

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: TUESDAY MARCH 20, 1883 Dry Weather.

The present dry spell is something phenomenal. Not for twenty years has there been such an appearance of drought. For the last six weeks there has been almost uninterrupted sunshine...

At the New York office of the Oregon and Transcontinental company it was stated that advices last Saturday announced the acceptance by the London stockholders of a proposition made at a meeting of the Oregon and Transcontinental company...

When J. H. MITCHELL was defeated last fall, the prophecy was made that "the end is not yet." A post mortem examination is now being made of the latest official appointment—that of A. B. Crossman, as Salem postmaster...

Recent comment on the failure of State Treasurer Hirschen to favor the Salem Statesman with official patronage, seems to justify that official in his omission. We believe the Statesman to be right in the matter...

The editor of the Colorado Register-Call has in his time reported twenty-two hangings and executions throughout the United States, and he can recall but three cases where the men who died with a rope around their necks did not proclaim from the balcony before the trap was sprung that they had found the Sweet Fields of Eden...

NORTHWESTERN immigration will assume large proportions this season. Already they are coming in by hundreds. They are mostly from the Mississippi valley, the foreign immigrants are from Northern Europe, and are a hearty people...

NEW TO-DAY. To All Whom It May Concern. ON AND AFTER THIS DATE THE Louishoremen of Astoria, in the event of any vessel loading or discharging at any point on the Columbia river from Walker's Island to the mouth of the Columbia river...
