

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: FRIDAY, MARCH 30, 1888

Pointers.

An International electric exhibition will be held this year at Vienna under the patronage of Archduke Rudolph of Austria.

A bill prescribing the whipping post as the penalty for wife whipping has passed the Illinois house of representatives.

In response to a recent advertisement in New York for four lady copyists at $10 per week, there were over three hundred applicants.

Persecution of Jews in Russia continues. The latest outrage reported is an attempt to blow up a Jewish bank at Taganrog with dynamite.

It is now said that there is no foundation for the report started some time since that the Prince of Wales intended visiting the United States this year.

The contractors for the 280 miles of the Northern Pacific railroad remaining to be constructed promise that the gap will be closed before the 1st of September next.

Three foreign industrial exhibitions will attract tourists this year. The most pretentious is to be held in Amsterdam, and affords our manufacturers a good opportunity for bringing their wares into notice abroad.

Frederick N. Crouch, the composer of "Kathleen Mavourneen," is a gray-haired man, who lives on poor fare in Baltimore. A tattered coat of Confederate gray keeps some of the cold out.

The Boston Transcript says the tariff is instituted to protect American laboring people, and so complete is this protection that the owners of a cotton mill have made arrangements to bring 450 mill girls from Galway.

Rutland, Vt., is to have a monument to her citizen soldiers which will have some unique features about it. The plan is for a fire-proof library building of marble, in whose main hall shall be, not tablets of brass or marble, as is usual, but a great book of vellum, bound in metal and written in India ink.

The Boston Herald sees no good reason why a republic should pension its superannuated civil servants. They choose the service voluntarily; they do not expose their lives in the discharge of duty.

table lands between Herberston and the Queensland coast. He reports that this highly favored region possesses a flora of incredible luxuriance, broad sheets of water falling over high basaltic precipices and the richest soil in Australia, and is inhabited by tribes exhibiting characteristics which distinguish them from the other natives of Queensland.

In response to a question as to the future of the Democratic party, Congressman Singleton, of Illinois, a democratic member recently said: "If there is a hole that the democrats can fall into they will do it. If they will judiciously utilize the advantages they now possess, their future is a bright one. The trouble is that we have got too large a majority in the next congress. Too many men want to lead. Presidential aspirants among us may be our downfall. If prudent, we can hold the sentiment of the country now in our favor, make a clean record and win the presidency. It is fortunate for us that the republicans passed the tariff bill. The democrats would have been torn all to pieces in attempting to adjust it next winter. The southern men are getting to be protectionists, and in twenty years the greatest claims for protection will come from the southern states."

Prof. Lendstrom has succeeded in creating an artificial aurora borealis. At a point in Finland, 67 degrees north, he placed a network of copper wire, terminating in many perpendicular points, on the top of two mountains, one of which is 6,000 feet high. This network of wire he connected with the earth at the bottom of each hill, in the usual manner. The result was the formation of an aurora borealis, rising above the mountain top to an elevation estimated at 360 feet. The atmospheric electricity attracted to the earth by the copper created this phenomenon.

It is thought that the snail pace of the C. P. trains may be quickened by competition this season. The Jarrett-Palmer troupe in 1875 demonstrated that good time could be made across the continent if the railroad management would allow it. When all four lines get to running, the transcontinental traveler will be assured quick passage.

"Call no man happy till he dies," said the sage. The Arkansas legislature has changed the name of Dorsey county to De Soto county.

During the first nine days of February there were ninety-one suicides in Berlin. John Brown, Queen Victoria's favorite Scotch gillie, died at Windsor castle last Wednesday.
