

The Astorian

ASTORIA, OREGON: THURSDAY, JUNE 21, 1888

High tide—nine feet—at 12:28.

The Ullock has 19,792 cases salmon on board.

The Zoila and Penelope have arrived out.

Gov. Moody has appointed J. O. Buzorth a notary public.

Geo. A. Liebe was elected mayor of The Dalles last Monday.

Some good runner will win a $500 prize at New Tacoma on the 4th.

F. L. Thelston wants an Astoria agent for the Domestic sewing machine.

S. D. Adair has the smallest steam craft on the lower Columbia—the Dolly.

S. G. Skidmore, a well known Portland merchant, died at San Rafael, Cal., last Tuesday.

The ladies of Grace church will hold an ice cream and strawberry festival at Liberty Hall this evening.

To-day the sun crosses the line, the day attains its greatest length and your shadow will be no shorter this year.

Visiting members of the grand lodge will find a full account of the session in the WEEKLY ASTORIAN, which will be issued to-morrow morning.

The Standard says a justice of the peace in Vancouver is doing a big business in marrying people from this state, and keeps his mouth shut about it. He averages two a week.

Herr Von Behr, the most distinguished of the German fish-culturists, mentions the catching of a California salmon in the fair river. It is believed that in time they will work their way to the Black sea.

Heavy clouds that rolled in from the ocean yesterday gave rise to the hope that we would have some rain, but the sun shone out in the afternoon as bright as ever. Guess we're in for another drought. The country wants rain, and we are in with the country on the same proposition.

Commencing to-day the Gen. Miles will fill further notice, make two round trips from Astoria to Fort Canby and Ilwaco, every Thursday, leaving Gray's dock at seven A. M., and one P. M. After the 5th of next month, two trips will be made daily, Sundays and Wednesdays excepted.

The Yakima Record asserts that Capt. Kingsbury, chief engineer and superintendent of the Cascade division, is working under the following instructions from the Northern Pacific company: "Begin work on three different points near Yakima City, and push westward as rapidly as possible across the mountains till a connection is made with the standard gauge road from Seattle to Green river."

Col. Spedden has invented an ingenious contrivance for holding music open while it is being played, which by its efficiency and convenience will recommend itself to all at a glance. The only adverse criticism that it has thus far elicited is the suggestion that its general use would do away with one of the gentlemen's usual pleasurable duties. Col. Spedden has received a request from Frankfort to send authorizing parties in that ancient German capital full privilege to make and sell his patented articles.

Miss Clara Rennicks of Portland must be a damsel of more than ordinary powers of fascination. Some time ago Jas. Sanchez, smitten by the airy grace with which she jerked beer in a San Francisco cellar killed himself because Clara wouldn't marry him, and last Monday, a "storekeeper" named George Blanner, of Vallejo who had likewise been given the mitten by the lady in question, also blew out his brains. Clara has been "expounded" with by her parents but she goes on crushing hearts just the same. The San Francisco masher is a funny bird.

The Nautical Gazette, which should be posted on the subject, says: "Sailors are sea-dogs that never bite, because they are usually confined to barks. They go to sea in ships, but prefer schooners—when on shore. A sailor is an odd specimen of humanity, but nevertheless has his mates. His main business is handling ropes n'ck-named lines. They are hard lines, but the sailor always complains when he comes to the 'rope's end'—perhaps because he has to back up to it. He is fed on hard tack, and being constantly engaged on spars, is an unpleasant opponent to tackle, especially so he usually spars with yards. The fact of his being 'piped to go' illustrates the tendency of smokers to become drinkers. Ever alert, he is a singularly ignorant man for one living where everything is laid out for him, and he is different from the sailor on which he depends, as the sailor is least when they are full."

INDEPENDENT ORDER GOOD TEMPLARS

Eighteenth Annual Session.

The grand lodge met in executive session at 8:30, yesterday morning, G. W. C. T. Jessup presiding.

The report of finance committee was read and approved. The salary of the G. W. C. T., was abolished, and a salary of $500 was voted the G. W. Sec'y for the ensuing year.

The action of the executive committee in presenting $50 to Miss Willard, was approved by unanimous vote. A resolution recommending $300 to be expended in juvenile work, $200 to be given to Orphan's home, and $100 to be expended in literature, was adopted.

The committee on excursion reported that after paying expenses of excursion they had seven dollars on hand, and had turned that amount over to the Orphan's home fund. The committee on state of order reported the order in a flourishing condition.

Adjourned to 1:30 P. M. when the lodge was called to order, Elias Jessup, G. W. C. T., in the chair.

Election of officers being the special order of business for 2 P. M., resulted as follows: Elias Jessup, G. W. C. T.; Will C. King, G. W. Counselor; M. E. Hoxter, G. W. V. T.; J. E. Houston, G. W. Sec'y; J. H. Lambert, G. W. Treas.; Levi Leland, Grand Supt. Juvenile Templars.

Dr. Watts, by request, explained the technical points in the prohibition bill which was passed last session of the Oregon legislature.

The committee on Orphan Home reported. On motion it was ordered that a committee be appointed to draw up a set of rules for the government of the Orphan Home, and also to draft supplementary articles of incorporation.

Will C. King, C. A. Sheldred, and J. W. Watts were appointed as said committee. Bonds of G. W. Sec'y and G. W. Treas. approved. The report of treasurer of Orphan Home was received and adopted, and the meeting adjourned to 8 P. M.

At eight o'clock every available seat in Occidental Hall was filled. The work of installing the newly elected officers of the grand lodge was ably performed by the G. W. C. T. and G. W. M., after which was announced a piano solo by Prof. Meyer, followed by an emphatic address by Dr. J. W. Watts. Little Edith Conn played a piano solo, followed by a few remarks from the P. G. W. C., after which was rendered a vocal solo by Miss Katie Flavel accompanied on the piano by Miss Nellie Flavel.

Levi Leland then entertained the audience, and was followed by a piano solo by Prof. Meyer, which was succeeded by a recitation by Edith Conn. Mr. Cameron then played an aria from Norma on his concertina, and in response to an encore gave an imitation of the bagpipes; a second encore produced the Last Rose of Summer, after which followed another address and the meeting ended. The work to-day will consist chiefly of considerations affecting the orphan's home.

Upper Astoria.

The growth of upper Astoria is proportionate to that elsewhere and all the building and improvements are of a permanent nature. Though the narrow space between the bluffs and the water does not admit of anything very elaborate, yet the neatly fitted houses, the trim gardens with blooming flowers, and the general air of thrift sufficiently indicate the prosperity of the place.

On every hand is preparation for building. Next to Mrs. Forsberg's whose premises are now being drained, Jas. Gallagher is grading for a house; farther up C. Lienwaber is putting up a fine residence which in style and finish will compare favorably with any residence on the Columbia river.

Along the entire line more especially opposite the little ravines that put out from the south, there seems to be a gradual movement of the hill riverward. The motion is of course slow, but it is noticeable in the slanting lines of some buildings that were put up several years ago. The one roadway that runs through from O'Brien's hotel to Alderbrook is in a miserable condition. From West-6th to Devlin's cannery it is now planked over in a temporary fashion; above Devlin's at the turn, is a dangerous place. The road is honeycombed, the railing gone, and the only wonder is that some terrible accident has not happened at that spot. Above the I. X. L., planking is being laid as fast as material can be procured. The road should be widened its entire length. Just east of Otto Peterson's is a dangerous curve where some one is a surely get hurt unless better means of passage is furnished.

The two Astorias have about met, and the amount of business that is done is constantly increasing. H. Van Dusen and N. Johansen report constantly increasing sales, and there is but one house marked "To rent" in the place.

Attention No. 1.

Special meeting Thursday, June 21st, at 8 o'clock P. M. Business of importance—full attendance desired.

By order of W. W. PARKER, President.

L. E. SELIG, Secretary.

Cooby Chronicles.

Ed. ASTORIAN: Our lively little garrison continues lively. There is no danger of any one at this post dying of ennui.

The commander paces the beach at sunrise looking for eagles. His eagle eye has scanned every nook and corner of his garrison before the reveille bugle sounds. The gleam of the scythes, the whistling of the scythes, the hum and whirl of the lawn mowers, furnish entertainment for fatigue parties and music for the post. Target practice is unremittingly attended to. There is much enthusiasm in this, and every officer and man seems bound to make a hit in life. Even the chaplain takes a hand with the boys, and qualified long ago as a marksman and is considered a good shot. He says "a chaplain has to be a good shot to hit a soldier, for he has to shoot at many of them on the wing." The soldiers are now practicing frequently on the big siege guns, so as to be ready to thunder properly on the 4th of July. The post-trader with a volunteer crew of soldiers is hauling the seine during one tide per day, as a bathing exercise thus far it has been a success; yesterday was a big day for porgies, they caught 250 at one haul, enough to feed all Astoria good square meal, and yet this food for brawn and brain will go begging and find no takers. Picnic parties sometimes in companies, sometimes in quartets, sometimes the blessed or about to-be-made-happy two, visit our shades, bask in the sunshine and enjoy the luxury of a freshening breeze. They bring large baskets heavy laden, and come tugging up from the wharf bending under the heavy load, and return light hearted, light footed, and baskets light. Fort Canby is the model picnic ground, fine walks, sunshine and shade, and objects of interest on every hand to while profitably the time, and consume the day. We understand that base ball clubs are arranging to make this one of their play grounds for matches. They will always be welcome on any day except Sundays. The commander believes in good morals as well as a good time.

Mrs. L. Patterson from Vancouver is now visiting the post, several other officers and their families are expected to visit us soon.

First Lt. Einstein, who relieved Lt. Willich, is fairly installed in his office as post adjutant, A. C. S. and A. Q. M. and is a master in all.

The new hospital steward is at his post. The post is now in first-class trim for a fight or a frolic, only preferring in the language of the good book, that "the last should be first."

The Salmon Run.

The following is taken from Tuesday's fish-list of one of the canneries: Boat No. 5, 12 fish; 13, 48; 46, 2; 17, 38; 26, 29; 33, 5; 34, 48; 36, 2; etc. 17 boats bringing in 416 fish. Another cannery for the preceding day makes the following exhibit: Boat No. 8, 81; 35, 7; 6, 13; 42, 32; 10, 32; 15, 8; 7, 73; 77, 5; 33, 6; 6, 30; 18, 18; 28, 6; 53, 20; 5, 35—13 boats, 343 fish. A third cannery showed the number of fish received from April 1st '82 to June 20th '82, 29,563. Number received from April 1st, '83, to June 20th '83, 29,908. A fourth showed substantially the same results.

W. CHANCE, P. M.

The Liverpool correspondent of the London Grocer says:

Since the publication of the last report a much better demand has been experienced for salmon, favorable weather being the principal factor in this respect. Should the present conditions prevail there is likely to be a very much larger demand at no distant date. As it is, considerable lots, amounting in the aggregate to some thousands of cases, have been disposed of during the week at very firm prices.

A Good Country.

H. F. Smith, of the Moses' reservation, who is in Portland, stated to a Standard reporter that the impression people have of Moses and the reservation is erroneous. There are about 150 Indians on the reservation about eighty of whom, men, women and children, recognize Moses as the chief. He is an avicious brute, and is sharp in his dealings. Being boss of the reservation, he makes about $700 a year out of it, from cattle men, whom he permits to graze their cattle there. There are a number of Indians who do not recognize the supremacy of Moses, and they all have farms and are pretty well off. They do not object to the white man going on the reservation and taking up farms in a lawful manner, providing they act right. Moses is the only one who stands out against it, as he considers it an encroachment on his domain. The better class of Indians on the contrary, desire the reservation thrown open. They want the benefit of the white man's education and intelligence; they want school houses, plots, implements and improvements of all kinds. Mr. Smith has written a letter to the government at Washington, setting out the facts concerning that country, and recommending the adoption of the severalty system, which will throw each Indian on his own resources. He also offers another suggestion to the effect that settlers be allowed to take up claims on the reservations and the money paid for patents be turned into a fund for the benefit of the Indians who live on the reservation. He says that while there is but 150 Indians belonging to the reservation, 5,000 have been carried on the rolls in Washington. There are about 300 or 400 on the Colville reservation, about three-fourths of whom live in the Colville valley, and engage more or less in farming. They all want to live in the land of their fathers, as is natural, but they are content with what land they can handle. The balance of the land does them no good, and is kept for some one else to speculate on.

English traders on the British Columbia side cause a great deal of mischief by passing whisky to the Indians on both reservations, which run up to the B. C. line. The traders carry the whisky to the mountains and the Indians go and get it and get drunk, and then they have a glorious time. There is a large number of cattle on the reservation at present, but most of the beef cattle is driven to the Sound. The country is good, well watered and rich in mineral and splendid for agricultural purposes. The summers are splendid and the winters reasonable. Cattle graze most of the year. Tomakot, a good honest Indian, is in favor of the severalty system, but he is opposed by Moses and Susupkin. Moses is noted for his greed, ambition and domineering. Susupkin is a wily old savage, but is now cowed by fear and old age. With these two chiefs out of the way, there would be no trouble about opening up the country.
