

The Daily Astorian.
ASTORIA, OREGON:
SUNDAY, JULY 8, 1883.

—The Lanarkshire has arrived out.
 —E. C. Holden has been reappointed a notary public.
 —Bishop Morris will officiate at Grace church to-day.
 —B. Wistar Morris, Bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Oregon, is in the city.
 —The members of the Columbia board of pilot commissioners were all in the city last week.
 —The smoke rolled up so dense yesterday that after two o'clock the sun glowed like a copper ball.
 —There will be no service at the German church to-day, as the pastor is unable to attend till next Sunday.
 —That price of salmon combination didn't hold together very long. Fish are now worth just what they'll fetch.
 —The ladies who gave such valiant aid at the fire deserve to be elected honorary members of the department.
 —Presbyterian church—preaching morning and evening by the pastor. Evening subject "Lessons from the fire."
 —The Dallas flouring mill was destroyed by fire last Friday morning; loss, $6,000, insured for $4,000; incendiary.
 —A large crowd of pleasure-seekers came down on the Wide West yesterday and were transferred to the Gen. Miles for Ilwaco.
 —There are twenty-five canneries on the Columbia River.—Commercial Herald.
 Count 'em again.
 —There will be divine service on board the Emma T. Cronell lying at Flavel's dock at 4 p. m., Rev. J. W. McCormac officiating.
 —Thomas Connell for chief of police, and an ordinance reducing liquor licenses to $300 per annum, give Portlandites present discussion.
 —Sherman & Hinman paid $500 to bring their circus to Astoria this trip. They chartered the S. G. Reed and make their headquarters at the boat while in Astoria.
 —W. B. Bancroft from A. L. Bancroft & Co., S. F.; Theo. Rosenberg of D. Rosenberg & Sons, N. Y., and Wm. E. Waters of Whittier, Fuller & Co., S. F., are in the city.
 —Forest fires of more than ordinary magnitude are reported to the south of us. In Washington and Tillamook counties, also, a great amount of damage is reported.
 —Correspondents from Chadwell, Bear River, Knappa, Gray's River and other points inform us that there was a general celebration on the Fourth, and everyone had a good time.
 —Some more of those notified left on yesterday morning's boat; we hope that is the last of a painful necessity; the city has had a week of hurtful distraction, and now, to business again.
 —Thos. Butler, an ex-soldier from Vancouver, who cut his throat at the Burton house in Portland on the afternoon of the Fourth of July, died at four o'clock Friday morning at St. Vincent's hospital.
 —Rev. B. S. McLafferty, of Eugene City, occupies the pulpit of the Baptist church to-day at 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. Subject of evening lecture, "Rockless Living," a discourse specially for the young people.
 —Friends of sufferers by the late fire are invited to meet in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association at 2 p. m., for the purpose of taking into consideration some measures of relief.
CHARITY.
 —The C. Southard Hulbert is at Eagle Cliff, where she will take on 4,000 cases salmon from Wm. Hume's cannery: from there she goes to J. G. Magler's Brookfield cannery, thence dropping down to Astoria where she will finish.
 —Sherman & Hinman gave the best circus performance last evening that was ever given in Astoria. They have added greatly to their attractions since they were here last summer and justly claim to be the most complete organization on the road.
 —The Good Templars of Astoria lodge No. 40, have chartered the steamer Tom Morris to go to Skipanon this afternoon, where they expect to assist in instituting a new lodge. All members of the lodge are invited. The steamer will start from Wilson & Fisher's at one o'clock sharp.
 —What's the matter with the Portland papers? The Standard publishes an item as news that THE ASTORIAN had three weeks ago; the Oregonian in three several items says that it was raining in Astoria last Friday, and the News to cap the climax of absurdity says the stolen property in this city is being brought to an account by "The Northwest News." It must be more than usually warm with our friends up the creek.

Internal Revenue.

An act to reduce internal revenue taxation, and for other purposes, approved March 3, 1883, provides—
 "That the taxes herein specified imposed by the laws now in force be, and the same are hereby, repealed, as hereinafter provided, namely: On capital and deposits of banks, bankers, and national banking associations, except such taxes as are now due and payable; and on and after the first day of July, eighteen hundred and eighty-three, the stamp tax on bank checks, drafts, orders and vouchers."
 This leaves the tax on circulation only remaining.
 The question arising whether the tax will be charged up to date of the act or not beyond January 1, the attorney general decides (May 22) that "the duties on the storage of deposits and capital stock of the association for each half year cannot be assessed, or the amount ascertained, until the expiration of such half year; hence no part thereof can be regarded as becoming due prior to that time."
 No duty therefore will hereafter be collected from National Banks on deposits and capital after January 1, 1883, and from other banks after December 1, 1882.
 Two-cent check stamps are not required to be used after July 1, 1883, and those unused, whether printed on checks or otherwise, will be redeemed, less 5 per cent, by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, if presented within three years from time of purchase from the Government. Private proprietary stamps will be redeemed at their face value, less 5 or 10 per centum, according to the rate of commission allowed on their purchase. Stamps may be exchanged for other check or proprietary stamps of equal value until July 1, 1883.
 The stamps should be accompanied, by a claim, on Form 81, copies of which form will be furnished upon application to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington, D. C.
 In claims for redemption of unprinted stamps, allowed prior to July 1, 1883, the blanks upon which the stamps are printed will be destroyed. In claims allowed after July 1, 1883, the blanks will be destroyed, unless claimants request their return, in which case the word "Redeemed" will be impressed on the check or draft, and the blanks, with the stamps so cancelled, will be returned by registered mail, free of expense, unless he shall otherwise direct, in which case they will be returned at his expense. In rejected claims, stamps are returned to claimants.

In the studio of Mrs. Achey hangs a picture which is receiving the finishing touches and which will be on exhibition in the post office next Tuesday. It portrays a scene of surpassing beauty,—Astoria at sunrise,—and in the treatment of her subject the artist has evinced the most delicate arrangement of color, while remaining implicitly true to nature. The view is from the deck of the Highland Light, looking up stream. A light breeze ripples the water, the fishing boats are returning on the morning ebb, the sun, three hours high and obscured by floating clouds throws shadows on the glistening stream; above, half dimmed by purple mist, stands Tongue Point, and far in the distance rise the wooded slopes of Washington Territory. On the right are the hills, to the south of upper Astoria, smoke from forest fires obscures the radiance of the green foliage, and in the stream are craft of every size. The picture is a beautiful one, and will doubtless adorn the walls of some one of our citizens who can afford to purchase that which is a "thing of beauty and a joy forever."

—Mr. J. C. Trullinger, proprietor of the West Shore mills, wishes to say that as far as his mills are concerned he has not raised the price of lumber, and that the article in yesterday morning's paper in reference to the alleged raise in the price of lumber had no foundation in fact as far as he was concerned. The West Shore mills have not raised the price of lumber.

—When the fire alarm sounded its solitary signal yesterday afternoon for assistance in putting out the fire in the brush, one of the boys who was over near the old mill on Young's river heard it and started for town as hard as he could run. When about half way he met two men running their best, "Hold up," he said, "What's the matter?" "Why—" said one, "don't you hear that bell, that's the vigilantes. We've got to light out." And they lit.

—At the Methodist church, morning theme—"The how, the why and the wherefore of the late fire." Text: "Now therefore be ye not mockers, lest your bands be made strong; for I have heard from the Lord God of hosts a consumption even determined upon the whole earth." (Ga. 28:22.) Evening theme—"The refuge of lies swept away." Text: "For the bed is shorter than that a man can stretch himself on it; and the covering narrower than that he can wrap himself in it." (Isa. 28:20.)

"Buck Finn" Tells his Story.

On Friday night William Johnson, went into the Oregonian office, and baring his body to the waist, showed upon his back eleven ugly red welts, some of which had broken the skin, received at the hands of the citizens' committee at Astoria. His story is that he, with two companions, were near Hill's variety theater about 12 o'clock a few nights since. He had bought a bottle of whisky, and was taking out the cork with a knife. At this juncture they were approached by members of the committee, who with drawn revolvers hurried them to jail. At 3 o'clock Friday morning a deputation from the committee visited him and others and ordered them to leave the town. He responded that he would leave as soon as he got his pay. Thereupon he and four others were handcuffed and marched to the City Hall, where the committee was in session, the prisoners being confined in an anteroom while the committee passed on their cases. The verdict reached, they were conducted by the crowd to the woods beyond the graveyard. Six men with rifles took the lead and the remainder surrounded the prisoners, each with a drawn revolver. Arriving at the designated spot Johnson and two Italians were caused to strip to the waist, and were then tied up by the wrist to a telegraph pole, and the leader called to "Number 21" and to "Number 27" to lay on the strokes. The men so ordered then drew a buggy whip each, with the lashes cut off, and slowly but powerfully dealt the blows. The fourth prisoner fainted and he was not flogged. The fifth evidently belonged to some secret society, as he gave a peculiar sign and was allowed to go without punishment. The quintette with several others were taken aboard the Mountain Queen, furnished with tickets for Portland and the price of a meal. This is the story as told by Johnson. In answer to a reporter's inquiry, he said he was drunk when arrested, and probably defiant. "The Italians," he said, "are a great deal worse hurt than I am. One of them was so badly whipped that he can hardly stand. When we first got to the place they put a rope around my neck, and I was glad to get off with my life." During the conversation with the reporter, which lasted ten minutes or more, Johnson, strangely, did not express indignation toward his punishers. He said he was a horsehooper by trade, but had worked at fishing this summer.

He gave a tolerably correct version of a part of the affair.

Rapid Transit of Mr. Dungan.

Thomas Dungan left Dungan's ferry Saturday, June 9th, and arrived in San Francisco Sunday, the 10th at noon. At 10 the next morning—Monday—he sailed for Astoria, Oregon, where he arrived Wednesday at 11 a. m. From there he went 26 miles across into Washington Territory and was back at Astoria at 2 o'clock the same night—on Thursday morning. He sailed Thursday at 3 p. m. from Astoria and arrived in San Francisco Saturday morning at 7 o'clock, took the steamer Humboldt at 11 o'clock a. m. Sunday. Took the stage at 12:20 and arrived home at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, just a trifle over a week from the time he left—Enterprise.

—Dr. H. R. Fowler, of San Francisco, California, died at Netarts, Tillamook Co., on the evening of June 30th, of Bright's disease of the kidneys. He was a brother of Rev. Chas. Fowler of the Christian Advocate, N. Y.

—A single bell tap at half past two yesterday afternoon brought everyone flying to the street. It was intended as an alarm to get men to help put out the fire on the hill which with a change of wind threatened destruction to outlying buildings. The utmost precaution is necessary for everything is dry as tinder, and "a spark may raise an awful blaze."

—Sherman & Hinman's circus showed at Tacoma last Friday night, got on board the train, alighted down to Kalama and got away for Astoria at half past ten yesterday morning, getting here too late for the afternoon performance but in time to get everything in good shape for the evening. The tent was jammed full, the performers at their best and everything advertised was given with all the attention to detail for which this combination was famous. The circus will show again this evening at eight o'clock.

Arrested the Wrong Man.

He was lugging along two large bundles, the perspiration pouring down his forehead, a cheerful smile all over his countenance; he did not look suspicious at all, but the police was puzzled about his heavy bundles, stopped him on the roadway and searching them thoroughly, they found an elegant suit of clothes, a fine new hat, a pair of boots, some shirts, socks, etc., in fact a complete outfit from head to foot. He showed them the bill for the goods, which were bought of M. D. Kant, the Boss Merchant Tailor, at a great bargain, for $25. Anybody can get the same goods for the same price from the largest and best assortment in town.

Ocean Park.

Ocean Park is situated in Pacific county, Washington Territory, fourteen miles north of the Columbia river, on the Ocean-beach road, running from Ilwaco to Oysterville. It consists of two hundred and fifty acres of land with a frontage of three-fourths of a mile on the ocean beach. A road one hundred feet wide connects the Park with Shoalwater Bay, and terminates in a small tract of land with a bay frontage of six hundred and sixty feet, all of which is included in the deed of the park. Bathing privileges are thus afforded on the ocean and on the bay. The bay is a beautiful sheet of water, and the ocean beach between Ilwaco and Ocean Park is unsurpassed. The peninsula at this point is about a mile wide. The natural facilities of the park are excellent for making it a most attractive seaside resort. The grounds are level and dry, suitable for building purposes. Beautiful groves of pine and spruce and alder intersperse it. Pure well water for drinking can be had in abundance. The grounds are owned by an association consisting of ten ministers and ten laymen, known as the "Ocean Park Camp Meeting Association of the M. E. Church." The association was incorporated under the laws of Oregon and Washington Territory, May 1, 1883. The constitution declares the object of the association to be "the holding of camp meetings and meetings for other religious and benevolent purposes, and to furnish a Christian sea-side resort at moderate cost, and free from the temptations to dissipation usually attendant on fashionable watering places."
