

The Daily Astorian

ASTORIA, OREGON: WEDNESDAY, JUNE 29, 1883

Justice Field of the U. S. supreme court, sails from S. F. to-day to sit in the circuit court at Portland.

The U. S. Engineers are engaged in making a re-survey of the bar. The party is in charge of U. S. assist. engineer, VonGeldern.

Mrs. T. S. Jewett is a passenger on to-day's outgoing steamer on a visit to her father who is dangerously ill at Santa Cruz, Cal.

Prof. T. M. Coon, formerly principal of the public school in district No. 1, is in the city. Hood river apparently agrees with him.

Coroner Franklin goes to Clifton this morning to hold an inquest on the body of a man who was drowned near there yesterday morning.

In East Portland last Monday, H. C. Meyers was elected mayor, having 24 majority over his competitor, J. E. Mayo, in a total vote of 678.

There will be an ice cream and strawberry festival at Liberty Hall to-morrow evening under the auspices of the Ladies Guild of Grace church.

Prof. James, of the Columbia Commercial college is in the city. His educational institution, one of the best on the coast, is in a flourishing condition.

Governor Newell has been invited to deliver the 4th of July address at Ellensburg and at Montesano but cannot accept either owing to previous engagements.

The U. S. steamer Gen. Wright, grounded on Clatsop spit, near Fort Stevens, at 9 o'clock Monday evening. U. S. Engineer Van Geldern took the tug Astoria down to take her off at high tide.

The officers of the grand lodge L. O. G. T. will be installed at Occidental hall at eight o'clock this evening. This will be a public installation, and every one is cordially invited to be present.

F. Brickelman, foreman for Smith & Paquet on the construction of Sibson, Church & Company's new flouring mill at Albina, was instantly killed last Monday morning by a heavy timber falling upon him.

The body of Hazen A. Parker, who was drowned from the Clara Parker's dock last Tuesday, was picked up at Clatsop spit yesterday morning and brought to the city. The funeral will take place to-day.

At Knappa last Monday J. F. Bender's children were teasing a bull which, becoming enraged, rushed at a horse standing near by and ripped open his stomach, killing him instantly. The animal was valued at $200.

Decency forbids mention of the means employed by Chinamen to freshen stale salmon, but those of our readers who have any regard for their stomachs will refuse to buy salmon from China peddlers who want to "sell cheap."

There is a subscription afoot to put the road from Ilwaco to the ocean beach in good condition. The sum needed is $2,000, of which nearly $1,200 is already subscribed. There should be no difficulty in raising the remainder.

Zachariah Baker and R. H. Thomas shot and killed each other in T. R. Handley's law office at Hillsboro, last Monday. They had had some trouble about land, and had gone to the lawyer's to arbitrate it, when the quarrel broke out afresh with fatal result to both.

N. A. Thompson of Newport, who is up from Yaquina bay, attending the grand lodge L. O. G. T., of which he is a prominent member, says that work on the railway is progressing as fast and favorably as could be expected. The people of his section have an abiding faith in the ultimate success of the enterprise and they have good reason.

Governor Newell has postponed the execution of Gianini who was sentenced for the murder of Ricco, on the 29th of June, until the 28th of October. Leading citizens of Vancouver represent him as insane and the Governor has given this long time to have his condition tested, also to provide for pay of a commission by the Legislature if it be required.

The municipal election at Portland was something that no outside resident can understand; it is probable that a good many Portlanders don't just see how it was done. There were four councilmen elected; Messrs. Gerdes and Healy, in the first ward, Amrus in the second ward and Sears in the third ward. The first three gentlemen are classed with the "free whiskey association," as it would seem that the price of that beverage is just now an important factor in Portland politics.

Special meeting Thursday, June 21st, at 8 o'clock P. M. Business of importance—full attendance desired. By order of W. W. PARKER, Secretary.

The Floral Concert

The floral concert of the Baptist Sunday school was a decided success. Every available amount of standing room in the church was filled and many had to turn back unable to get into the church. The church was decorated tastefully, a large cross trimmed with ivy and flowers stood upon the back of the platform in the center and on the wall above a motto in blossoms "welcome" was placed. On the organ stood a harp of flowers; the little children were trimmed in flowers to correspond with the sentiment of the piece to be recited. As each child finished, the bouquet she held was placed upon the cross to complete its adornment the last flower to finish the cross was a beautiful lily, placed in the center. Its placement was magical and the whole design of the concert, viz: to beautify and adorn the cross, was manifest. Miss Flavel followed with the solo "Consider the Lilies," and sang it in fine voice and with great acceptance. The singing of d. recitations by the children were good, and every one went away delighted. A collection of twenty dollars was taken to add to the library.

As Usual

The invariable misstatement of Portland correspondents of San Francisco papers justifies the belief that such inaccuracy of statement is due more to deliberate intent than to ignorance. Pure ignorance is always to be excused, even in a newspaper correspondent—but mendacity is an undesirable element in the make up of one who professes to tell the truth in the columns of a newspaper. The Bulletin of the 16th, has an article of Columbia river fisheries written in Portland, in which the writer says, speaking of the canneries: "There are some half dozen, or more, at Astoria. The remainder are scattered along the mighty Columbia." Had the mendacious correspondent taken the trouble to look at the columns of any of Oregon's commercial papers he would have seen that there were twenty-four canneries at this place.

Drowned

A man known as John Cooley, who has been working in a logging camp near Skamokawa, was accidentally drowned last Saturday. An inquest was held with the following verdict: "We the jurors summoned to determine the cause of the death of John Cooley, have carefully examined the body of the deceased and find that he came to his death by accidental drowning." H. A. Moss, Foreman.

We find upon examining his papers that his proper name is Lawrence McNally. Eureka, Humboldt Co., Cal. papers please copy."

Justice's Court

The following cases were disposed of yesterday by Justice P. H. Fox: Wm. Patterson and Wm. Allen, larceny of a watch from the person of L. George, held to answer, $300 each; J. Butterfield, larceny of a suit of clothes, held to answer, $300; Angelo Perrotta and Mark Kyle, larceny of a boat, fined $25 each, or 12 days in the county jail; Thomas Wallace, assault and battery, fined $25, or 12 days in the county jail; Sam Hawkins, defacing a building not his own, in Upper Astoria, fined $30 or 15 days in the county jail.

At the Occidental Hall's this evening there will be short speeches by prominent people from abroad, and choice literary entertainment is promised to all who attend. The hall will doubtless be filled to its fullest capacity.

In the year 1880 letters were addressed by A. N. Towne of the Central Pacific railroad to the leading wheat-growers of California, with a view to obtaining material for a thorough study of the wheat industry on this coast. The very complete information thus obtained, supplemented in other ways, is to be placed before the public in papers announced for the July and August issues of the Overland Monthly. These papers will form the most important and complete study of the subject ever in print.

A Good Idea

In commenting on the frauds discovered in San Francisco, where a Sanson street firm marked California salmon with a fictitious label and was guilty of appropriating the name of Columbia river salmon, the California Grocer and Canner says: "The firm names of J. K. Arnsby & Co., of Chicago and San Francisco, also figures in this connection as the probable factor in placing these goods upon the market. We have not been able to obtain facts sufficient to enable us to judge upon whom the greater share of the blame should fall, nor does it matter much, since all connected with the transaction are sufficiently blameable. We have so many times raised our voice against this mode of dealing that there is but little left for us to say, unless we repeat that which we have so frequently said before. It would be well for the salmon trade if there were no packers engaged in picking what are termed blanks. Every can of salmon that goes to the trade should bear the name of some packer as a guarantee of its quality and to guard against frauds similar to the one we have under consideration. In no other way probably can the small dealer and consumer expect to get goods 'true to name,' genuine beyond any peradventure, and for the quality of which some one is willing to stand sponsor."

Our Trout Streams

The rains cause pelting down and the winds blow in fitful gusts for a week, while the streams were so muddy that the trout could not see the fly. For my own part I stayed home, enjoying my book and pipe, and contented myself with sorting over the flies in my book and getting ready for "a vigorous prosecution of the war," when brighter skies and warmer days should come to greet the devotees who revert in the name of Izak Walton and worship at the shrine of Dame Juliana Barona. Certain it is that no streams in America can surpass the tributaries of the Willamette and Columbia for fine fishing; nor is there any region along the Atlantic coast which has one continuous season for fishing from May to October, like ours. In May, try the Corvitz, the Tootle and the smaller tributaries of the Tualatin; in June, your fishing takes in the creeks that debouch into the Molalla, the Santiam and La Creole; in July, when the Washougal and Clackamas are no longer fit for the fly, then try Hood river, the streams debouching into the bay of Astoria, and the two beautiful little rivers that flow into the bay of Tillamook; in August, try the head waters of the Sandy and the Clackamas, taking the wagon road known as the Barlow gate; and in the sweet September days, take the McKenzie from Eugene or the Mattoles from The Dalles.—Corr. Canadian Sportsman.
