

The Daily Astorian

ANTORIA, OREGON. THURSDAY, JANUARY 11, 1883

Seattle physicians are about to organize a medical society.

Wasco county has taxable property to the value of $3,373,218.

Six hundred freight cars are being made at The Dalles workshops.

J. W. Raddock announces that he is prepared to do plumbing.

It is probable that the Bain case will go over to the next term of court.

The Portland street commissioner has lost his thumb. He did it with his little hatchet.

A valuable farm is advertised by Bogorth & Johns, together with the stock and miscellaneous articles.

Col. Ayers, formerly proprietor of the Los Angeles Express has been appointed state printer of California.

Geo. Weidner, of Portland, is building a narrow-gauge from the Columbia at Oak Point northward to tap the timber of that region.

On the Oregon, yesterday, was the body of G. J. Baskett, a pioneer of this state, who died at San Luis Obispo, Cal., last Thursday.

The Oregon State Temperance Alliance will hold its twelfth annual session in the city of Albany on Wednesday, Feb. 21, 1883, at 1 o'clock p.m.

The Northwest News carries a chip on its shoulder and is just aching to have the Oregonian knock it off. It declares that "war is inevitable." Hold 'em level.

Wm. Governor Morris, collector of the port of Alaska, goes out on the Columbia this morning, on his way to Washington. He is reticent in relation to the charges against him.

Ben Worsley met with a painful accident yesterday, while hoisting freight from the Jennie Landies; having mashed two of his fingers between the fly wheel and the engine bed.

The Shrubrick's boat started yesterday morning with Messrs. Richardson and Wheeler, for Tongue Point, to put up a frame for a stake light, marking a channel from Beacon No. 1.

We are informed by W. M. McCormick that he will have a laundry in operation by the 15th of March; he has rented a suitable building, and is now engaged in putting in the necessary machinery, etc.

The fog lifted yesterday afternoon, and the Oregon got in all right at three o'clock; the Columbia came down and goes to sea this morning; the Eskdale, which was stuck, got off and was above Tongue Point last evening.

It is said to be only 9 degrees colder at the North Pole than it is on the line of the Canadian Pacific at points in the Northwest territory, where it sometimes ranges 60 degrees below zero, while explorers in the Arctic regions have found the coldest register 69 degrees below.

The Portland reporters are making a tremendous fuss about the case of the El Capitano; the newspaper is not the place to try a case. Sewall is entitled to a fair trial; if he is guilty, cinch him, but all this bombastic talk "about tarring and feathering" is unjust and ill-timed.

The steamer Vancouver lies in a bad condition, and it is feared will go to pieces. The Clara Parker is still doing the hold-up act, and from appearances will continue it for some time. It may become necessary to remove her machinery and allow her to go adrift.—Northwest News, 10th.

P. B. Johnson, editor of the Walla Walla Union, was in the office yesterday, on his way home from the national capital. While there he called on President Arthur, and casually mentioning that he was not an applicant for any office, caused a gratified smile to irradiate the countenance of the executive, who seemed immensely pleased at meeting a man that had no ax to grind.

Mr. C. Leinenweber, in his tannery at upper Astoria, uses considerable bark in his establishment. He is obliged to purchase it in the interior of the state and have it shipped from Eugene. Hemlock bark of excellent quality is within a few miles of his tannery, but the Astoria land grant clouds all title and makes it impossible for him to procure it. We instance this as going to show why "those people at Astoria are always agitating this question." Have we not reason?

Council Proceedings.

The city council met in regular session last Tuesday eve, Mayor Hahn in the chair; present—Councilmen Case, Cooper, Johns and Trenchard; absent—Carruthers and Taylor.

The reports of police judge and street superintendent for Dec. were read and referred. The report of the city auditor for 1882 was ordered published; the reports of the city sexton and the city treasurer were read and referred. The claim of Thos. Logan was ordered paid; the rest were referred.

The following standing committees were appointed by the mayor—ways and means: Taylor, Case, Trenchard; health and police: Carruthers, Taylor, Johns; streets and public ways: Case, Carruthers, Trenchard; fire and water: Cooper, Johns, Carruthers; rules and regulations: Johns, Taylor, Cooper; streets and water frontage: Case, Cooper, Taylor; public property: Trenchard, Johns, Case.

A motion that the matter of renting the old engine house be referred to committee on public property, was carried, and the council adjourned.

Struck by a Sea.

The tug Pioneer arrived in yesterday afternoon, with her house battered and wheel broken. On Monday, when in fourteen fathoms of water, outside, a heavy sea struck her, breaking in the windows of the pilot house and carrying away some of the wood-work, stanchions, etc. A second wave swept through the galley, washing cooking utensils overboard and nearly drowning the cook. Pilot Campbell, who was holding to the guys of the smokestack, when the heaviest blow came, was severely injured, his arm being broken. He was put on board the Oregon last Tuesday, and on the arrival of that vessel, yesterday afternoon, was taken to St. Mary's hospital for treatment. No damage was done the tug beyond smashing the woodwork. The intention of the tug's owners is to put on a different house, now building in Portland, it being deemed that there is too much housing on the tug at present. Two hundred and fifty dollars will probably repair all damage.

Court Proceedings.

Wm. Palmer pleaded guilty to the charge preferred against him yesterday morning, and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the penitentiary. Another jury was impaneled and the case of Frank Horn, charged with shooting Police Officer Strabb, last August, was brought up. The afternoon was taken up with the testimony, several witnesses being examined. The court took a recess till seven o'clock, and upon reassembling, argument for the defense began, followed by a presentation of the case on behalf of the state; the case was then given to the jury.

Health journals say that to retain a sound constitution a man must lie on the right side. How are men that run political newspapers able to tell which is the right side?

A. C. Garrison, who was changing Squire's opera house in Seattle to a hotel, was recently arrested on a requisition from the governor of New Mexico, charged with fraud and embezzlement in that territory. On account of his "social distinction" he was allowed considerable latitude while awaiting passage to San Francisco, and managed to give the deputy sheriff the slip. Chas. Gause, the agent who arrested him is on the Columbia, lying here, and feels cheap to be doing him without his man, though he did all he could.
