

The Daily Astorian. ASTORIA, OREGON: WEDNESDAY, MAY 30, 1883

Decoration Day. To-day, throughout the Union the graves of the gallant dead are flower-strewn, and in crowded city cemeteries, by winding streams, in quiet churchyards, and on sun-crowned cenotaphs, is observed the sad and sacred ceremony of decorating the graves of our fallen heroes. The observance of the day is a peculiar one, and while it brings up sad memories of those stormy years of battle, it should not bring a trace of the bitterness that was felt when Lee laid down his sword in the first glow of early summer eighteen years ago. "The mystic chords of memory" reach back in vibratory measure to those battle fields where the brave men whose memory we to-day commemorate laid down their lives that "a government of the people, by the people, and for the people, should not perish from the earth;" but these chords that thrill in woe when touched by the memory of the past must sound a strain of hope and comfort when touched by that brighter nature that looks to the future.

When every chord has been sounded by the mad fingers of passion, and every string shaken by the pitiless hand of pain, when the whole being can cry out from the depths of agony that it knows itself; then can one read by this heaven-kindled torch, all the broken hopes, the unfinished histories that blot and make illegible the heart scrolls of a nation's greatness, and reading through falling tears one must grow pitiful and sadly reflect upon the changes and mutations that overwhelm us all.

Pointers. JOINT tenants—Chinese lessees of an opium den. Mississippi is reported to be the only state in the Union that has not got a brewery or distillery. Immigration just now at New York is largely Italian and Scandinavian. The Scandinavians go

Coal tar sugar is the latest discovery. Its chief advantage over other sugar is its superior sweetness. It is said that decaying cabbage will produce diphtheria sooner than any other nuisance about the house. One hundred and thirty-two national banks have begun business within the last six months, with a capital aggregating $19,958,500. A Spartan boy of Pennsylvania who backed himself to eat five goose eggs a day has failed miserably. No wonder. It was sheer cannibalism.

Queen Victoria dines at a quarter of nine in the evening, the emperor of Brazil at one o'clock in the afternoon, and the emperor of Germany half way between. When Carlyle said that everybody should have an aim in life he had no reference to the fair sex. He had doubtless often seen a woman trying to throw a stone at a hen. Professor Grenner, a representative colored man, says of his race. "We want common sense—not conventions." This shows how much a negro knows about politics.

The trade in idols is unusually brisk in Birmingham, England. A thousand glass gods, which cost thirty-seven cents apiece and sell for four dollars, have just been sent to Burmah. A portrait of a girl served to identify the body of a drowned man in Iowa, as it was firmly gripped in his dead hand; and it also indicated the cause of his suicide, for she had rejected his suit. Judge Elliott has handed down a judicial decision to the effect that a man must be held responsible for his wife's slanders. Men, he says, must see to it that their wives do not slander people.
