The "Fish" Bill.

A BILL for an act to regulate fisheries on the waters of the Columbia river and its tributaries. Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon:

SECTION 1. That it shall be unlawful to fish with gill nets, of any description whatsoever, on or in the vicinity of the Columbia bar, at any point below or westward of a line drawn from the flagstaff at Fort Stevens to the top of Scarborough hill; and any person or persons who shall fish with gill nets or drag-gill nets, on or in the vicinity of the Columbia river bar, below or westward of the line above, in this section described shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars for the first offense, and for each and every subsequent offense shall be punished by a fine not less than two hundred and fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the county jail for a term of not less than three months nor more than one year.

SEC. 2. It shall be unlawful to take or fish for salmon in the Columbia river or its tributaries, by any means whatsoever, in any year, during the months of March, August and September, and during the close times in the months of April, May, June and July of every year—such close times to be between six o'clock in the afternoon on Saturday and six o'clock in the afternoon on Sunday of each and every week in April, May, June and July and any person or persons who shall violate any of the provisions of this section by fishing for or taking salmon, or by hiring others to do so, shall be punished, on conviction thereof, by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars for the first offense, and for each and every subsequent offense, shall be punished by a fine of not less than two hundred and fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the county jail for a term of not less than three months nor more than one year.

SEC. 3. It shall be unlawful to fish for, or to take salmon in the Columbia river, or its tributaries, during the months of April, May, June and July of every year with gill nets, the meshes of which are less than four and one-eighth inches square; and any person or persons, who shall violate the provisions of this section, or shall hire others to do so, shall, on conviction, be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars, for each and every offense.

SEC. 4. It shall be unlawful to purchase or receive salmon which have been caught or taken at times or places, or with means and appliances forbidden by this Act, and any person or persons, who, as principal or agent, shall purchase or receive any salmon taken or caught in violation of any of the provisions of this Act, knowing that such fish have been so unlawfully caught or taken, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars, for the first offense, and for each and every subsequent offense by a fine of not less than two hundred and fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, and by imprisonment in the county jail for a term not exceeding three months.

SEC. 5. It shall be unlawful for the proprietor or manager of any saw mill on the Columbia river, or any of its tributaries, to cast the saw dust made by such saw mill, or to suffer or permit the said saw dust to be cast into the said Columbia river or its tributaries. And any person or persons who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of fifty dollars for each and every offense, and offenders against the provisions of this section may be tried and punished by and before courts of the justices of the peace.

SEC. 7. This act shall not be construed so as to interfere in any manner with any establishment or enterprise for the propagation of salmon, whether by the United States government or by this state, or by any society or company regularly organized for that purpose, located or operated upon said Columbia river or any of its tributaries; nor so as to prevent fishing in the Columbia river or its tributaries, with dip nets during the fishing season as defined by this act.

SEC. 8. Any prosecuting attorney who shall upon complaint being made to him of a violation of any provision of this act, fail to prosecute the party accused shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of five hundred dollars for each and every offense.

SEC. 9. Any party convicted of any violation of this law, shall be sentenced to pay the fine adjudged and the costs of the action, and in default of paying the same or any part thereof, he shall be committed to the county jail, until such fine and costs shall be fully paid; or until the imprisonment shall amount to one day for every two dollars of such fine and costs unpaid; provided, that at any time within five years after judgment execution may issue against the property of the defendant for whatever sum may be due of such fine and costs, or of any balance after deducting the commutation by imprisonment, the defendant shall be discharged.

SEC. 10. All fines and penalties collected for or on account of violation of the provisions of this act, shall be paid into the county treasury and applied in payment of the expenses of the courts of justice within the county.

SEC. 11. Whenever a party shall be prosecuted for violation of this act, this punishment as for a second or subsequent offense shall be sought; the indictment, or complaint, shall allege the fact of the previous conviction of the party of another prior violation of the provisions of this act, setting forth the title of the court in which the conviction was had and the date of the judgment.

SEC. 12. The act entitled "An Act Regulating Salmon Fisheries on the waters of the Columbia river and its Tributaries," approved October 15, 1878, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 13. Because the passage of salmon up the Columbia river and its tributaries is obstructed and hindered by the matters and things forbidden by this act, and the interests of trade and commerce require immediate attention thereto, this act shall take effect and be in force from and after its approval by the governor.
