Moody to suppose that he will call an extra session of the logislature. The surest way to legislature. The surest way to obviate any more such legislative tinkering as was done last fall is to give the laws enacted a fair trial and demonstrate their wis- the b dom or absurdity. By January, 1885, the law will prove by its results that it should be repealed, and by that time there will be no objection. Now, a repeal would occasion grumbling from those who must have events prove their mistake, and the whole business would come up again. When the law is repealed let it be final. An extra session would be a mistake.

Ir would be odd if woman suffrage should become the custom in Great Britain sooner than in the United States. That this is possible is indicated by the vote in the house of commons of 114 aves to 130 noes on Mr. Mason's motion to give the suffrage to those women whose property qualification allows them the municipal franchise. So small a hostile majority must be a hopeful sign for the friends of woman suffrage.
