ISSUED EVERY MORNING. (Monday Excepted). J. P. HALLORAN & COMPANY, PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

Terms of Subscription. Sent by Carrier, per week, 25 cents; by mail, four months, $1.00; by mail, one year, $1.80.

Advertisements inserted by the year at the rate of $1.50 per square per month.

Transient advertising, by the day or week, fifty cents per square for each insertion.

A notice this morning relative to school taxes, is of interest.

Carl Adler is opening a splendid stock of goods. See his new ad.

The Western Belle is loading at New York for the Columbia river.

Eight million votes will be cast throughout the United States to-day.

Mrs. Kinney will build a two-story brick on the vacant lot opposite the city hall.

At the Ilwaco school meeting on the 5th, J. R. Goulter and R. Williams were elected directors.

Ice formed at Seattle last Friday. There was a frosty film on the sidewalks here at an early hour this morning.

From a Fort Edward, New York, paper, we see that John Jack and Annie Firmin are now playing "East Lynne" in that city.

Chas. Martin, second mate of the German bark Don Enrique left overboard near Port Townsend last Saturday and was drowned.

At eleven o'clock this morning E. C. Holden will sell 5,000 lbs. Shively's Astoria, at auction. The sale will take place at his rooms.

The Peshaw came down Sunday afternoon; the Elizabeth and Melusine went up; the Wilna is about through discharging; the Astoria finishes loading to-morrow.

The time of holding the first meeting of the board of pilot commissioners has not yet been settled upon. Till such time as they meet and reorganize, the present rates will remain.

From the beginning of the season to date, over 1,500,000 pounds of hops have been sent from Oregon and Washington Territory to San Francisco, representing a cash value of over $800,000.

The Antich, Cal., Ledger states that a salmon caught near that place recently was found to be branded "U. S. F. Co." The brand had evidently been put there by some member of the United States Fish Commission.

The Queen of the Pacific had ninety tons of freight this trip for Astoria. Capt. Alexander managed to allow some of it to come off before going above. He says he has his orders from Mr. Prescott. That's what Astoria wanted to know; it seems that the Queen of the Pacific is owned by the O. R. & N. Co., then.

The chamber of commerce people wish to state that by a vote on Friday night the monthly dues from May 16, 1881 to Nov. 3, 1882, will be stricken from the books. Members in arrears will be required to pay up only to the 16th of May, 1881, otherwise their names will be dropped from the list of membership. The monthly dues will now be only 50 cents per month.

The Pacific Coast Steamship company and Ezekiel Alexander have filed a libel against the steamship Empire, in the United States district court. On the 5th of October the company's steamer Queen of the Pacific discovered the Empire disabled and in a perilous position on the coast of Oregon, and towed her into a port of safety. For this reason a reasonable amount of salvage is claimed by the Coast Steamship company, the amount of which Judge Hoffman is asked to determine.

The Omaha Herald of Oct. 24th says: "A big brigade of laborers, variously estimated at from 5,000 to 8,000 men, is scattered all along the Union Pacific railways Oregon Short Line from American Falls west and north. The Road is finished continuously from Granger, Wyo., where it starts from the main line, to American Falls, Idaho, a distance of 240 miles; and for a stretch of about a score of miles beyond. The contractors and their men are grading in different places all the way into Oregon and also from Shoshone, the junction with the Wood river branch, to Halley, in the heart of the Wood river mining camps.

Do you want to make a present? You will surely be suited at Adler's.

KILLED FOR COIN A Portland Murder.

On the evening of the 29th ult., the body of a man named Carl Anderson was found on Swan island, about one mile distant from Portland, riddled with buckshot, and he was supposed to have been murdered. At the inquest it was shown that Anderson, who was formerly a saloon-keeper in Chicago, arrived in Portland about six weeks ago, accompanied by a woman supposed to be his mistress and his brother Alfred Anderson, both of whom had disappeared since the murder. It was further shown that on Oct. 10th Carl and his brother hired two guns to go hunting, and purchased buckshot, etc.; that the next day Alfred brought back the guns and paid the hire, saying his brother had gone east. That night Alfred and the woman registered at the Norton House as man and wife, and left on the boat for this city the next morning, taking Carl's trunk along with the rest of the baggage.

The dead man had been shot with a shotgun, the charge entering behind the left ear and coming out at the right eye, a few shot passing through the rim of his hat. He was seen on the night of the 11th and said he intended to leave by steamer on the 13th. He was known to have a belt full of gold twenties on his body. The money, together with a gold watch and chain and whatever change he had in his pocket, was missing, and as no weapon was found near him, the theory of suicide was untenable, and it was evident the man had been murdered for his money, and the jury returned a verdict in accordance with the evidence.

Chief of Police Lappeus, of Portland, telegraphed to San Francisco asking that Alfred Anderson and woman in his company, on the steamer Dakota from Victoria, be arrested, which was done, on a charge of murder.

The man was very reticent, and claimed to have thought his brother was in Chicago until the time of his arrest. He further stated that he had seen his brother Charles in Portland two days before his (Alfred's) leaving that city, which was on or about the 9th of October. They had never had any words, and as to the amount of money his brother had he had no knowledge. When he last saw his brother Carl he latter was intending to start the next morning for Chicago, having become disgusted with the business prospects in Portland. As to the woman, whose name was Bertie Nelson, she had been with his brother Carl in Chicago, and he never saw her until she came to Portland. She had been working with a family there, being dissatisfied with her position, and deserted by her former paramour, Carl, who, the prisoner claims to have thought to have gone to Chicago, he (Alfred) made a proposition to her that she become his mistress, to which she acceded. The prisoner stated that he had been in Portland for eight years working on steamboats and along shore, and left Portland for San Francisco, intending to resume the same occupation in that city, and brought the woman with him at her own request. While in Portland he had lived for several years in a cabin near the old saw mill, made prominent in the criminal history of Oregon by reason of its marking the locality where the body of the victim of the notorious murderess, Carrie Bradley, was discovered. Alfred Anderson is a tall, powerful man, standing six feet high, and is twenty-four years of age.

The female prisoner, Bertie Nelson, was even more uncommunicative than her pseudo consort upon the immediate subject of the murder leading to their arrest. She is a native of Sweden and but twenty years of age. She states that on the 23d of September she arrived in San Francisco from Chicago, with Carl Anderson, and they registered as man and wife at the American Exchange hotel. Carl had kept a large saloon in Chicago, known as the Scandinavian saloon, and she supposed that he had made money. After remaining in this city about three days they went to Portland, where she went to work with a family with whom she remained but nine days. About three weeks ago she was out walking with Carl one night, and on his return with her to the house of the family with whom she was living he told her that he could do nothing in Portland and was going back to Chicago. The next day Alfred visited her and told her that Carl had gone to Chicago. Then it was that the two entered into a compact to live together and started for San Francisco.

An investigation by the detectives resulted in the discovery of $185 on Alfred Anderson, a revolver and an open-faced gold watch. On the woman nothing was found, and the satchel she carried in her hand contained nothing but apparel. A subsequent examination of the trunks resulted in finding some of the dead man's clothing. The gold coin—supposed to be about $850—is as yet undiscovered. Lappeus went down on the Queen of the Pacific last Sunday to bring the prisoner to Portland.

Thirty-three states elect to-day; the Astoria vote is that Adler has the finest stock in the city.

Proceedings of Chamber of Commerce.

MONDAY EVENING, NOV. 6. Chamber met pursuant to adjournment. President Bowly in the chair; E. C. Holden, secretary. Minutes of last meeting read and approved; bill of F. Packard for transcript of pilot law and official certificate to same, $13, was ordered paid. The following-named gentlemen were proposed and duly elected as members of the chamber of commerce: W. E. Dement, C. W. Fulton, S. Ellmore, B. Van Dusen, John W. Hane, Jr., S. D. Adair, J. F. Halloran, and A. V. Allen.

Dr. A. C. Kinney, of committee appointed to ascertain cost of suitable steamship to ply between Astoria and San Francisco, reported that communications had been forwarded to steamship builders in the east, with a view to procure the desired information. President Bowly read several important communications which had been forwarded to various government officials in reference to the public interests of Astoria.

A letter from his excellency Governor Moody, in reference to the appointment of the third pilot commissioner, in reply to a communication from the Chamber was read by the secretary. Messrs. Wright, Case, W. W. Parker, were appointed a committee to select a suitable room for the use of the Chamber.

The meeting then adjourned till first Monday in December, unless sooner convened by order of the President.

CAPE HANCOCK RECORD. Nov. 6th, '82. 9 A. M.—Cloudy, raining, fair rough. One sail in sight.

FEMALE COMPLAINTS. Dr. R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir—I write to tell you what your "Favorite Prescription" has done for me. I had been a great sufferer from female complaints, especially "dragging down," for over six years, during much of the time unable to work. I paid out hundreds of dollars without any benefit till I took three bottles of the "Favorite Prescription," and never had anything do me so much good in my life. I advise every sick lady to take it. Mrs. EMILY RHODES, McBrides, Mich.
