ASTORIA, OREGON:

WEDNESDAY..FEBRUARY 28, 1883

"King Cophetua's Wife," a new serial by James Berry Bensel, whose anonymous novel last year met with such success, will be begun in the Overland for March, 1883. Prof. Martin Kellogg, in a sensible paper entitled "Our West," will try to correct some eastern misapprehensions. A careful historical paper will be contribated by Chares H. Shinn. Poems by Milicent Washburn Shinn, Edmund Warren Russell, and others; stories and sketches by Josephine Clifford, Mary H. Field, and others, will also be found in the number, with all the usual departments, serials, reviews, etc.

The eternal bobbing of the scales of life was illustrated at New York the other day in the arest of a dirty, drunken, penniless rascal who once figured in New York politics as Senator Thomas J. Creamer-one of Tweed's lackeys, then worth half a million.

With the entire present population of the United States concentrated in California, Oregon and Washington, there would still be room for from 10,000,000 to 15,-000,000, without exceeding the population per square mile of either France or Germany.

At a recent auction sale of unclaimed parcels in Wells, Fargo & Co.'s office at Pueblo, Colorado, James Thompson paid a dollar for a box, which proved to contain two gold bricks, worth over eleven thousand dollars.

Mr. B. P. Owen, city editor of the Richmond Whig, was cured by an application of St. Jacobs LOEB & CO. Oil of severe pains.
