

The Daily Astorian

ASTORIA, OREGON:
WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1923

St. Valentine's day.

Wheat is one dollar a bushel at Salem.

Several vessels will be down this week.

The net tonnage of the Jas. A. Garfield is 300.26.

The schooner Enterprise sailed for Shoshone Bay last Sunday.

The recent cold interfered seriously with the Shoshone bay oyster trade.

The Columbia Chronicle has been sold to Messrs. Wilson and McCully for $5,000.

Frank Baltics came down from the metropolis on yesterday afternoon's boat.

The British bark Casper is in Baker's Bay. She goes to the Sound to load lumber.

Over one thousand human beings were drowned, burned, frozen and mangled during January.

Gustave Hansen goes below on the Queen to day. He will be accompanied by his daughter.

"I guess they forgot to cook this doughnut," was the comment of a Yaquina youth upon opening a cream puff at a church social.

Carl Adler and wife leave San Francisco to day en route for home. Captain Hunter comes up on the next trip of the Queen.

The building of the government telegraph from Port Angeles to Cape Flattery has been much delayed by heavy weather and lack of material.

The first comet of 1923 is announced. The weather will be too cloudy to-night, but the comet is in the sky, just south of those bright stars known as the belt of Orion.

During the heavy rains there were 80 washouts on the line of the Northern Pacific between Sprague and Astoria, and 50,000 ties were washed away at Palouse Junction.

A little San Francisco boy told his father that he had seen the milkman kiss his mother. Then the father shot the mother; then he tried to kill himself. Now it transpires that the S. F. boy lied.

A coroner's inquest was held yesterday afternoon on the body of John Junge, who was drowned Sunday evening. The verdict was accidental death by drowning. The funeral takes place this afternoon.

The Hop Growers' association, which was recently formed in Seattle, W. T., has secured about 700 acres of land on the Snoqualmie prairie, which will be planted in hops this year. About thirty men are now engaged in cutting poles and preparing land for the roots.

George Foster's logging railroad on the west side, near Olympia, W. T., is being graded as fast as sixteen men can work. It commences near the end of the trestle, above the railroad depot, and runs toward the Black River. Two miles are ready for the ties, which are now being hauled. Iron rails will be used on this road.

The Oregon Short Line track is near the Wood River junction. That place is to be known as Shoshone Junction. Trains will be running to Shoshone Junction just as soon as the road is completed to that point, and work will progress on the Wood River branch north and also on the main line west, as fast as possible. Pullman cars will reach Hailey by May 1st.

Yesterday was one of those dear, delightful days when all our doors are slippery and slushy, and the fine weather overhead though affording sunny transit for the few who may be going that way, only adds the bitterness of contrast to our poor mortals who must trudge on earth's winding way. The only gleam of satisfaction is that it can't be any worse, any change being for the better.

Tillamook county residents are justly complaining of lack of mail facilities, and from the same causes as our Pacific and Chehalis county neighbors recently suffered—cheap service. Eastern men take mail contracts away below what the work is worth and then submit the work to parties who sometimes can't do all they agree. Our Tillamook friends are just as much entitled to mail service as though they lived on the line of a nickle plated railroad and should receive attention.

Nipped.

A couple of sports who came up from California last Monday afternoon, started in to work the town immediately upon arriving, and tried the racket on ten saloon keepers. The second attempt resulted in landing them in the city jail. The trick was new once, but is getting ancient. Two individuals enter a saloon, call for the drinks and put down a ten-dollar gold piece. They get back a $5 piece and $4.75 in silver as change. The one who pays then puts his hand into his pocket, and picks out a two-bit piece and putting it with the $4.75 in silver asks the barkeep to give him $5 in gold for it. While the barkeep is fishing it out, the man, unnoticed, slips the $5 gold piece into his pocket, leaving the $5 in silver still lying on the counter, where the barkeep places the $5 in gold. Then the brace of worthies call for two more drinks, the money being allowed to lie there. Then one of them goes down in his pocket, plunks down another two-bit piece for the last drinks, shoves the $5 in gold and the $5 in silver over to the barkeep, and asks for a $10 piece for it. Having got it they slip out, just $4.50 and four drinks ahead of the little game. The chaps that tried it on last Monday night were not sharp enough to escape detection. Officer Hunter and Sheriff Twombly arrested the two in Sorey's saloon where they were trying it on, and on the way to the jail one of them tried to shake Hunter off and get away, but he was persuaded to go in to a cell. We are not just positive what form the charge against them must be to hold, but they should be cinched on general principles. In a case like this we discard our free trade ideas and believe in protection.

"Esmeralda."

Every one remembers the play of "Hazel Kirke" which was produced here by the Madison Square Theater company a few months ago. Under the same management a play called "Esmeralda" has been meeting with extraordinary success, having run for 350 nights in New York city. The same management has been presenting the play in San Francisco where it has received the warmest encomiums of the press and public. The company leave San Francisco on to-morrow's steamer, and will present the play to an Astoria audience next Friday evening. The talented authoress is Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett. She has a married sister residing in this city.

The play needs no endorsement; it is a pure domestic drama, is American throughout, and is fortunate in its production by a management who have always presented plays of sterling merit. Reserved seats at Strans' New York novelty store.

The Queen of the Pacific will be down from Portland to-day. Senator-elect Dolph is on board, en route to Washington. From the Oregonian we learn that he has resigned his office as president of the Oregon Improvement Company, and C. H. Prescott has been elected to succeed him, now filling both the office of president and manager.

Along the docks may be found a good part of our coasting fleet; the North Bend, just in from San Francisco with a big load of cannery supplies and machinery; the Ona, bound for Portland; the Kate and Anna also in from Tillamook; the Gen. Miles which goes to Gray's harbor this morning, and a host of lesser craft that bring business to Astoria and help build up our trade.

The Renfrewshire, 80 days from Cardiff, was reported inside the bar at five yesterday afternoon. She has till to-morrow to get here; after that her charter is forfeited. The British ship Erato is now 141 days from Adelaide. Her charter expires to-morrow also, and it is probable she will not make the rifle as the outlook at the Cape reports "nothing in sight" last evening. The owners will be out fifteen shillings a ton on her return cargo, by her failure to arrive.

Mitros Oxide Gas.

Painless extraction of teeth at Dr. LaForce's dental rooms over I. W. Case's store.

Carpenters' tools, Disston's saws, Bailey's planes; builders' supplies, at A. Van Dusen & Company's. New goods constantly arriving.

WANTED.—3 furnished or unfurnished rooms for light housekeeping in a private house—to be occupied March 15th. Address W. E. T. ASTORIAN office.

Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded day or night at J. W. Case's drug store, opposite Occident Hotel.

The very finest chocolate creams at the Pioneer factory, opposite the Bell Tower. Oerkwitz is the boy that makes them.

Shoshone bay oysters: fresh every day, at Frank Fabre's.

Oregon Lands and Surveys.

The commissioner of the general land office in his report of the surveys of Oregon for the year 1882 states that twelve surveying contracts were awarded of which six were completed, three were finished, but not returned, and of the remaining three the deputies are still in the field. The estimated liabilities for this work is $19,408, and the amount paid out $13,031.19.

The amount of special deposits by individuals for the survey of the public lands during the fiscal year, is $158,664, of which $142,323.74 was for field work and $15,645 for office work. The number of contracts let under these deposits 47, the cost of survey was $33,452.88; amount paid deputy surveyors, $34,088.52. Only 14 contracts were completed. The area surveyed during the year is 4,564,327 acres; number of miles run and marked, 16,075. The surveyor general's estimates for the surveying service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1884, are as follows: For survey of standard and exterior, and subdivision lines, $45,000; for survey of Indian reservations if abandoned and ordered surveyed, $45,000.

The commissioner further says in conclusion of his report on Oregon: "During the past year the increase of population in the state has been beyond all precedents. Oregon is one of the centers of attraction for immigrants, and thousands are arriving in the state in search of homes. This is shown by the constantly increasing demand for the extension of public surveys. The expense of territory surveyed in Oregon during the fiscal year has been very large, and yet applications are daily made for additional surveys."

Andersen.

Alfred Andersen is beginning to show a little sign of weakening, but is making a strong effort to keep up his courage. It is the opinion with some Scandinavians who have talked with him that he will yet make a clean breast of the murder of his brother. The idea is a mistake that his countrymen as well as Americans convicted him before trial, for while they were all ready to believe him guilty, they nevertheless crowded into the court house to hear him explain how he came in possession of so much money on the day that his brother disappeared. Refusing to do this when he had an opportunity eluded public opinion. Had the law closed his mouth and prevented him from making a statement there might be just grounds for doubt as to his guilt. He lies on his couch most of the time, and has refused to eat anything since Saturday, which indicates the fact that fear is taking possession of him. He watches the workmen fitting up the cage which is to hold him until he is taken out to his death, apparently unconcerned.

Bertha Nelson is still held as a witness. She has been crying a great deal since the verdict was rendered, and feels very unhappy over the tragedy. Being a total stranger in this part of the country, the Women's Christian Society will have to look after her, lest more misery be added to her already hard lot.—Portland Standard.

The State Seal.

Every engraving of the state seal of Oregon that we have seen in print bears date of 1857, which is two years earlier than the admission of the state into the union. The constitution was framed by a convention chosen at the general election on the first Monday in June, 1857. The convention met at Salem on the third Monday of the following August, and adjourned in September. The constitution was submitted to a vote of the electors of the territory on November 9, 1857, and was adopted by a vote of 7,175 to 3,105 against it. On February 14, 1859, the act of congress admitting Oregon into the union with this constitution was approved by the president, from which time it was deemed to have become a state. From the time of the formation of the constitution until the admission, the territorial government continued in full force and authority. The great seal in the secretary of state's office bears the proper date—1859. Eugene Guard.

Two New Steamers.

News was received from New York yesterday, that the Oregon Railway and Navigation company have just let contracts for two steel, side wheel, walking-beam steamboats for the Puget Sound and Victoria passenger trade. They will be alike in every respect, 260 feet long, 33 feet beam, and will draw 12 feet. Each will have state-room accommodations for 300 passengers, and for 1,500 day passengers, and the pair will cost $250,000. Their speed will be 20 miles per hour. They will come around the Horn under sail and steam, and the contract requires that they be delivered in Puget Sound waters by December 15th, of this year. It is needless to add that they will be the best and the swiftest boats in the Pacific waters. They have been ordered to meet the constantly growing travel northward, and will be used exclusively for passengers.—Oregonian, 13.

Don't Forget the "Secodont."

It is a regularly after each meal. It removes the gums and makes them healthy, so that they hold in the teeth firmly. It removes the tartar, gives comfort, is economical of health and money, and when once used will never be given up. Try IT.

Try It.

"I like it better than any remedy I have ever used, because it leaves my bowels in better condition," is the remark made by everyone when referring to Secodont of Figs. That is one of the principal reasons why Syrup of Figs is taking the place of all the liver medicines and nauseous cathartics heretofore used. Try it. W. E. Dement & Co., sole agents for Astoria.
