

The Daily Astorian. ASTORIA, OREGON: SATURDAY, MAY 5, 1883

In all Charity. It is said to be a characteristic of the Bourbons that they never learn anything and never forget anything. An article in yesterday's Oregonian illustrates the fact that the mental status of that ancient regime finds a parallel in some newspaper offices.

The Oregonian's argument—if argument it may be called—is that Portland is a seaport—for seagoing vessels drawing 17 feet, and, therefore, q. e. d. no effort should be made to change the existing state of affairs, and make the Columbia the resort of vessels of heavy draught, such as should by right come here.

But in concluding, it does not dismiss us without a benediction. It graciously informs Astoria that it can ship salmon from her docks; this is a discovery that the Oregonian has made since its issue of the 30th ult., where salmon shipments and possible Puget Sound rivalry combined, disturbed its usual serenity.

We would not rudely ruffle the feelings of our inland friends by more than passing reference to the fact that the existence of present modes in no way precludes the introduction of better ones, but will reserve the privilege of setting our Willamette contemporary in the right path whenever it falls to whimpering over what it cannot help, or makes statements which tend to create impressions abroad that are in direct opposition to facts.

Speaking seriously, the whole business amounts to this: The Oregonian has always pished and pool-pooched at the idea of any other place beside Portland amounting to anything. It has sneered at The Dalles, thrown cold water on the locks at the Cascades, endeavored to apologize for its own situation 110 miles from the sea, derided all efforts to improve the bar, and continually maintained that the whole northwest must be made tributary to Portland.

Net Lost. A SHORT DISTANCE ABOVE TONGUE Point about 30 fathoms 45 mesh net, Cords and lines marked J. G. M. & Co. A suitable reward will be paid if returned to J. G. MECLER & CO. Brookfield, Or to Str. Edith.

Ice Delivered to Order. FRANK FABRE IS PREPARED TO DELIVER THE BEST quality of ice at 25 cents per pound, in quantities from ten pounds up to Hotels, Saloons, Restaurants, or Families, leaving their orders with him. Large quantities of ice constantly on hand.

serves credit for its prestige, but it should remember that every community on the northwest contributed to its support. Power always presupposes corresponding responsibility, and the fact that it is the foremost paper of the Northwest, is the very reason why it should exhibit less virulence and more magnanimity.

The Coming Flood. "I hear the tread of pioneers; Of nations yet to be; The first low rush of waves where soon Shall roll the human sea."

The immigration to this northwest coast is something phenomenal. Over the Columbia bar since last New Years have come upwards of 20,000 people. And that multitude is but the advance guard of a greater army that is moving on to take possession of "the waste places," and make—not the "desert," but the fruitful soil blossom as the rose.

The great majority of these newcomers are a help to the country and themselves by remaining. Some few come here forgetful of the fact that wherever one goes he takes himself along; that no change of climate or scenery or surroundings can change his characteristics; that if he is idle and profligate he will go to the bad about as quickly here as elsewhere.

But to the energetic of soul, who demonstrate their value, the world, or that part of it represented by this northwest coast will gladly pay them what they are worth.

Street Grade Notice. NOTICE is hereby given that the Common Council propose to establish the grade of that portion of Squemoqua street from the west side of Lafayette street to the west side of Spruce street, as follows, viz: At its intersection with Lafayette street, 26 feet; at Washington street, 30 feet; at Polk, 40 feet; at Jackson, 55 feet; at Madison, 80 feet; at Spruce, 80 feet above the base of grades, and unless a remonstrance signed by the owners of two-thirds of the property fronting on said portion of said street be filed with the Auditor and Clerk within ten days of the final publication of this notice, viz: May 26th, 1883, the Common Council will order said grade established.
