No senator yet. The Viola came down last evening. The river front shows up well in the matter of vessels.

Mr. Smith of Tillamook, voted for Caples, yesterday. Presbyterian church—Preaching by the pastor at 11 A. M.

Regular morning and evening service at the M. E. church to-day. The Boston Comic Opera company will play here on the 2d and 3d prox.

Lieut. Willis Wittich, 21st Infantry, changes station this month from Fort Townsend to Fort Canby. Rev. Winfield Scott, D. D., will preach at the Baptist church to-night at 7 o'clock. The public cordially invited.

Lights are being placed so that the people can get to the Baptist church without endangering their necks. Congregational church—Preaching as usual at 11 A. M., by the pastor, lecture to young people at 7 P. M. Sunday school at noon.

H. B. No. 1, "providing for pilotage on Columbia and Willamette rivers," was passed as amended. We will publish the bill as soon as it is received from the state printer.

Adam Catlin was placed in nomination for joint councilman for the counties of Cowlitz, Wahkiakum, Pacific and Chehalis at the Vancouver Democratic convention. The next convention will meet in Walla Walla.

Orders have been issued that the work of track laying on the Baker City branch of the O.R. & N.Co.'s road shall be pushed with vigor to the summit of the Blue mountains. This will bring the track within 25 miles of Grand Ronde.

There are 42 pupils in Mrs. Robb's room in the school of District No. 18. Miss Lawrence has 60 in her room. The last named lady was called to Salem on Wednesday to see her father who is dangerously ill. Miss Clara Hewitt has charge in her absence.

Shipping News. The Walla Walla came in yesterday from the Sound, loaded with coal; the Mississippi came in from San Francisco with freight and combustibles. The Dauntless and Sarah Bell were towed down from Portland, and the Trevelyan up. The British bark Easterhill, sixty-three days from Auckland arrived in, in ballast; the ship Patrian, thirty-one days from Yokohama, arrived in. The Starbuck and Cambrian are outside.

Boom Broken. Thursday night, because of the sudden rise in the Cowlitz river, the boom above Freeport, used to catch logs, broke away, owing to the great number of logs that had come down and lodged in the boom, and the whole lot, amounting to nearly a million of feet, went down the river and out into the Columbia. This entails a heavy loss upon the loggers who can ill afford to stand it. The steamer Kellogg was tied up below the boom and came very near being torn to pieces by the rush of logs.—Standard.

Our Taxes. The assessment roll for Clatsop county for 1882 is about made up. The county court adjourned last Thursday. The rate of taxation for county purposes was set at eight mills; this, with the state tax which is eight and a half mills, will give a total of sixteen and a half mills for the current year. Last year the rate was twenty mills, showing a reduction of taxation for this year of three and a half mills. The tax roll for 1881 gave the total valuation of property at $2,076,622; amount of property subject to taxation, $1,450,000; this year the total valuation of county property foots up $2,500,000; subject to taxation, $1,950,000.

Salem Solons.

(SPECIAL TO THE ASTORIAN.) SALEM, Oct. 14, 1882. Three ballots were taken to-day, the last, the thirty-first, being no more decisive, than the first one, a month ago. Mitchell got 38; Shattuck, 29; Failing, 5; Lord, 8; J. F. Caples, 3; Williams, Mallory, Herman, Bernard, and Marion one each. Adjourned.

Died. In Aurora, Oregon, Oct. 11th, at 11:45 P. M., Mr. George Giesy, of Willapa, W. T., of consumption. Mr. S. Giesy, father of deceased, came to Aurora with his son on or about July 1st, believing that the climate of Oregon might be better than that of Washington territory for his invalid son. For a while it so appeared, until last Tuesday for the first time George was compelled to take to his bed during the day. But now his sufferings are over. He leaves behind many loving friends who in tears sympathize with the bereaved parents.

School Closed. YOUNG'S RIVER, Oct. 14, 1882. ED. ASTORIAN, Miss Clara Bender has just closed a four months school in district No. 1, with satisfactory results. She has been untiring in her efforts to make the school a success, and has not failed to please all in the interest she has taken, but has won the respect and esteem of all who have become acquainted with her in her short sojourn in this place.

Another Complaint. ASTORIA, Oregon, Oct. 14, 1882. ED. ASTORIAN: Again the Queen of the Pacific took half of Astoria's freight up the creek. Our merchants and cannerymen are subjected to constant annoyance, and their complaints are getting so numerous that a remedy should be devised. Let us subscribe from $1 to $5 each, and place the sum in the hands of a lawyer with instructions to make a test case of it. We would certainly win it and thus stop the evil that at present so grievously affects us.

Early Closing. ED. ASTORIAN. As the winter season has set in and the amount of business done after eight o'clock has easily been done before that hour without inconvenience to the purchaser, I would suggest that the stores close at 8 P. M. Sunday excepted, believing that such an action would be conducive to the health and energy of merchant and salesman alike by having a few hours during the evening for their own enjoyment.

Will Close at Eight O'clock. ASTORIA, Oct. 14, 1882. We the undersigned merchants of Astoria, agree to close our places of business at 8 o'clock every evening (Saturday excepted) from and after this date, until April 1st 1883.

To the Public. Dr. Aug. C. Kinney gives notice that he must withdraw from all practice, excepting hospital and office practice, for the present.

Notice. This authorizes T. Seelye, sole agent of Astoria, of the Washoe or Medical Lake water. Dr. H. L. Bacon. Persons wishing the same inquire at Central market. T. SEELYE.

Prof. J. F. Meyer wishes to inform the public and his pupils that he is now settled and intends remaining here. He is prepared to give music and also French lessons. Scholars practicing will find every convenience for study and improvement, at his residence. His experience renders this an opportunity which it is worth while to any one to embrace.

An Oyster Yarn.

I never found anything but once here in excess of my expectations, or even approaching them, and that was the New York oysters. I had just then come from Oregon, where oysters are very small and insignificant, and I had often eaten a hundred of them brought from Shoalwater Bay, and had always felt that I could eat more if I had them. So when I arrived at the Fifth Avenue Hotel I ordered my dinner to be served in my room, and told the waiter to bring me with my dinner a strong cup of coffee, and a hundred raw oysters. He looked at me a moment and then said "Did I understand you to say a hundred oysters?"

"Yes," I answered; "raw on the half-shell, with vinegar, no lemons, and as soon as you can, for I am very hungry."

"Ahem! Miss, do you want a hundred?"

"Yes, I do; what are you waiting for? Must I pay you in advance? I want nice large ones."

"No, no, Miss! All right, you shall have them," and he went out. I continued my writing and forgot all about my dinner, till he knocked and came in with dinner on a tray, but no oysters.

"How's this?" said I; "there are no oysters?"

"De'y comin' Miss; de'y comin'," and the door opened, and in filed three more sons of Africa's burning sands, each with a big tray of oysters on the half shell. I was staggered, but only for a moment, for I saw the waiters were grinning, so I calmly directed them to place one tray on a chair, one on the washstand, and one on the bed, and said;

"They are very small, aren't they?"

"Oh! no miss; de berry largest we've got."

"Very well," said I, "you can go." When they got out into the hall, one said to the other:

"Fore God, Jo, if she eats all them oysters she's a dead woman."

I did not feel hungry any longer. I drank my coffee and looked at the oysters, every one of them as big as my hand, and they all seemed looking at me with their horrible white faces, and out of their one diabolical eye, until I could not have eaten one any more than I could have carved up a live baby. They leered at me and seemed to dare me to attack them.

Our Pacific coast oysters are small and with no more individual character about them than so many grains of rice, but these detestable creatures were instinct with evil intentions, and I dared not swallow one for fear of the disturbance he might raise in my interior, so I set about getting rid of them, for I was never going to give up beaten before those waiters. I hung my dress over the keyhole after I had locked the door, and just outside my window found a tin water spout that had a hole in it. I carefully enlarged it, and then slid every one of those beastly creatures down, on eby one,—one hundred and two of them—they all the time eyeing me with that cold, pasty look of malignity. When the last one was out of sight I stopped trembling and finished my dinner in peace, and then rang for the waiters. You should have seen their faces! One of the waiters asked if I would have some more oysters. May he never know the internal pang he inflicted upon me, but I replied calmly:

"Not now, I think too many at once might be harmful."—New York Letter.

In the Whole History of Medicine No preparation has ever performed such marvelous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long-continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and the physicians who use the CHERRY PECTORAL, extensively in their practice, and earnestly recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its remedial effects, and will always cure where cures are possible.
