Is It Not True?

There can be no argument as to the qualities essential to a perfect remedy for the ills arising from a disordered or inactive condition of the liver, stomach and bowels. Everyone will admit that it should be perfectly safe for old and young of both sexes, at any and all times; that it should be acceptable both to the taste and the stomach; that it should never fail to act promptly and the stomach to the taste and the stomach; that it should never fail to act promptly and thoroughly, yet painlessly, and it should give strength to those organs. It is now well known that Syrup of Figs possesses those qualities in a pre-eminent degree. W. E. Dement is agent for
