

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1882. J. F. HALLORAN, Editor.

How it May be Improved. It is with regret we notice that our journalistic friends of the interior have lost their several tempers in discussing the present senatorial contest.

An Astounding Prediction. The New York World's London cable says: The comet is all the talk in scientific circles at present.

An anonymous pamphlet, says the Hour, entitled "The War of 1886, between the United States and Great Britain," has just been published in Cincinnati.

But it is not confined to Oregon; our Missouri friends are also at times, taken that way. Here is a specimen of verbal dysentery, which we furnish for our contemporaries to put away for reference.

"The ignorant, contemptible, mean, sneaking, cowardly, self-important, low-flung, dirty, outlandish, backbiting, self-styled 'politician,' dead beat, whisky-bloat, backwoods bummer, log cabin child of misfortune, beer-inflated, big-headed, soft-skulled, over-rated swamp angel who claims to edit the swamp paper thinks the editor of the Reflector terribly ignorant.

An article in the last number of the New York Sun, to hand, in discussing adversely the proposed Mississippi improvements, states that the entire amount of "the national debt is not sufficient to complete the contemplated improvements."

It seems that we have to continue figuring up this census business all over again. A Washington dispatch says there is a scandal in the census bureau that will probably call for an investigating committee as soon as congress comes together.

In Missouri there is no prohibitory law, but a rigid statute against gambling. In Kansas there is no anti-gambling law, but there are prohibitory enactments.

The moralists of Great Britain would doubtless regard it as a good joke if the emperor of China should request Queen Victoria's aid in the suppression of the opium traffic, as it is reported that he will.

B. A. MCGINNIS, grand master of the Odd Fellows of Florida, issues an appeal to the Odd Fellows of the United States for a contribution for the yellow fever sufferers at Pensacola.

HENRY WARD BEECHER has dissolved all connection with any church union, and will hereafter preach Beecherism, straight.

Gov. MOODY has signed the pilotage bill.
