PIXILEY in his Argonaut has got back to abusing the Irish again. He has been saying all the mean things he can think of about Jews the fast month but the coming 17th of March has the same effect upon Pick that a scarlet shawi has upon a turkey gobbler. The fact that he announces his intention to observe the penitential season of Lept may be taken as foreshadowing a change of heart on the part of the San Francisco editor.

"Tis a good many years ago since A. H. Stephens challenged Senator Ben Hill of Georgia, to fight a duel. Hill declined on the ground that the conditions were unequal. "I," said he to Stephens. "have a soul to save, and a family to care for; you have neither." Now, Ben Hill sleeps under six feet of southern sod; Stephens is governor of Georgia, and finds the executive mansion too small for his nine children.

SENATOR HOAR, of Massachu setts, is satirical. Speaking of the exhaustive eloquence of Senator ASTORIA. - - - - OREGON Beck, of Kentucky, he says that "Beck rests his mind while talking." But the Blue Grass Solon comes back with the statement that Hoar reminds him of that sterile tract of ground in Virginia which John Randolph said was poor by nature and exhausted by

THE fact that five of the newly elected congressmen are debtors to the government causes the delicate question to arise, "Shall the government garnishee the salary, and it's, how shall it be done?" Here is a good chance for the Standard to argue the inalienable rights of sovereign states.

THE S. F. Bulletin informs the public that the new railroad so long talked of from Winnemucca, Nev., "north to the Columbia river at Watla Walla," is about to become a reality. Its reason for the assertion is the fact that the Central Pacific railroad company include it in their new map.
