

The Daily Astorian. ASTORIA, OREGON:

FRIDAY.....JULY 6, 1883

DEATH is busy among the Catholic prelates. Three distinguished arch bishops and two bishops have died within a week.

ABRAHAM S. HEWITT, of New York, has begun to tell newspaper interviewers "what I would do if I were elected president." The American nation will hardly repose in Abraham's bosom. He is too previous.

The Chicago Railway Age reports the number of railroads sold under foreclosure of mortgage during the six years 1876 to 1881, inclusive, as 257. The aggregate mileage was 22,924 miles, and the total capital was $1,363,556, 000.

STEEL rails have gone down in price so as to completely drive out of market iron rails, which are no longer quoted. Steel rails now sell in New York and Philadelphia at from $38 to $42 per ton. A few years ago they brought $80 and $100.

At the recent meeting of the American Fish Culture Association in New York, it was again stated that fish in the harbor of that city were being poisoned and depleted by the kerosene factories thereabout, and now oysters are deteriorating and will soon be destroyed.

A N. Y. Sun correspondent asks that paper if it is Democratic. He certainly does not read the Sun or he would see that it is. It constantly employs Democratic tactics in trying to evade or disregard the issues of the day. Its latest statement is that "the tariff is not a leading topic at present." It might be interesting to know what the Sun's idea of a "leading topic," is.

A RECENT bulletin issued by the North Carolina department of agriculture states that "it is a disgrace to our farming system that thousands of bales of hay are brought into the state annually. Last year a car load of timothy and clover hay mixed was received in a North Carolina town from Dakota Territory." This is a singular statement from an agricultural state.

An Indianapolis correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer says that Mr. Hendricks recently remarked to him: "Did you ever think what a task lies before a Democratic President who succeeds a long Republican administration? Just think of 100,000 Federal offices to fill and 10,000,000 applicants for them. I am quite willing that any man who covets the task shall have it." Hendricks has evidently not heard of the Civil Service law.

ONE of the largest and most elegant inland steamers in the world has just taken her place in the New York and Fall River line. She has been christened the Pillgrim, and is appropriately claimed to be the iron monarch of Long Island Sound. The new steamer is 390 feet in length, 60 feet from floor to top of dome, and is registered at 3,500 tons. On her excursion trip, over 2,000 persons were entertained at dinner. She is lighted throughout by Edison's electric burners; the grand saloon is 420 feet in length, and will accommodate 1,400 passengers.

The old-fashioned denominations are said to have difficulty in holding their own. Three of the four branches of Dunkards have formed a new organization. This widens the breach between them and the "Old Order brethren," who oppose Sunday schools, education, newspapers and books. One of this old order recently said that he thanked God that no book or newspaper had ever been allowed in his house. At the recent meeting of the Quakers in Philadelphia it was admitted that they were gradually diminishing in numbers, the young being less and less inclined to submit to the drab and broad brim. The young men cannot always find wives that suit them among the young sisters, and their walk and conversation are not as Biblical as the young of fifty years ago. They often attend other churches, and occasionally adorn their houses with things of beauty.

The Rev. Tucker was not famous during life, but now that he is dead it is learned that he was a Georgia Baptist pastor forty-seven years without ever a dollar of salary; that he married and buried more persons than any ten other men in the state, and that he was the father of thirty-one children by three wives.

It is estimated that if the present rate of increase is maintained the United States will fifty years hence have a population of 190,000,000. Such an increase of population will force a competition that will compel the country to break down its barriers of protection in order to reach the world's markets with its products.

Those persons who imagined that a square foot was a foot square will "learn something to their advantage" by consulting the Chicago News, which, in reply to a correspondent who wishes to know the difference between the two measures, says that a foot square is a rectangular surface the area of which is bounded by four sides each a foot long, while "a square foot is a cube of six sides, each of which is a foot square." If this is a square foot, the News' definition of a cubic foot must be equally original and interesting.

THE American schooner Omatouliki recently arrived at Astoria with a load of munitions of war for revolutionary purposes. On landing the captain was received by the authorities, who declared themselves to be rebels, and the arms were at once unloaded. When 1,000 rifles, 400 cases of cartridges, two cases of sabres and ten cases of bayonets had been disembarked the captain was informed that there was no revolution in the country and that his vessel and cargo were seized and that he and his crew were prisoners.
