Hon. L. F. Grover is on the incoming steamer.

The Fleetwood comes down as usual this afternoon.

Congregational church—Services at 11 A. M. and 7 P. M.

Regular service at Grace church to-day. Sunday school at noon.

The Lurline is down with company E. 21st Infantry, Capt. Evan Miles, for Fort Canby.

Rev. Winfield Scott, D. D., will preach in the Baptist church at 11 A. M., and 7 P. M. to-day.

Have you started to put up your stovepipe yet. It filtheth the heart with woe and the eye with soot.

The Gen. Miles will leave at five o'clock to-morrow morning for Tillamook. See advertisement.

The Emma Hayward will soon join the fleet of Columbia river boats that are plying on Puget Sound.

An exchange wants to know if THE ASTORIAN "owns" us. Toher way my dear boy, 't'her way; we own THE ASTORIAN.

We acknowledge receipt of a card from the committee on invitation—Messrs. R. F. Prael, L. Van Dusen, and Walter Robb—for a select social hop at Liberty Hall to-morrow evening; the first of the season.

Though we charge nothing for birth, marriage or death notices, yet to insure insertion the item when sent must be signed by the writer. Due knowledge of such important matters as births, deaths and marriages, are requisite and should be published, but they must be signed. People fond of a joke sometimes get off something funny, and if it gets into a paper it makes "drubbles" for the parties who are named.

Eight thousand dollars for a vote. That would buy a printing press, or a band of cattle. We wish somebody would offer it to us. Anybody that has it to spare, need not go to Bob Ford to offer it to us. Come right out with the tin; no fun. What a pity that Nichols couldn't have been a lawyer so as to have taken the $8,000 as a professional fee.

Thus sayeth the editor of the Wasco Sun. If sincere, the Wascoites made a happy mistake in not sending him to Salem.

Will Leave

The steamer Lurline will leave for Portland at half past ten this morning, from Gray's dock.

As Usual.

The commercial editor of the S. F. Bulletin, in a recent article, says that a correspondent furnishes him a statement of the canned salmon shipments from "San Francisco and Portland." Further on he gives the European shipment of canned salmon "from Portland," for 1882, as aggregating 405,000 cases. We would rejoice to be vouchsafed information so trustworthy as the above. The canned salmon shipment "from Portland," for '82, aggregates the exact and even figure of 500 cases, shipped on the Lizzie Bell, August 10th. The remaining 404,500 were loaded at and cleared from Astoria. Will the S. F. Bulletin man—just this once, by way of variety—make the correction.

No Hurry.

Governor Moody has not yet signed the act authorizing the establishment of a paid fire department in Portland. It is presumed he will in good time, but there is no rush about the matter. The boys who have served the city so long and well (some of them, by the way, are elderly boys now) need time to make the necessary arrangements for vacating the houses, disbanding, etc. The Stuard thinks it will seem kind of queer to them this winter to be able when they hear the big bell ring to turn over and go to sleep thinking that men are paid for rushing around in the rain and mud and spoiling their clothes and risking their lives and limbs to save the property of their fellow sinners.

Next Week

(SPECIAL TO THE ASTORIAN.) SALEM, Oct. 7th, '82. Mitchell got thirty-seven on to-day's ballot—Dunbar and Simon pairing. Smith, of Tillamook, voted for Speaker McBride. Mitchell's forces are solid and express their intention to stand by him to the end of the chapter. Indications point to his election next week.

The Commercial Situation.

Talking of freights and prices the Willamette Farmer says: "At the present time the wheat market is literally stagnant all over the world. The news from England on Wednesday was that the market was firm, but no important transactions. It is a state of things here. Wheat is quotable at $1.52 1/2 to $1.53 per cental at Portland, and on that basis in the valley towns. People in the country are generally waiting to get 80 cents per bushel for their wheat, which is not now obtainable. Very little done, because exporters say they cannot see any profit in transactions at that basis. Walla Walla wheat cannot be worth over $1.50 per cental at most.

"Charters remain at 32 1/2 for wood, and 35 1/2 for iron. There is nothing doing and little demand for tonnage. San Francisco freights are a little firmer than a week ago, and quotable at ten shillings less than from the Columbia river—say 42 1/2 for wood and 45 1/2 for iron. The quotation for No. 1 shipping wheat is $1.65 per cental. With freights at 10s per ton less, they pay fully 12 1/2 cental more, and our No. 1 wheat is worth fully 7 1/2 per cental more than No. 1 California, so we are brought face to face with the same old fact that all matters well considered, the California producer gets a better price in proportion, than does the Oregon farmer.

"Ten shillings less freight is 7 1/2 cent per bushel in his favor. Then, if each country's grain is the same value, the California farmer should get $1.60 when the Oregon farmer gets $1.52 1/2. But we see that the California farmer really gets $1.65, and as our wheat is worth 7 1/2 cents per cental and the most in England, that makes it evident that with the difference in freights made up by the superior quality of our grain, our California neighbor gets 12 1/2 cents per cental more than we do for wheat."

That "same old fact" will obtain till wheat is shipped, as it should be, from Astoria. That 12 1/2 cents per cental that "our California neighbor" gets more than his Oregon competitor, represents what every wheat raiser in the Northwest loses on every hundred pounds of wheat he sells because of the non-improvement of the Columbia river bar.

The Fire Drill.

Promptly at four o'clock yesterday afternoon the fire bell sounded and the several companies responded to the call. The drill took place on Chenamus street. No. 1 and 2 tested their hose, and the H. & L. Co. got their ladder up in good shape. Following is the roster of the Department for the ensuing year.

The Portland Tug Boat Company.

Ed. ASTORIAN: The pretended benefactors of the Columbia river commerce don't say anything about the towage, their only cry is, "reduce pilotage." The Portland board of trade pilot bill reduces pilotage from $8 and $10 to $6 and $8 inward and from $8 and $10, to $5 and $7, outward, five per cent. off. This is less than San Francisco rates. Let any man with common sense compare the two ports and decide which pilots ought to be the best remunerated. As an example we will take the American ship Dauntless, she had made arrangements with an English ship to take her ballast and the said English ship was to haul alongside of the ship Dauntless and put it on board the other vessel; the two ships to divide expenses. The pretended benefactors of commerce came forward and insisted that the ballast be discharged on the dock and carted to the American ship, and made the captain of the American ship pay $2.25 a ton when it was offered to him for fifty cents per ton; and further, compelling the English captain to pay the usual rates for discharging.

Northern Pacific Plans.

Henry Villard, in his last report to the stockholders of the Northern Pacific railroad company, says in reference to Portland's terminal facilities: A company known as the Terminal Company will be organized in the formation of which the Northern Pacific will participate, to build a union passenger and freight depot at Portland, and provide other terminal facilities for all the roads centering at that point. Grounds for the union depot have been purchased in North Portland, immediately adjoining the business portion of the city. The plan contemplates a passenger depot covering eighteen acres fronting on the city park, and an adjoining freight depot covering thirty acres, with an available length for tracks of 2,200 feet and an equal length of excellent river front. The Northern Pacific trains from the east will cross the Willamette on a bridge with double track, and thence enter the Union depot. The trains from Puget sound will run directly into the depot. Equally good facilities are provided for the entrance of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company's trains and those on the east and west side roads of the Oregon & California Company. In fact the location and plans fully cover all present and future needs in the way of railway terminal facilities and connections at Portland.

On the east side of the river purchases have been made of about 246 acres for the machine shops of the several roads. On the river front of this tract will be erected coal bunkers, a warehouse and a wheat elevator. A dry dock is now in course of construction there, and a large wharf for the accommodation of ocean steam and sail vessels of deep draught is being built with which the tracks of the several companies will have connection. A bridge with two draws will be built across the Willamette from Portland to East Portland.

POVERTY AND DISTRESS.

That poverty which produces the greatest distress is not of the pure but of the blood. Deprived of its richness it becomes scant and watery, a condition termed anemia in medical writings. Given this condition, and scrofulous swellings and sores, general and nervous debility, loss of flesh and appetite, weak lungs, throat disease, spitting of blood and consumption, are among the common results. If you are a sufferer from thin, poor blood employ Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," which enriches the blood and cures these grave affections. It is more nutritive than cod liver oil, and is harmless in any condition of the system, yet powerful to cure. By druggists.
