Roof-top Life in New York What do you think of the quee lives led by janitor's families? I know of a janitor who has charge of a big building down Broadway who has four little tots of children, and they don't get down into the street more than once a week or so. Two of them were born in the seventh story of an immense iron building, just ander the roof. One of them, to my certain knowledge, has never been down in the street at all. That's a fact. It will be down some day. It was born only last week. Where do you think the children's playground is? _It is the roof, and a rare, good - ground it is, too, with flowers growing on it, and everything just like a good, big, paved vard. There is a high ledge around the four sides, so there is no dauger of the youngsters' falling off. And there are clothesfines there, and tubs standing about, and clothes-pins lying on the ground-everything so natural you might easily imagine yourself in somebody's back yard. Those children seldom see anything of the world down below; and mother hardly ever does, for she has her hands full taking care of the voungsters. There is a nice. sealaded life for you, with no danger of annovance from prying neighbors. There is something ettractive about it, to. Just think of the janitor, at dark, shutting up the whole place and barring the big iron doors with himselt inside. There he is, with family about him, and all the world securely locked ont. It is as good as living in a castle with the bridge drawn up, and the most full of water. But even when the outer doors are locked the janitors are non always shut in from the world. There is a block of buildings in one of the principal business cenbeight, both building has its source and each janitor hes his the the the outer doors are building the first his the the outer doors are building has its failing the first his the the outer doors are building has its failing has its failing has its failing total t

A great many people are asking what particular troubles BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is good for.

It will cure Heart Disease, Paralysis, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all similar diseases.

Its wonderful curative power is simply because it purifies and enriches the blood, thus beginning at the foundation, and by building up the system, drives out all disease.

A Lady Cured of Rheumatism.

Baltimore, Md., May 7, 1885. My health was much shattered by Rheumatism when I commenced taking Brown's I ron Bitters, and I scarcely had strength enough to at-tend to my daily household duties. I am now using the third bottle and i am regaining strength daily, and I cheerfully recommend it to all. I cannot say too much in praise of it. Mrs. Mary E. BRASHEAN, "13 Prestmanst. 173 Pre

Kidney Disease Cured.

Heart Disease.

rt Disease. Vine St., Harrisburg, Fa. Dec. s. 1851. After trying different physicians and many remedies for palpitation of the heart without receiving any benefit.
