our spare beef cattle be shipped there, offering as high as $50 for four-year-olds, and in fact just requesting that a price be set. There has been no decrease in the consumption, although the price of steaks and roasts have increased more than double. This is accounted for by the fact that as the supply grows less, and the consumption per family is less, the demand increases with the growing population. Mutton sympathetically has taken a rise and is still advancing. With regard to pork there was enough raised in eastern Washington and Oregon for home consumption, but the farmers sold their grain instead of feeding it to the hogs, and porkers are in consequence in anything but good condition, and fat pork will run high. The former cheapness of beef has caused the poor to become habituated to its use, and among that class a painful anxiety exists that instead of its remaining a staple article of diet it will be classed as a luxury. Already it is as cheap to eat chicken as it is choice cuts of beef, but the trouble will be that with the high price of beef and mutton all other articles of food of the flesh, fish and fowl order will also advance in price. Formerly stockmen asked, "how much will you give?" It is now "how much will you take."

Taking it Easy.

If a prize were offered for "the most heated political campaign known in history," what sort of a show would the campaign now being carried on in this territory stand for the cup? Echo answers, "Nary." Somehow or other the politicians seem to be backwading in coming forward, and the people don't enthuse worth a cent. Nobody gets up a torchlight procession; nobody wants to fight; the man with a sack hasn't put in an appearance; the defeated aspirant for a nomination says it's none of his funeral, anyhow; he didn't want the office; told the convention so before it met; wouldn't have run if he had been nominated; wouldn't have qualified if he had been elected, and is of the opinion that the post of honor is the private station. In short, the political mud puddle is as dull as ditch water. Somebody give us a breeze. Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

A Varied Performance.

Many wonder how Parker's Ginger Tonic can perform such varied cures, thinking it essence of ginger, when in fact it is made from many valuable medicines which act beneficially on every diseased organ.

Prael Brothers have opening of new goods after the arrival of every steamer; the next opening will be on Monday, the 9th inst.

Mrs. E. K. Binkers improved system of Dress Cutting by chart is acknowledged to be the best. Mrs. S. T. McKean is agent for Clatsop county, and is prepared to teach all who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity now presented. Residence, corner of Lafayette and Squemoqua Sts. Astoria.

Sweet cider, pure and fresh at J. W. Conn's.

Another fresh invoice of those nice anchovies at A. M. Johnson & Co.

Shoeliner by oysters: fresh every day, at Frank Fabre's.

If you want nice fresh laid, or good sugar-cured hams, just from the country go to F. B. Elbersson's bakery.

The new shooting gallery next to Jo. Charters barber shop, nightly attracts crowds. It has been newly fitted up and is well worth a visit.

P. J. Goodman, on Chenamus street, has just received the latest and most fashionable style of gents and ladies boots, shoes, etc. Agent in Astoria for the famous Morrow shoes.

Almost a Fair.

Though the season is now somewhat advanced, yet we feel that the suggestion from a friend is not out of place, that we start a little museum. It would, we have no doubt, be as good an exhibition as some of the so-called "county fairs," and as far as race-horse accompaniment is concerned, that could easily be supplied. The field, the forest and the mine are all represented in our office. We have on exhibition salmon from the sea and gray granite from lofty crags; coal is here from Clatsop and beeswax from benighted barks; ore from Australia and lignite of Peru are side by side with basalt from Tillamook and limestone from San Juan. Rare and costly carvings, carefully classified, are placed beside elk horns from the Nohalem and bears' claws from Eagle Cliff. Nor are the fine arts neglected. Upon our walls hang many a chef d'oeuvre of art, and though subdued in style, they have a voice of gladness and a smile of beauty for those who gaze upon them. Our list of curiosities is unusually complete. A copy of the Oregonian which insists that Mitchell is the man for U. S. senator; a "New map of the Northwest," on which Astoria is left out and Kalama is left in; a stock certificate for 250 shares in the Golden Chariot mine; and other fictitious productions are prominent in the list of curiosities.

Our agricultural department is choice and unique. We have corn stalks twelve feet high, timothy seven and one-half feet in length, clams of huge dimension (which are cultivated, and therefore come under the head of agricultural products) and wheat, oats and barley of extraordinary yield. Potatoes, apples and carrots of fine size and flavor are not wanting to fill this department of our moral and entertaining show, and we may remark, en passant that to us they constitute one of its most attractive features. Our literary display challenges comparison from any similar institution in the northwest. Without any more than allusion to the costly works of eminent authors that we have procured, ourself, it is with becoming modesty that we allude to the wealth of garnered lore that is gathered for us by other hands and added facilities than we can compass. We have before us as we write a thrilling work with the title "Pub. Doc. Report, Conn. Agricul. 1881," and another, apparently by the same author, entitled "Pat. Office Report, 1880." 'Tis such pleasant tales as these that regale our hours of leisure and cause us to bless the paternal government for furnishing such mental pabulum for weary wights. The lesser department of fiction is ably represented by the Congressional Record, sent to us by our good senators. We note an improvement in the puzzle department of that journal, and regret that a general sameness in the other contents of the work preclude more complimentary comment. There are several other minor departments, shells, ferns, etc., that are sadly in need of classification and labeling, and a massive safe in the corner lends an air of wealth to the surroundings that its interior fails to justify. The menagerie department is complete, and when we have made suitable arrangements in reference to our racing calendar and attendant cups and purses, we may be able to announce a fair that will compare favorably with more pretentious concerns.

Unlike other cathartics, Dr. Pierce's "Pellets" do not render the bowels constive after operation, but, on the contrary, establish a permanently healthy action. Being entirely vegetable no particular care is required while using them. By druggists.

Various Causes.

Advancing years, care, sickness, dis-appointment, and hereditary predisposition—all operate to turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYRES HAIR VIGOR will restore faded or gray, light or red hair to a rich brown or deep black, as may be desired. It softens and cleanses the scalp, giving it a healthy action. It removes dandruff and itching humors. By its use falling hair is checked, and a new growth will be produced in all cases where the follicles are not destroyed or the glands decayed. Its effects are beautifully shown on brassy, weak, or sickly hair, on which a few applications will produce the gloss and freshness of youth. Harmless and sure in its operation, it is incomparable as a dressing, and is especially valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone imparted. It contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil or color white cambric; yet it lasts long on the hair, and keeps it fresh and vigorous.

Try It.

"I like it better than any remedy I have ever used because it leaves my bowels in better condition," is the remark made by everyone when referring to Syrup of Figs. That is one of the principal reasons why Syrup of Figs is taking the place of all the liver medicines and cathartics heretofore used. Try It. W. E. Dement, Druggist, is agent for Astoria, Oregon. Hodge Davis & Co., Wholesale Agents, Portland Oregon.

A cough, cold or sore throat should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable lung disease or consumption. Brown's Bronchial Troches do not blister the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in asthma, bronchitis, coughs, catarrh, and the throat troubles which singers and public speakers are subject to. For thirty years Brown's bronchial troches have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cents a box everywhere.
