The reception given by U. S. Senator-elect Dolph at his residence in this city last evening, was the grandest affair of the kind ever attempted here. Some 900 invitations were issued. The list included the notables of the state and the elite of the city. The spacious mansion was thronged till a late hour, and the handsomely furnished apartments, with their richly dressed and constantly changing concourse of visitors, presented a brilliant spectacle.—Standard 10th.

Special Notice. Any person interested in J. T. Mulkey's Sale of Real Estate and Live Stock, can, if they wish, accompany E. C. Holden, the auctioneer, who will go down to the farm on Tuesday to make arrangements for the sale on Wednesday. A good team will be awaiting the arrival of the steamer Sam, at Skipanon, and accommodations secured for any one wishing to stay overnight on the premises. On Wednesday morning, the day of the sale, the Sam will leave at 7:30 a. m. and teams be in readiness to convey bidders to Mr. Mulkey's place in time for the auction sale.

Fog Signals.

A. R. Johnson, chief clerk of the light-house board, recently read a paper before the Philosophical Society of Washington, which contains some suggestion in relation to fog signals, worthy of the notice of all navigators. He says:

"While a mariner may usually expect to hear the sound of the average fog-signal normally as to force and place, he should be prepared for occasional aberrations in addition. It is impossible at this point in the investigations, which are still in progress, to say when, where or how the phenomena will occur. But certain suggestions present themselves even now as worthy of consideration.

It seems that the mariner should, in order to pick up the sound of the fog-signal most quickly when approaching it from the windward, go aloft; and that, when approaching it from the leeward, the nearer he can get to the surface of the water the sooner he will hear the sound. It also appears that there are some things the mariner should not do. He should place no negative dependence on the fog-signal; that is, he should not assume that he is out of hearing distance because he fails to hear its sound. He should not assume that, because he hears a fog-signal faintly, he is at a great distance from it. Neither should he assume that he is near to it because he hears the sound plainly. He should not assume that he has reached a given point on his course because he hears the fog-signal with the same intensity that he did when formerly at that point. Neither should he assume that he has not reached that point because he fails to hear the fog-signal as loudly as before, or because he does not hear it at all. He should not assume that the fog-signal has ceased sounding because he fails to hear it even when within easy earshot. He should not assume that the aberrations of audibility which pertain to any one fog-signal pertain to any other fog-signal. He should not expect to hear the fog-signal as well when the upper and lower currents of air run in different directions; that is, when his upper sails fill and his lower sails flap; nor when his lower sails fill and upper sails flap. He should not expect to hear the fog-signal so well when between him and it is a swiftly flowing stream, especially when the tide and wind run in opposite directions. He should not expect to hear it well during a time of electric disturbance. He should not expect to hear a fog-signal well when the sound must reach him over land, as over a point or an island. And, when there is a bluff behind the fog-signal, he should be prepared for irregular intervals in addition, such as might be produced could the sound ricochet from the trumpet, as a ball would from a cannon; that is he might hear it for 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10 miles from the signal, and lose it at 1, 3, 5, 7, 9 and 11 miles distance, or at any other combination of distances, regular or irregular. These deductions, some made, as previously mentioned, by several of the first physicists of the age, and some drawn from the original investigations here noted, are submitted for consideration rather than given as directions. They are assumed as good working hypotheses for use in further investigation. While it is claimed that they are correct as to the localities in which they were made, it seems proper to say that they have not been disproved by the practical mariners who have given them some personal consideration, and who have tried to carry them into general application. Hence these suggestions have been set down in the hope that others with greater knowledge and larger leisure may give the subject fuller attention, and work out further results. If the law of these aberrations in audibility can be evolved and some method discovered for their correction, as the variations of the compass are corrected, then sound may be depended upon as a more definite and accurate aid to navigation. Until then, the mariner will do well when he does not get the expected sound of a fog-signal to assume that he may not hear a warning that is faithfully given, and then to leave his lead, and resort to the other means used by the careful navigator to make sure of his position.

An Act for the Protection of Fish and Game

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon:

Sec. 1. Every person, who shall, within the State of Oregon, between the first day of November in each year and the first day of July the following year hunt, pursue, take, kill or destroy any male deer or buck shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person who shall for the period of four years from and after the passage of this act pursue, hunt, take, kill or destroy any female deer or doe shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person who after the passage of this act shall kill any spotted fawn or young deer shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person who after the passage of this act shall take, kill or destroy any male or female deer, or buck at any time, unless the carcass of such animal is used or preserved by the person slaying it, or is sold for food is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 2. Every person who buys, sells, or has in his possession, any of the deer enumerated in the preceding section within the time the taking or killing thereof is prohibited, except such as are tamed or kept for show or curiosity, is guilty of a misdemeanor. Sec. 3. Every person who shall within the state of Oregon, between the first day of January and the first day of August of each year; hunt, pursue, take, kill or destroy any elk, moose or mountain sheep, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person who takes, kills, injures or destroys, or pursues with intent to take, kill, injure or destroy any elk, moose or mountain sheep, at any time for the sole purpose of obtaining the skin, hide or horns of any such animal, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 4. Every person who shall, within the state of Oregon, between the first day of May and the first day of September of each year, take, kill, injure or destroy, or have in possession, sell or offer for sale any wild swan, mallard duck, wood duck, wid-geon, teal, spoonbill, gray, black or sprigtail duck, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 5. Every person who shall, within the state of Oregon, between the first day of April and the 15th day of June of each year, for any purpose, take, kill, injure or destroy or have in possession, sell or offer for sale any prairie chicken or sage hen shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 6. Every person who shall, within the state of Oregon, between the first day of January and the fifteenth day of July of each year, take, kill, injure or destroy, or have in possession, sell or offer for sale, any grouse, pheasant, quail or partridge, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 7. Every person who shall, within the state of Oregon, during the months of November, December, January, February and March, of any year, catch, kill or have in possession, sell or offer for sale, any mountain or brook trout, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person who shall, within the state of Oregon, take or attempt to take, or catch, with any seine, net, weir or other device other than a hook and line, any mountain or brook trout, at any time after the passage of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 8. Every person who shall, within the state of Oregon, at any time after the passage of this act, trap, net or ensnare, or attempt to trap, net or ensnare, any quail or bob white prairie chicken, grouse or pheasant, or have in possession any live quail or bob white, prairie chicken, grouse or pheasant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 9. Every person who shall, within the state of Oregon, at any time after the passage of this act, destroy or remove from the nest of any mallard duck, widgeon, wood duck, teal, spoonbill, gray, black or sprigtail duck, prairie chicken or sage hen, grouse, pheasant, quail or partridge, or other wild fowls any egg or eggs of such fowls or birds, or have in possession, sell or offer for sale, any such egg or eggs, or willfully destroy the nest of any such fowls or birds, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 10. Every person who shall have any male deer or buck, or any female deer or doe, or spotted fawn or young deer, elk, moose or mountain sheep, swan, mallard duck, wood duck, widgeon, teal, spoonbill, gray, black or sprigtail duck, prairie chicken or sage hen, grouse, pheasant, quail, bob white or partridge, mountain or brook trout, at any time when it is unlawful to take or kill the same, as provided in this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and proof of the possession of any of the aforesaid animals, fowls, birds or fish at a time when it is unlawful to take or kill the same, in the county where the same is found, shall be prima facie evidence in any prosecution for a violation of any of the provisions of this act, that the person or persons in whose possession the same is found took, killed or destroyed the same in the county where in the same is found during the period when it was unlawful to take, kill or destroy the same.

Sec. 11. Every person convicted of a violation of any of the provisions of this act shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars and not more than three hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail of the county where the offense was committed for not less than five days nor more than three months, or both such imprisonment and fine. One-half of all moneys collected for fines for the violation of the provisions of this act shall be paid to informers, and one-half to the district attorney in the county in which the case is prosecuted. Sec. 12. All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed. This act goes into effect on the 11th of next January.

Old Ike and the Comet. Old Ike got up at four o'clock yesterday morning and went out into the wood-shed to shoot a chicken-thief. Looking up into the sky he saw the comet. Soon as his eye caught sight of it he threw down his gun, ran into the house and woke "de ole woman" by yelling: "Git up ole woman, git up an' say yo' pra's quick, kase de debil's gone to frown red-hot o' fish at de ear'f, and de bellion dum commenced. Git up an' go see fo' yo' self, den come back an' pray, Hanner-pray loud, an' don't fo'git ter mention me as yer gwine long," and the "ole man" stepped outside the door to show the old woman "dat ar char-yot ob fish," when he fell into the cellar, and "de ole woman" fainted and fell in on top of him.—Louisville Courier-Journal.
