The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

SATURDAY.....JANUARY 13, 1883

—A new postoffice has been established at Hebo, Tillamook county.

—The only correct picture of Jumbo is in Cooper's east window.

—Jas. L. Wiley, a Yamhill county pioneer, died at Newberg, on the 5th inst., aged 72.

—The wheat market starts off well for the new year, $1.76 and $1.77 are the Portland quotations.

—The new "sunset route" from San Francisco through Texas to New Orleans, was completed yesterday.

—Seattle sends greeting to San Francisco, and furnishes the villagers a 47 pound turnip to gaze upon.

—The Standard says that Portland, like all other cities, appears to have fallen into the hands of street contractors.

—It is now thought that the death list in the fearful hotel fire at Milwaukee, last Wednesday, will reach one hundred.

—The N. P. R. R. earnings for the first week of this month were $118,200; for the corresponding week last January, $55,406.

—We are in receipt of a handsome five color, all wool, yard wide calendar for '83; it is a thing of beauty and a joy for—365¼ days.

—It is thought that there will be no river and harbor bill passed by congress this session. We can wait. It's only a little longer.

—The Chico Enterprise, the leading paper of northern California, has passed under the charge of Jessie Wood, a man of literary culture and professional ability.

—A Frenchman has invented a velocipede that can be made to go twenty-two miles an hour. This is even swifter than Willie Warren's best time on his bicycle.

—The dedication of the new Presbyterian church will take place Sunday at 11 A. M. Rev. E. T. Lee, pastor of Calvary Presbyterian church, Portland, will preach the sermon.

—The steam marine of Puget Sound consists of fifty-one boats, of all sizes, ranging from 473 tons down to 4 tons. The oldest is the Goliah, built in 1839, in New York. The total tonnage is 5,848,83.

—A "young lady" who wants to set type, advertises in the San Francisco Chronicle for a situation as "compositress." The authoress, if a good workress, may, after a while be an editress, or a proprietress.

—"The largest salmon taken in the Tweed, last year, weighed sixty-nine pounds." That is pretty good, but it doesn't begin to come up to that fish story that the directory men got into their description of Astoria.

—We are in receipt of the Northwestern News, published at Davenport, Iowa. The proprietors ought to know better than to send their paper out this way. They may have an injunction suit, restraining title, on their hands before long.

—The inside work on the new Odd Fellows' building progresses. The gas fixtures, water mains, etc., are all completed, and the lathers and plasters have possession, though the plastering cannot be hurried on account of the circumambient dampness.

—The latest charge against President Arthur is that he is guilty of writing poetry. Chet. has doubtless done things in his life that should be overlooked, but if this charge is proven against him we shall refuse to exchange cards with his Accidency.

—The Northwest News and the New Northwest are still in trouble about titles. That which the proprietors call the New Northwest by any other name would be as neat, but they were there first. Toss up a four-bit piece; heads or tails—which—and save legal fees.

—The Baptist church is being painted within; services will not be held in it Sunday. Dr. Scott and his congregation will attend the dedicatory services in the Presbyterian church in the morning and he will preach at a union service in the Methodist church at night.

—The offices of the New York Times, the Philadelphia Ledger and other newspapers, are lighted by electricity. We have not yet decided whether we shall have our new office lighted by gas or electricity; the trouble with the electric light seems to be that it injures the eyes of the compositors, especially when they set standing.

A Bonanza of Bones.

A gentleman who is exploring the wilds of Montana and Idaho, writes that not far from Custer's battle ground on the Little Horn river, is a place where are to be found regular drifts of petrified wood and bones of extinct animals. There are to be seen great numbers of petrified logs with one end buried in the side of the bluff and the other protruding out and breaking off in blocks. He says: Some of these are three feet in diameter, with each year's growth plainly visible in the grain. In the same bluff are tusks of the Meageatherium as large around as a man's body which are likewise imbedded at one end and breaking off into blocks at the other. The porous inside under the enameled surface are unmistakable proof that they are bones. Both the trees and the tusks are as black as coal at the exposed ends, but gray in color where covered by the hill.

Marine News.

The Queen of the Pacific arrived in yesterday morning, put off sixty-eight tons of freight and left up at 2:15 P. M.

The Umatilla crossed to sea at three o'clock on her way to the Sound.

The Eskdale is loading and will clear as soon as she gets a crew.

The Fulda came down yesterday.

The Lanarkshire and Jas. Livesay left up yesterday morning.

The Pendragon is ready for sea. She has 31,267 bus. wheat, worth $34,148, and 12,325 barrels flour, worth $55,465.

The Oregon and Eureka are due today, the former hence to San Francisco, the latter to Alaska and way ports.

Cape Hancock Record.

CAPE HANCOCK, Jan. 12—Noon. Fine weather; wind N. W., light; bar moderate. Gen. Miles crossed out at 10. Queen crossed in at 10:45. Nothing in sight. Brenham in port.

—The Gen. Miles went to Tillamook yesterday morning, and is expected back in time to go to Grays harbor to-morrow.

—Last Wednesday's San Francisco Chronicle displays wonderful journalistic enterprise. It prints in full, the new city charter—thirty-nine columns of solid nonpareil—the document itself having been in the hands of the framers up to a late hour the previous night.

—The Willamette Farmer publishes what it is pleased to call "a complete list of ships that cleared from the Columbia river during the year ending Jan. 1st, 1883." In the list we find the names of 45 vessels. Where are the other 90? Why publish one-third of the truth, or didn't you, O, Willamette Farmer, get your usual copy of THE ASTORIAN?

—On the 4th inst. a man named Wm. Stretch, aged 24 years, says the Port Townsend Argus, fell overboard from the British bark Prince Rupert, while off the entrance of the straits, and owing to the very heavy weather that prevailed at the time, he was drowned, although a life buoy was thrown and a boat lowered to his assistance in which the mate and three men risked their lives in attempting to save him.

—That life at a Montana railroad "front" is not of the most calm and peaceful description, is well illustrated by the following extract from a letter which has reached Walla Walla, dated at Noxen, M. T., Nov. 29th: I well not try to tell you of the character of the people, and will only say that at the front, last Thursday, a blast was fired off and twelve dead bodies arose to the surface of the river. Six of them were got out, four had their throats cut, and two had been shot. Every day two or three get killed by foul play, or come up missing.

—The steamer Shubrick is now lying at the slip south of the O.R. & N. dock, undergoing a general overhauling. The vessel which was built in 1857 is a little behind the times, and is not adapted to the duties of this coast whereon her duties lie. We understand that the secretary of the treasury has recommended an appropriation of $100,000 to build a vessel for this 13th light house district, which will be on the same model as the Manzanita, which was originally intended for this district, but was given to our friends of the 12th from San Diego to Cape Blanco.

Throw Physic to the Dogs, I'll None of It."

We do not feel like blaming Macbeth for this expression of disgust. Even nowadays most of the cathartics are great repulsive pills, enough to "turn one's stomach." Had Macbeth ever taken Dr. Pierce's "Purgative Pellets" he would not have uttered those words of contempt. By druggists.

M. F. LAWRENCE, Teacher.

—Holden's furniture sale is at eleven o'clock this morning.

—A pretty little newspaper quarrel is going on in Portland. Briefly it is this: The Oregonian says that Thos. A. Sutherland, editor of the Sunday Welcome, was offered the position of editor in chief of the Northwest News. That paper denies it. Mrs. Duniway's paper editorially states that the party who tendered the place to Mr. Sutherland says he received his instructions from the manager of the new paper. There's a—a—a mistake somewhere. However it is a good enough pretext for a row, and one that will do for the ructions that are daily expected. It's fun to look on.

Frank Fabre's Oyster and Chop House.

Frank Fabre announces that he now keeps his house open all night for the accommodation of his patrons. Those wishing to get a nice plate of Eastern or Shoalwater bay oysters cooked in any style, or an early breakfast before going aboard the boat, should call and see him. Fresh Eastern and Shoalwater bay oysters received by every steamer.

Circuit Court.

The attention of the court yesterday, the tenth day of its session was taken up by the examination of witnesses in one of the cases of kidnapping, wherein Jas. Franklin is charged with that offense. The case was again taken up in the evening, and now goes to the jury. There is a good deal of criminal business yet on the docket, but as the judge announces his intention to leave for The Dalles next Friday, it is probable that considerable will have to go over to the next term of court. This is a cause of considerable expense to the county. There are a good many witnesses now under per diem, who will not, in all probability, be wanted before next August, yet they are in attendance as required; it would be much better if this matter of creating a district composed of both ends of the state could have been obviated in some way, but until Clatsop county sends some one to represent her in the legislature she must expect to play second fiddle.

In court yesterday, Wm. DeLosh mutt, convicted of the charge of attempting to kidnap Jas. Cannon, was sentenced to three years in the state prison. Frank Horne, convicted of a charge of assault with a deadly weapon was given the same sentence.

What's the Use of Talking?
