

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: SUNDAY, MAY 20, 1883

Land Grants to Railroads.

The public treasury is not the only sufferer from the careless or crooked dealing of the government in its gifts of lands to railroad companies.

Our own vicinity does not by any means furnish the only instance. Among others may be instanced the Iowa Falls and Sioux City road which has received 25,000 acres more than it is entitled to under its original grant.

The government in its dealings with land grant railroads has acted not only with the lavishness but the carelessness of a spendthrift who fancies that his resources can never be exhausted, and who has a contempt for keeping accounts.

Pointers.

The duty upon opium entering the United States has been raised from $6 to $10 per pound—the high rate going into effect July next.

A Southern man who during the height of the craze named his son "Pinafore" hopes he'll die before the boy gets big enough to lick him.

The Reno (Nev.) people are alarmed at the possibility of eruption from an immense volcano which is believed to be slumbering under Lake Tahoe.

Eighteen cows were killed in one day on the line of the Ohio railroad 160 miles long. Unfortunately, they had no refrigerator cars on the train.

Joquin Miller says the daily newspaper is the "six-shooter of civilization." Then a man who carries a newspaper in his pocket is liable to be arrested for carrying concealed weapons.

The Oregonian crystallizes a volume of financial truth in this sentence. "The only way to make money easy and cheap is to let it entirely alone." That's the exact size of the whole question.

A man breathes about eighteen times a minute and uses 3,000 cubic feet, or about three hundred and seventy-five hogsheads of air per minute. Think of this when you are tempted to eat onions.

The Khedive of Egypt has his family doctor and his horse doctor, and while the first is paid a salary of $3,000 per year the second is paid about $9,000. The Khe. is not the man to take any chances on losing a horse.

Germany is astonished to find that at least sixty per cent of the pupils in every school are near-sighted or otherwise defective in vision. Keeping one eye on the teacher and the other on the lesson is awful hard work.

A New York milliner has set the country in a flutter by discovering that only one woman in ten wears the plume on the fashionable side of the hat. When you see a woman with two plumes just admire her sharpness.

Secretary Chandler has ordered some of the naval officers in that part of the world to attend the coronation of the Czar. They are glad of it. It will be a great relief to their minds to leave Chandler's Robeson navy for awhile, and take their chances with dynamite.

It is a custom in the Prussian royal family that every prince shall be apprenticed to a trade, in order that, in case of a revolution, he may be able to earn his living. In pursuance of this rule the present Crown Prince was taught watchmaking, and is said to be a fair workman.

The Kern County Californian exposes a bit of superstition as follows: "Every Friday the passenger train from the north comes over the road nearly empty. It was the passenger train of that day which was destroyed at Tehachia Pass in January last, more than forty passengers losing their lives."

General Nelson A. Miles has bought the Stone mansion in New York. The place was once the cause of a cruel rumor about John Sherman. It was said that he had got hold of the Stone property and was lobbying to get a new executive mansion built out there.

It is said to reflect that the government might save itself the cost of advertising in the New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Baltimore newspapers for bids for the construction of the new steel cruisers, since every one of the only four firms in the United States which are in a condition to do the work knew all about the matter already, and it is said have arranged things peacefully so that they will not bid very fiercely against each other.

This touching little incident is from the Rochester Post. One rises from its perusal with mixed feelings: "A beautiful young girl was about to be married to a bachelor seventy years of age, but very rich. On the eve of her marriage she learned that his wealth had been suddenly swept away, leaving him a penniless old man. Did the noble girl desert him in this hour of trouble? She did indeed, and her parents helped her, too.

This country's hospitality is practically boundless. It welcomes heartily all those who are able and willing to work, but it has no welcome for those who come here to set up in the business of begging or of becoming a charge upon those who do work. The country has exceedingly few paupers of its own and does not desire to become the almshouse of the world, and our government should be prompt and emphatic in notifying the world that she cannot allow this system to be continued.

The Rev. Talmage prepared a recent spring sermon and met with as severe a disappointment as a woman does in a new bonnet on a rainy Easter. "The Time of the Singing of the Birds has Come," he announced as his text, and just at that moment the snow beat against the church windows. But Talmage is not easily disconcerted. As he heard the sleet upon the pines he remarked: "As the artist draws a curtain over the studio, that he may better present his picture, so the dark clouds of this stormy morning will help us better to work out the scene of the text."

Mrs. Bell, the wife of the telephone inventor, if deaf and dumb. That is why her husband is so fond of her. For in contriving an audiphone for her infirmity he hit upon the idea of the telephone. She is a very beautiful woman, and her face has proven a small fortune to a Cincinnati artist who came to Washington and lived in obscurity until she gave him a sitting, when he had the good luck to make a beautiful picture, which attracts crowds to the Corcoran gallery and patronage to the painter. Women can learn from this how much good they can do by being deaf and dumb.

The New York Times has discovered that after July 1 any American manufacturer may secure the absolute exclusion from the country of competing foreign goods by adopting the foreign name or trade-mark for his own product. Section 2497 of the new tariff law prohibits the importation of "watches, watch cases, watch movements, or any other article of foreign manufacture," which "copy or simulate the name or trade-mark of any domestic manufacturer." After the home producer has copied the name or trade mark of the foreign product, the foreign product will of course bear a copy of the name of trade-mark of the home product.

On the coming Fourth of July in San Francisco Gen. Sherman is expected to grace the occasion with his presence.

The Garfield monument committee will put a $50,000 monument at Washington.
