The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

TUESDAY.....JUNE 19, 1883

THE fact that each of the ninety-nine county seats of Iowa is accessible by railroad, shows to good advantage the splendid railroad system of the Hawkeye state.

AN accident in a crowded hall at Sunderland, England, last Saturday caused a fatal stampede and crush, in which nearly two hundred unfortunate children were smothered and trampled to death.

CAPTAIN EADS will sail for Europe on the 20th on business appertaining to the Tehuantepec ship railway. He asserts confidently that at the end of five years ships will be carried on rails from one sea to the other.

FROM New York comes the startling intelligence that S. J. Tilden "is likely to fall dead any minute." The news is somewhat mitigated by the reflection that S. J. is not alone in that respect. We are all troubled that way.

ALREADY has begun in eastern journals the harmless pastime of nominating Democratic presidential and vice-presidential candidates for 1884; some go so far as to prepare tabulated statements of probable electoral majorities, apparently forgetting that homely proverb in reference to the enumeration of poultry, prior to the process of incubation.

POSSIBILITIES in the use of paper seem unlimited. A Lansingburg, N. Y. firm has almost completed a paper steamboat for a Pittsburg company. Its length is twenty feet. It has a seating capacity for twenty-five persons, and a carrying capacity of thirty tons. The sheathing is a solid body of paper three-eighths of an inch thick. A bullet from a revolver, fired at the sheathing from a distance of only four feet, neither penetrated nor abraded it.

ONE of the most positive proofs that Roscoe Conkling is out of politics, is his recent purchase of The Judge. This clever publication, like other humorous journals of its class was never weary of caricaturing the favorite son of the empire state, and to stop the annoyance, the ex-statesman has purchased the offending journal. A man who is in politics doesn't mind such notices. Indeed, the average politician delights in being noticed, and would prefer abuse to being let entirely alone.

A NEW YORK special says: A private letter to a gentleman in this city from an officer attached to the household of the Prince of Wales gives some interesting facts in relation to the condition of the English queen. They corroborate the statements already made of the morbid condition of her mind, and that she is a prey to strange fancies and superstitious fears. She appears to be in constant dread of the receipt of bad news, and insists on daily dispatches as to the health of the crown prince of Russia and the family. Apprehensions are excited that the queen's condition may result in insanity, like that of George III.

OUR enterprising Steatle neighbors are pushing down a railroad to strike Grays harbor, and secure the trade of that rich and rapidly growing country. It would require but little effort on the part of Astorians to secure this trade, which by all natural law belongs to this port. One of the first things necessary is the building of a narrow guage railroad across the narrow neck of land between Bakers bay and Shoalwater bay. The Columbia is the entrepot for all that magnificent scope of country from the Quinault reservation to Yaquina and it will be better for Astoria to use all requisite endeavors to secure the trade than in the near future to be obliged to spend far more in an effort to retain it.
