BEYOND THE RIVER.

Away Across the Mississippi is Held a Convincing Conversation.

"I tell you sir, that they are one of the neatest combinations ever produced, and my experience of that sort of thing has been wide enough to entitle my judgement to some respect."

"Oh, I don't know," responded the first speaker's friend, with a little yawn, as though he didn't take much interest in the subject, "I have never been able to see much difference in those things. They are all pretty nearly the same size, and made of about the same stuff."

The talk of which the foregoing is a fragment, took place in Gallatin, Missouri, not long ago, in the snug office of Dr. M. P. Flowers, one of the leading physicians of the State who followed up the vein in which he had introduced it substantially in these words:

"Nonsense, that is the rigmarole of a boy, or rather of a man who doesn't know or doesnt care what he says. Those things, as you call them, are just as different as the moon is from green cheese. Now, liniments, lotions, and ointments are very good in most cases for the relief of pain or inflammation. But in the first place they are unclean. They soil the hands and the linen, besides being always out of reach when they are most wanted."

"Well, my dear Doctor," sighed the traveler from the North, "what would you have? This is a wretched world anyhow, and nothing is ever at hand when it is wanted. You can't suggest anything——"

"Yes, I can," broke in the Doctor, thumping the table with his fist, "I can suggest BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER. I have tried it on my patients, and I have tried it on myself for an attack of Pneumonia, and in all cases relief has followed in from three to forty-eight hours. The old plasters are stage coaches—the Capcine is a telegraphic dispatch. For instance, in cases of Neuralgia, Muscular Rheumatism, Lumbago, retarded action of the Kidneys, and——"

"I give it up, Doctor, and in case of need I'll buy Benson's, said the traveler pleasantly.

In the center of the genuine is CUT the word CAPCINE.

is given by using BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. In the Winter it strengthens and warms the system; in the Spring it enriches the blood and conquers disease; in the Summer it gives tone to the nerves and digestive organs; in the Fall it enables the system to stand the shock of sudden changes.

In no way can disease be so surely prevented as by keeping the system in perfect condition. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS ensures perfect health through the changing seasons, it disarms the danger from impure water and miasmatic air, and it prevents Consumption, Kidney and Liver Disease, &c.

H. S. Berlin, Esq., of the well-known firm of H. S. Berlin & Co., Attorneys, Le Droit Building, Washington, D. C., writes, Dec. 5th, 1881:

Gentlemen: I take pleasure in stating that I have used Brown's Iron Bitters for malaria and nervous troubles, caused by overwork, with excellent results.

Return of General Crook.

Under date of June 11th, a Tombstone, Arizona, dispatch says a young son of Sergeant Ham Smith arrived from Chiricahuas this morning, bringing imformation to the Epitaph that Crook had returned from his expedition and was encamped at Silver creek, in the south end of Chiricahuas, about sixty miles southeast of this place. Loco, Chatto and about 200 hostiles have surrendered, and were brought in by Crook, who recrossed the line last Saturday with them. The prisoners were about seventy-five bucks, the old and sick, and the remainder were women and children. It is said that Crook will return and endeavor to capture the warriors.

The courier states that another reason why Crook remains at Silver creek is to wait news from the secretary of war, as to what disposition to make of the Indians, as Wilcox, agent at San Carlos, refused to receive a lot that came in last week. Crook returned for supplies and will go back to the Sierra Madres after the balance of the hostiles if they don't come. In conversation with Smith, the courier mentioned, he stated that the hostiles had plenty of money. One old squaw, who was the possessor of three $50 bills, made inquiry of some one at Col. Biddle's camp as to the value of her possessions. Upon being told that the notes were for $5 each, she grunted out a decided negative, and pointed with her skinney finger to the naught after the five on each note. Quite a number of bucks had silver stars and other ornaments, beaten out of Mexican dollars, on their head-gear, and several of them American double eagles made into necklaces. A rough guess estimates the amount of wealth among them as fully $5,000 and probably more.

Troops and packers of the command state that the place where the capture occured is the prettiest spot on earth, and the road to it the roughest mortal man ever trod. Mickey Free, the noted scout, stating that he had worn out a pair of boots and three pair of moccasins on the trip. A large majority of the hostiles seem pleased with the situation, evidently expecting an immediate return to the "flesh pots" of San Carlos. The only complaint comes from some of the squaws whose bucks are among those who made an escape.

Officers who were with the expedition state that Crook had surrounded the Indians before they knew of his presence, and that if he had not done so it would have taken six months and all the men in Arizona to have got them.

As an illustration of Crook's modesty and total absence of fuss and feathers in his make up, it may be said that, although the fight and capture occured on the 15th of last month, he leisurely retraced his steps to his supply camp at Silver creek, not sending a courier ahead to signal his movements.

The first intimation of his return was the arrival of a lieutenant at Colonel Biddle's quarters, at 8 A. M. Sunday, with dispatches for Camp Bowie, the nearest telegraph station. Upon making inquiry concerning the general, who was supposed to be hundreds of miles distant in the Sierra Madres, imagine the surprise that awaited the camp when informed that Crook was only five hours behind with the captured Apaches. About 10 o'block the general rode into camp with an escort and greeted Colonel Briddle with "a nice morning colonel," and straightway struck out for a tin washbasin, which he had spied, and was soon engaged in performing his ablutions, after which he threw himself into a camp-stool and engaged in conversation about his campaign, in an off-hand way, as if hunting the cruelest and fiercest foe on the continent, in the wildest and most inaccessible country to be found, was a matter of every day occurrence.

The reported loss to the Indians in the fight was seven bucks. A lieutenant, name unknown, was the only person wounded in Crook's command, and he but slightly.

From rheumatism I have been a great sufferer during the past seven years and part of the time have been confined to my bed. The last attack kept me in bed for seven long months, in which time I employed the best medical skill without securing relief. I was induced to try St. Jacobs Oil, which remedy has entirely cured me. My hands have become straight and can be used as well as ever. I have induced others afflicted with rheumatism to use it, and they have experienced the same happy result. I wish it was in my power to tell suffering humanity of the curative powers of St. Jacobs Oil.

Skin Diseases

Fifteen years of Suffering.—Body covered with Humor.—Had Twelve Doctors.—Paid out $500.—No Cure.—No Hope.

I will now state that I made a miraculous cure of one of the worst cases of skin disease know. The patient is a man forty years old; had suffered fifteen years. His eyes, scalp, and nearly his whole body presented a frightful appearance. He had the attention of twelve different physicians, who prescribed the best remedies known to the profession, such as iodide potassium, arsenic, corrosive sublimate, sarsaparilla, etc. Had paid $500 for medical treatment, with but little relief. I prevailed upon him to use the CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally and the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally. He did so, and was completely cured. The skin on his head, face, and many other parts of his body, which presented a most loathesome appearance, is now as soft and smooth as an infant's with no scar or trace of the disease left behind. He has now been cured, twelve months. Reported by Helpless for Eight Years.—Unable to Walk for One Year.—Got about on Hands and Knees.—A Wonderful Cure.

I have had a most wonderful cure of Salt Rheum. For seventeen years I suffered with Salt Rheum; I had it on my head, face, neck, arms, and legs. I was not able to walk, only on my hands and knees, for one year. I have not been able to help myself for eight years. I tried hundreds of remedies; not one had the least effect. The doctors said my case was incurable. So my parents tried everything that came along. I saw your advertisement, and concluded to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. The CUTICURA brought the humor to the surface of my skin. It would drop off as it came out, until now I am entirely well. All I can say is, I thank you most heartily for my cure. Any person who thinks this letter a fraud, let them write or come and see me, and find out for themselves. WILL McDONALD,
