The Salem fire department has a new Sibley fire engine.

Hogs are being sold for ten cents a pound on foot in eastern Oregon.

The Standard reports the river as being distressingly low and says the services of the dredger are in great demand.

The scissors editor of the Standard is fast dissipating that paper's reputation for honesty in the matter of credits.

The Standard alleges that attempts are being made to shanghai sailors in Portland for the Josie Troop. Can such things be?

The dock at Fort Stevens has been extended fifty feet. The intention is to extend it two hundred more should necessity require it.

The tug Pioneer had a close call yesterday morning on the bar, barely escaping colliding with the Columbia. The sea was running very high at the time.

Of 130,565 persons of ten years age and upward, residents of this state, 5,270 are returned as being unable to read, and 7,423 as being unable to write.

The British ship Flora, which sailed from San Francisco for Queenstown, July 16th, was wrecked off the Lincolnshire coast last Wednesday. All hands were lost.

Albina will be the terminus of five lines of railroad: The O. R. & N.; the N. P. E. R.; the Q. & C.; the Oregon Short Line, and the Multnomah Narrow Gauge.

Everyone remembers the brilliant aurora that was seen one evening a few weeks ago. Down in Los Angeles, Cal., so we are informed, the fire department ran in hot haste to put it out.

It is said that a lawyer recently lost a bride in a peculiar way. He appeared at the wedding, but on being called to the ceremony, from sheer force of habit protested that he was not ready to proceed, and demanded delay. And so the bride got mad and shipped him.

The case of the state vs. D. Morris, on trial at Oregon City for the murder of young Officer, at Molalla, went to the jury at 1 o'clock on Tuesday morning. At 10 o'clock they returned a verdict of murder in the second degree. The penalty is confinement in the penitentiary for life.

The Britannia cleared yesterday with $143,739 worth of flour, the Argyle with $41,000 worth of wheat, and the Fritz with $62,600 worth of wheat—all three for Queenstown. The Elsinore, which has been nearly eight months getting here from New York, arrived in yesterday. The Victoria arrived in from Nansimo with coal, and the Columbia from San Francisco. The Lake Ontario, Birker and Melusine are finishing cargo.

A Walla Walla despatch says: On Tuesday week Wesley Little was shot and killed on Clearwater river by Charles Suter. They were partners in a ranch and were settling up their business preparatory to a dissolution. In talking the matter over Little called Suter a liar and was drawing his pistol, but Suter was too quick for him and fired. The bullet entered the chest below the throat. Little died soon after and Suter went to Mount Idaho and surrendered himself to the sheriff. A jury returned and held an inquest. Verdict, justifiable homicide.

Section 464 Endowment Rank Knights of Pythias will meet at Pythian Castle Hall this evening, Saturday Dec. 9th, at 7 o'clock sharp. Business election of officers for ensuing year.

OFFICE OF BOARD OF PILOT COMMISSIONERS, COLUMBIA AND WILLAMETTE RIVERS, PORTLAND, OR., Dec. 6, 1882.

To the Editor of The Astorian: Please give publicity to the following items which may be of interest to the maritime public.

The pilot boat Cousins having been laid up fast to the wharf since November 24th, we, the commissioners, would call the attention of those interested to section 17 of the Pilot law of 1882, regarding the employment of Bar Pilots upon tugs.

Understanding as we do, that the Pioneer has been used as a boarding vessel during the interval mentioned above, we would call attention to that portion of section 21 regarding the keeping at all times a pilot vessel at sea.

Respectfully calling attention to the penalties attending non-compliance with the law.

We are sir, respectfully yours, J. O. BROWN, NATH'L INGERSOLL, J. H. D. GRAY, Commissioners. R. H. BUDDY, Sec'y.

In the Justice Court.

The case of alleged kidnapping comes up before Justice Fox on Monday morning at ten o'clock. Several arrests have been made; Richardson, McCormack, Bannister, Chance, Driscoll, Clarke, McCarty, McCarron and several others who are known as John Doe, Richard Roe, et al. The two sailors who, it is charged, were forcibly taken from the premises of A. H. Sale, are Henry French, and George Pilsky. The former came to Judge Fox, yesterday, and asked for protection. He was immediately accorded the protection granted by the jail. A subpoena has been issued for Pilsky, who is on board the Josie Troop. Should that not bring him to the witness stand a warrant will be issued for his appearance.

In the case of Pass Smith charged with felonious assault upon Wm. Robertson, defendant, was remanded to prison in default of $1,000 bail, to await the action of the grand jury which meets Jan. 2d. McCullough, Clarke and Robertson, were each held in $100 bail to appear as witnesses.

No Separating Man and Wife.

The Chinese bill, about which so much fuss was made last summer, is in danger of being so riddled by judicial interpretation that it will be practically valueless. The latest decision under its provisions opens a way for wholesale evasion. The steamship Madras recently in the Columbia river, had on board a Chinese woman who was claimed by a Portland Chinaman as his wife. As she was not allowed to land, the Chinese brought the matter before Secretary of the Treasury Folger, who sapiently decides that she shall not be parted from her husband, so the woman has been allowed to go ashore. All a Chinaman need do, according to that, is to send his wife over here with another man, and then send for him. For what Chinese law hath joined together let no American put asunder.

Hard on the Harvester.

The reputation of the officers of the ship Harvester is now known among sailors from Victoria to San Francisco, and it is impossible for them to obtain a crew, and are compelled to lie in the Sound unable to sail. After the vessel was loaded an effort was made to ship a crew on the Sound, but the sailors in that vicinity had learned of the treatment received by the crew on her passage out, and none could be found willing to ship on the vessel. Portland and Astoria were then resorted to, but the report had reached both places and sailors could not be secured at any price. The ship was then towed to Port Townsend and went to anchor in the harbor to await a crew. An agent was then sent to San Francisco, who represented that there was a ship in the Sound in need of a crew, and that there was no sailors to man her. By the assistance of a couple of boarding house keepers and a liberal advance of $75 to each man, thirty sailors were induced to leave San Francisco by the Dakota on the 30th of November. On the way up they learned the reputation of the Harvester, and having a strong suspicion that she was the ship they were to sail in, they arranged among themselves to jump the steamer at Victoria, and thus avoid sailing in the Harvester. Accordingly, on the arrival of the Dakota at Victoria, the thirty swarthy sailors marched ashore. The boarding house keepers who accompanied them up the coast did all in their power to get them back, but as there was no representative of the ship there, no steps could legally be taken to compel the deserters to continue on their journey, and the Dakota had to leave without them.—Standard.

Sad Condition of Walla Walla.

We regret to learn from the Statesman that rivers of mud, fittingly represent the streets of Walla Walla. "Not a thick, muggy stuff, but thin, like well-worked batter out of which flannel cakes are made. Here and there at corners, there are little streaks of solid earth, called "crossings," but the waves of slimy mud come so near each other that a man has to have on high-water pants if he would escape contamination. The ladies don't wear high-water pants, and so they stand on the shore and silently pray a prayer for the street commissioner and the council."

A Party by the Name of Johnson.

On Thursday's boat an individual came down from Portland registering at the hotel by the name of Johnson. Yesterday Chief of Police Laughrey got a description of a man who was charged with stealing $400 from his wife in Portland. "Johnson" was arrested and owned up to the charge; his true name being C. B. Wilcox. About $370 was on his person. He goes to Portland to-day.

Shine His Lacrimas.

When it was learned that the royal party at Victoria would not visit Portland on their return to San Francisco, but would content themselves with taking a peep at the beautiful sights of the upper Columbia and then proceed to Astoria, taking the steamer there for below, Astorians began to hold their heads high, and great were the preparations made for the reception of the distinguished visitors. Some of this city, even, went down the river to get a view of royalty. But, alas for human hopes, all were doomed to disappointment.—Oregonian, 8th.

If anything could intensify the dark pall of impenetrable gloom that surrounds us, it would be the bitter consciousness that all our preparations for the visit of royalty have been so rudely set at naught. The inhabitants of Oregon's seaport had gone to such expense and had their anticipations wrought up so highly, that when Mayor Hahn received De Winton's dispatch Thursday evening, every one was visibly affected by the sad intelligence. It had been the intention to meet the royal party at the wharf, and every livery stable in Astoria had been visited by those desiring suitable equipments to appear in the procession. The programme was, to have a suitable parade; flags, transparencies and triumphal arches were in readiness, but owing to that dreadful "foggy weather," had been kept under cover so that when displayed they would have all the joyful nature of a glad surprise and add to the glittering pageant the charm of novelty. But why recount the gay preparations which now seem to mock us as we sit here desolately, while the red cross of St. George floats proudly from the foretop or mizzen or some place as the vessel which bears the Marquis and Princess bounds past Columbia's gateway! Of what avail is that despatch, which comes to us as we write, from Fort Canby, saying that our gallant boats in blue will fire a salute of twenty-one guns when the vessel passes toward the fort! The echo of the guns from the fort will but add to the poignancy of our grief. Not least in our cause for regret is the fact that the Oregonian should so ruthlessly give us away in the manner it does. The whole matter is so sad that words, idle words, are powerless. Let us mingle our tears.
