A Victoria, B. C., dispatch says: Many Chinamen were to-day landed from the Madras in a deplorable condition and were carried ashore. They were in the worse sense of the term "assisted" immigrants, and showed an uncontrollable disposition to settle on the wharf in confused heaps. They were all suffering from an Oriental disease brought on by contamination of the blood, arising mainly from almost exclusive consumption of decomposed vegetable food, consisting of turnips, cabbage, bamboo shoots, etc., furnished by their Chinese purchasers. The disease first manifests THROAT, LUNGS AND CHEST, itself in the feet, where great pain is felt and command is lost over the ankles. The senses next become affected, the bowels move severely and the mouth festers; symptoms of blood poisoning set in and the patient succumbs in a few days. Many similar cases have shown themselves among the coolies on the railway, and have invariably proved fatal, as no cure is known for this affection. Those of the Chinamen landed vesterday who were able, staggered off to already overfilled Chinese tenements, while others were packed away on their comrades' backs. the law and enables the Chinese ROUS PLASTER, by the following iny: to send into American territory Dr. WM, ROTH, Surgeon Seneral, Prussian as many female slaves as they J.
