It has been stated in the newspapers and repeated on the streets, that two of the parties who were, as we believe justly, flogged by the citizens' committee, were Italians, and being of that nativity ourselves, we decidedly object to having our countrymen accused of a crime for which they are in no-wise responsible. We have taken pains to ascertain the names and nativity of the castigated individuals, and we have found, and wish the public to know, that they were not Italians. It has become a common tractice to attribute to come a common practice, to attribute to our countrymen almost every crime committed on the Columbia river; this has undoubtedly been thoughtlessly done, without considering the injustice of it. Now we, (by which is meant the Italians of this community) are as much of it. Now we, (by which is meant the Italians of this community), are as much in favor of maintaining the law as the best and most law-abiding citizens, among which we claim to rank, and
