

The Daily Astorian. ASTORIA, OREGON: THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1883 "The Working Class."

The Century for July has an article on relaxations and amusements which aptly illustrates the growing spirit of caste in this country. The article refers to "the working classes" in a way which to a denizen of this coast sounds funny.

In a recent review of Webster's work high praise coupled with exact justice is accorded the great leader where it is said: "Webster stands to-day as the pre-eminent champion and exponent of nationality. He said once, 'There are no Alleghenies in my politics,' and he spoke the exact truth."

EVERY pulsation of the telegraph sends intelligence of the railroad's progress, and the days may now be counted till that important hour when the first through train from the far-off Atlantic will roll westward over the line of the N. P. R. R. To Astoria the subject is an important one.

Boston is to hold a great exposition this year. In foreign lands the proposal has raised interest. In Berlin a committee of distinguished men, headed by the Duke of Batbor, is making sure that Germany shall be well represented.

Eight hundred and thirty-nine dollars is the amount that the Central Pacific R. R. Co. charges for carrying a carload of oranges from Sacramento to Chicago.

A CLEVELAND, Ohio, special says: "At noon, on Superior street, to-day, with the street full of people, a man stepped up to a citizen and said, 'I want your watch,' and grabbed for it, but only succeeded in breaking the chain. He then walked coolly away. The affair was conducted so nonchalantly that few persons noticed it."

A WASHINGTON special says: General Sherman is a very unhappy man now. An army officer who knows him well, declares he is not what he seems in his bluff, hearty interviews. In the first place he greatly hates to give up his position at the head of the army.

AN account is given in English journals of the performance of a locomotive on the Great Northern railroad, which carried the Duke of Edinburgh from Leeds to London, 186 1/2 miles, in three hours, or at the rate of sixty-two miles per hour.

GENERAL George Crook is about fifty-three years of age, but he looks little more than forty. He is about five feet ten inches high, wiry as a greyhound and can outride and outmarch any man in the American army.

SEVEN hundred thousand acres of the best lands in India are devoted to the cultivation of the poppy. Five thousand pounds of the opium produced is sold in China.

POLITICAL prophets are beginning to announce the advent of a third party. There is plenty of room.

THE Chicago and Northwestern railway proposes to make the run between Council Bluffs and Chicago in fifteen and a half hours, provided it meets with the views of the Union Pacific and eastern connections. This will decrease the time between New York and San Francisco twenty-four hours.
